THIS IS JUST PEACHY

Blossoms like these on a peach tree in Novato are no ordinary ones. Orchards in Novato once were famed for providing fruit for many Bay Area kitchens. Today homes have replaced the orchards, but many of the trees have survived. And in a few months it looks like this one will provide peaches for dozens of pies. 'Tiburon City' Commercial Needs Revealed

Main Street Could Go To Belvedere

By DEEDEE ABRAMSON

The proposed city of Tiburon, if its main street business district is annexed by Belvedere, must have a commercial business in order to retain the same tax rate and the same level of services.

This was revealed at last night's public meeting, attended by 60 people, to review both the incorporation and annexation feasibilities studies prepared by Griffenhagen-Kroeger, Inc. of San Francisco.

NOT METROPOLITAN

(When the fifth incorporation movement started, Tiburon peninsula coordinating chairman Dick DeBerry said, "most of the people are interested in not having industry here . . . This is not a metropolitan area.")

Whether Belvedere is interested in annexing the business district or the business district plus the residential portion of Tiburon, is a moot point. But one Belvedere resident, Recreation Commissioner Mrs. Robert Bastian, last night, questioned whether the same level of services could be kept with the annexation.

"Belvedere has a much higher standard of recreation . . . This would lower city standards," she said. "We have five parks now, it would be necessary to provide parks in the Tiburon area. I doubt if a group of people are willing to tolerate the inequality of services, without the tax rate going up."

CAN'T EXPAND

In answer to a question about the effect of incorporation on the city of Belvedere, Charles E. Rains, of the San Francisco firm, said: "Belvedere can no longer expand," which prompted Mrs. Bastian to say, "Belvedere never has."

The audience delved into the problem of maintaining peninsula streets, and the question of the dissolution of the three special districts which would remain under the present incorporation proceedings.

Tiburon Sanitary District Secretary Robert A. Sterling asked Rains, "What adjustment is necessary to be sure that representation on the council of the new city is fair?"

He referred to the fact that out of the 11-million-dollar assessed valuation, three and a-half million dollars has 55 per cent of the population.

Rains replied . . . "You can elect your council by districts, but I have found people do not react on the basis of assessed valuation."

Three Airports In Cuba Attacked In Bomb Raids

CITIES BOMBED — Havana, the capital of Cuba, and Santiago, at the eastern end of the island, and San Antolio de los Banos, a town about 20 miles from Havana, were struck by bombs early today. (AP Wirephoto map)

Castro Regime Sees 'Prelude To Invasion'

HAVANA (UPI) — Twin-engined B-26 warplanes bombed and strafed airports in three Cuban cities today. The government called the attacks a prelude to "large-scale military aggression" against Cuba.

Acting Foreign Minister Carlos Olivares called in the diplomatic corps and said the air raids were designed to knock out the Cuban Air Force before Cuba's enemies mount a full-scale attack in an effort to bring down the Fidel Castro government.

Castro mobilized his 300,000-man militia immediately after today's attacks in fear of an imminent invasion. Government sources said the bombing raids caused widespread damage in the three cities hit.

Castro said they were masterminded by the United States.

(Two B-26s, one damaged by anti-aircraft fire, landed in Florida. The pilots said the raids were carried out by Cuban Air Force men fed up with Castro's communism. Another plane was reported to have landed in Jamaica.)

AGGRESSION CHARGE

Olivares told the foreign diplomatic corps the United States was lending a "guilding hand" to aggression. Castro himself called the attacks open aggression by the United States.

Olivares displayed bomb fragments he said bore United States markings.

(A U.S. Navy spokesman at the naval base at Guantanamo Bay said the situation there was "very quiet" and that "no extra precautions are being taken. We are prepared for any eventuality.")

One bomb scored a direct hit on an Air Force ammunition dump at Camp Liberty on the Havana city limits. Ammunition explosions rocked the area moments after Castro raced there to investigate the bombings. He was not hurt.

TWO KILLED

Two militiamen were killed in the Havana bombing and "many" were wounded when planes strafed them as they ran to their posts.

The bombs had been lobbed just outside the Camp Liberty headquarters.

Bombers hit the cities of Havana, Santiago in eastern Cuba and San Antonio de los Banos 20 miles west of Havana. The bomb blasts and anti-aircraft fire awakened invasion-jittery Cubans at dawn.

DEFECTING PILOT DESCRIBES RAID

Declares Blasts At Military Targets Made To Avenge Betrayal of 'Coward'

MIAMI (UPI)—Defecting pilots fleeing Fidel Castro's air force flew to Florida in World War II bombers today after blasting Cuban military installations to avenge betrayal by a "coward" among them.

One of the Cuban Air Force B-26 bombers landed at Miami International Airport, riddled from anti-aircraft and small arms fire and with only one of its two engines working. Another landed at the Boca Chica U.S. Naval Air Station at Key West.

A third bomber landed in another "foreign country" where all three planes originally planned to go, informed Cuban sources here reported.

The pilots, who asked to remain unidentified, alighted from their planes in military fatigues and immediately asked for asylum. District immigration director Edward Ahrens in Miami said their re-landed in Miami told immigration officials that he and three other Cuban Air Force pilots had planned "for some months" to escape.

But he said the decision to leave today was made only two quests were under consideration.

'Cycle Rider Found Dead In Napa County

The body of a young San Rafael man was found in a canyon off a Napa County road yesterday, tangled in the wreckage of his motorcycle.

Robert P. H. Sangster, 19, of 34 Grove Street had left San Rafael April 1 for a trip to a lake or baths in Napa County.

The accident probably happened the same day, the Napa County sheriff's office said. Sangster apparently was coming down a winding grade on his motorcycle, missed a curve and hit several trees, landing in the canyon where his body could not be seen from the road. He probably was killed instantly, a deputy said.

The youth's father David Sangster of New York City had been here on business, it was learned. An uncle, Dr. Joseph Moore, lives in Mill Valley.

Soviet Reply Expected Soon On Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has indicated Russia will reply in a few days to a call for a cease fire in Laos, it was learned today.

Reliable sources said Gromyko informed U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., of this in a talk in Moscow Thursday.

The talk occurred when Thompson conveyed President John F. Kennedy's deep "concern" over Russia's failure to reply to the Western cease fire request which has gone unanswered since about 4 weeks ago.

U.S. officials remained cautious despite Gromyko's hint of an early answer. They noted that when Gromyko saw Kennedy here several weeks ago he promised a Soviet answer in "three days."

Officially, the State Department had no comment on Thompson's meeting Thursday except that "matters of interest, among them Laos," were discussed.

However, it is known that the Kennedy administration feels events of the next few days may be crucial in deciding whether there will be peace or stepped up strife in Laos.

Auditor To Unveil Hospital Fund Plan

Marin County might borrow $739,000 at reasonable interest for county hospital construction right now, Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle will tell the supervisors next week.

He explained today that the amount would come from the county employees' retirement fund, from which 25 per cent could be borrowed for a project of this sort. The fund had total assets of $2,850,183 at the end of last year.

Interest might be as low as 3½ per cent but a more likely rate, through negotiation, would be 4 per cent, slightly above the current rate for general obligation bonds (turned down twice by the electorate) but well below the lease-purchase cost.

But on the basic issue of changes in cost of building a new hospital, for which information has been sought by the board, deLisle said he thus far offered only a limited reply.

Building costs have been going up and interest has been going down, he said. The delay since calculations to support the last unsuccessful bond campaign has added about 5 per cent to overall cost of the project in any form, deLisle estimated; but whereas general obligation interest rates were 3¾ per cent then, with least-contract at least 5¼ per cent, these rates have now dropped respectively to around 3 per cent and 4½ per cent.

DeLisle expressed belief that existing hospital plans provide for too many beds in any event —"125 should be the maximum rather than the 175 projected."

"Nursing homes seem to me the answer on that," deLisle added. "I'm not for more federal housing than we've got already in Marin City and plenty of others feel that way. I understand petitions against this idea are being circulated."

DeLisle said he felt costs can be trimmed and financing provided with a good start offered by his idea of borrowing from retirement fund. On this latter her had a postscript:

"There has been past opposition on a theory that to pay interest on this would be double taxation," said deLisle. "However, 57 per cent of the fund was put in by employees and we can borrow only 25 per cent of it.

Delegate Says More Cuban Raids Slated

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa said today Cuban rebels had announced they would raid Fidel Castro's island stronghold again at 10 p.m.

Putting before the General Assembly's main political committee the dawn raid by B26 bombers against bases at three Cuban cities, Roa said:

"The responsibility for this act of imperialistic piracy falls squarely upon the government of the United States."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said, "No U.S. personnel participated in today's incident. Nor were there planes of the United States of any kind."

Castro's Air Force Chief Seeks Asylum

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's air force chief and his private pilot have asked for asylum in the United States, it was reported today. The men are brothers.

Admiral Tells Of Device For 'Hearing' Subs

BURBANK (UPI) — A ranking naval officer said today the United States has a series of sensitive underwater ears along key coasts to protect against sneak attack by missile carrying submarines.

Thus, Vice Adm. R. B. Pirie, deputy chief of naval operations for air, acknowledged what has long been rumor in the defense industry.

Pirie, here for the dedication of Lockheed's new subhunting PV3-1, said:

"We have passive listening devices on the bottom of the sea to detect submarines by listening to them. We have them in critical areas."

Asked if he could name the critical areas, he laughed and said, "can't you guess." Then he added, "They border our coasts in certain strategic areas."

IT'S NOT BREAD, WATER

Prison Menu Snubbed By Death Row Felons

A hunger strike hit San Quentin's Death Row last night when 28 men out of 34 refused dinner, according to J. R. O'Brien, officer of the day.

The strike continued this morning when 29 of the men refused breakfast, according to O'Brien.

There is no spokesman for the group, O'Brien stated. The men politely refused to eat. Apparently they want something other than what they are receiving, O'Brien said.

Warden Fred R. Dickson looked into the food being served. He stated that it was adequate and conforming to the standards set up.

The menu of the dinner refused was: Beef broth with rice, combination salad with French dressing, fried scallops with lemon wedge, assorted cold cuts, macaroni au gratin, and Swiss chard for dinner. For breakfast they were offered stewed apricots, cooked cereal, plain omelet, crisp bacon, French toast with maple syrup, toasted bread with oleo, coffee and milk.

Two Airmen Hurt As Car Hits Pole In Ignacio; Power Out For Half Hour

Two Hamilton Air Force Base airmen and a Petaluma man suffered minor injuries last night when their car struck a power pole in Ignacio, knocking out power in the area about a half hour.

Treated at the base hospital were A/3c Milton Martin, 21, the driver; A/1c Robert Paige, owner of the car, and Roland Kamps, 22, of Petaluma.

Officer Sam Thomas of the California Highway Patrol said the car came out of the parking lot at The Meadows, went about 85 feet, and struck the pole, breaking it. The vehicle was a total loss, he said.

Issuance of a citation will depend on the results of a sobriety test given Martin, the officer said.

A Lompoc woman received a whiplash injury in another accident last night involving four cars in rear-end collisions on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

Mrs. Patricia Wheeler was treated at Marin General Hospital, then released. She was passenger in a car driven by her husband, Thomas A. Wheeler, 24, stationed at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Also involved in the accident were Raffale A. Ferante, 31, of 18 Poplar Avenue, Ross, driving a tow truck; John A. Crossler, 17, of 300 Bothin Road, Fairfax, and Kent B. MacIver, 21, of 5 Stadium Way, Kentfield.

MacIver was cited for illegally stopping in the roadway.

Adamarie Rancke To Marry Richard Fernandez In Fall

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Rancke of San Anselmo have announced the engagement of their daughter, Adamarie, to Richard P. Fernandez.

Adamarie is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and St. Joseph's College of Nursing in San Francisco. Adamarie, a registered nurse, is on the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio R. Fernandez of Oakland, California. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Ziliotto of Morgan Hill.

The young man is a graduate of Fresno High School, and attended San Jose State College and was graduated from the Allan Hancock College in Santa Maria.

He is presently stationed with the United States Air Force at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

A Fall wedding is planned.

Ticket Chairmen For Spring Decor Event Announced

Ticket chairmen for the demonstration of Spring floral arrangements, which is being co-sponsored by the Marin County Council of Co-operative Nursery Schools and its participating members at the Corte Madera Recreation Center on Wednesday, May 3, were announced this week by Council president Mrs. Joseph Rogers of San Anselmo.

Katherine Eubanks, Larkspur floral decorator, will give a demonstration, which will begin at 1 p.m. and be followed by a tea.

Handling tickets for the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School will be the Mesdames C. E. McClain, Spencer Greaves, and John Stone, while the Mesdames Robert Thalman, W. W. Comstock, and John E. Doane will take care of this detail for the Terra Linda School.

Heading the list of ticket sellers for the Mill Valley Cooperative Nursery School will be three members, Mrs. Roy B. Montgomery, Mrs. William E. Marshall Jr., and Mrs. Harvey Hoffman.

Twin Cities Cooperative Nursery School ticket sellers are the Mesdames Del De Martini, Mrs. T. A. Bataglia, and Mrs. Gary Lovell, while Mrs. R. E. Douglas, Mrs. David Faw, and Mrs. Robert Mertle are ticket chairmen for the San Anselmo school.

Childbirth Series Planned In May

A new series of classes in the Education for Childbirth program will begin during the first week of May. They will be held on Thursday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. and in the evening from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gunhild Brown and Mrs. William Weeks, who are registered physical therapists, will be the instructors. The classes are conducted in San Rafael at the physical therapy office of Mrs. Gunhild H. Brown, 711 D Annex.

The eight week course includes training in exercises for relaxtion, breathing techniques and posture. Emphasis is given to understanding the processes of pregnancy and labor. Expectant fathers are invited to attend the Parents Class where films are shown.

The expectant mother must have her doctor's written permission before she can enroll in the series. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Brown.

New Officers For P.E.O.

League Neophytes Being Feted At Tea

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The Junior League's new provisionals and Mrs. Richard W. Newell, retiring president of Marin Unit of the Junior League of San Francisco Inc. will be honored at a tea Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. George David Hart at her home in Ross. Mrs. Hart is the retiring chairman. New provisionals are Mesdames Barry T. Brennan, Robert W. Dawson Jr., Kirk Frederick, V. Neil Fulton, Jarvis J. Gates, Fred Graham and William Robert Hanson. The seven are part of a group of 28 neophytes welcomed at a luncheon on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Anthony H. Woodson of San Francisco.

HONORING A couple from Fort Dodge, Iowa, here for a visit, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Merryman of San Rafael gave a dinner Tuesday night. Honored were Mr. and Mrs. John C. Deardorf. Their niece, Miss Judy Nesbitt of Boston was a guest at the dinner.

MRS. BERT VAN CLEVE, former Sausalitan, is renewing local friendships on a visit from Los Angeles. Staying with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Van Cleve, "Millie" was present at a gathering of her former neighbors on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Chapman.

A 63-FOOT YACHT was the "centerpiece" for the party Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson I. Moseley hosted at their novel yachting subdivision at Paradise Cay, Tiburon, recently. The more than a hundred guests from the Peninsula and the East Bay strolled from the wide verandas and sundecks of the home on Jamaica Drive down the gang plank to board the blue and silver "Orient," the 63-foot cutter. As the Orient rode at anchor a Hawaiian string band played and neighbors in their own boats cruised by to wave to the visitors.

TRAVELING to Europe with a large group of Horseless Carriage Club members will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Jones of Kent Woodlands. However they are leaving the fine old cars at home and flying jet to Paris and from there will tour the continent by chartered bus for about a month. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are leaving on April 27 and will fly to Los Angeles and then to Paris. They will be there for several days then take off for Luxembourg and from there to Germany where they will stay in Mannheim and Stuttgart. They'll travel to Switzerland for several days in Lucerne and then it will be Italy and its large cities. The party will travel to Monte Carlo for a couple of days and then fly to London for several days of sight seeing before jetting home.

AT THE LARGE TEA Mrs. Frank Baumgarten and Mrs. Frank Timberlake are giving on Thursday at the Century Club in San Francisco honoring Mrs. Timberlake's new daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Timberlake, a number of Marinites will pour or otherwise assist in the social event. Among these will be Mrs. June Shaw Haseltine, who has just returned from a month's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Hutchinson III and her family in Arizona; Mrs. V. Balfour James, Mrs. Frederick Clute, also Carol Henderson, Mrs. Rufus Thayer and Mrs. John Ziel, who have summer homes in Nicasio; Mrs. Jefferson Doolittle Jr., who has a home on the Belvedere Lagoon; Mrs. Richard Palmer, whose parents live in Belvedere.

PEACOCK GAP COUNTRY Club will be the locale for the no-host luncheon to be given on Wednesday before the Northgate Table Decor Show. Among those attending will be Mesdames A. W. Feidler, Frank C. Stratford, Rolla B. Hess, Henry Drath, William Dawson, George Geramoni, Harvie Freed, John E. Kirkpatrick, A. J. Valenti, Laurence Benamati.

A YEAR'S WORLD TOUR has been completed by Victor and Irene Wollmann who move back into their Sausalito home today. They cut their journeying short a week to attend the wedding of Mariette Gaspar and Rev. Murray L. Trelease at Christ Church in Sausalito on Saturday. The Wollmanns have been staying at the Kenneth Logan home since their return. Irene and Vic flew first to Paris where they bought a sun-top Peugeot to tour the continent which they did thoroughly. They sent the car home from Rome and traveled after that mostly by air. They went to Greece, Turkey and then Egypt, then Cairo and the southern part of Egypt to Luxor, site of ancient Thebes, to view the ruins of temples and tombs.

The travelers flew to India, then went to Ceylon, Singapore, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Tahiti and Honolulu returning home from there. They are already planning another trip, this time to places they did not see in the Orient.

MRS. HENRY S. FOSTER of Mill Valley will be among those leaving on the Peggy Wilberg good will tour of Europe Monday. She is taking with her sets of Parker pens and pencils, donated by Carl Priest of Mill Valley to be distributed as a good will gesture.

The party will go by jet to New York and from there by jet to Lisbon, Portugal, arriving just in time to be entertained by the Lord High Mayor of Lisbon.

In the following two months they will also be entertained by other officials and important people including the mayors of Munich, Rome, Madrid and Vienna, Professor Walter Minarz of Vienna and Dr. Wladimir Lindenberg of Bavaria, world famous brain surgeon.

In Vienna a special welcoming committee headed by Dr. Minarz will be composed of prominent people comparable in age and occupation to members of the tour party.

SEVERAL COCKTAIL parties will be given on Wednesday before the luncheon and fashion show of Madera Guild of Sunny Hills at Bob's of Marin. Mrs. Donald W. Fox will entertain Mesdames Jerome Kay, John Erlwein, Anthony Novacic, Haskell Shedd, John Corriea, Richard Ruyck, Robert Gast, Aaron Shenson, Ralph Bowman, William Hawk, Michael Looper, Kenneth Hansen, Abe Kupperberg, Charles Cross, Tom Smith, Jerome Cohn, Myron Kaplan and Louis Van Vliet.

A FOUR MONTHS' holiday in Europe is being pleasantly anticipated by Mrs. George Thierbach of Corte Madera who, with her sister, Mrs. M. C. Hood of Oakland, leaves for the continent on April 22. They are flying to New York and then to Lisbon and after touring nearly all the countries will go to Scotland, Ireland and England.

TO HONOR Mrs. Louis Gaspar, who was in Sausalito to attend the wedding of her daughter, Mariette Gaspar to Rev. Murray Trelease, Dr. and Mrs. Emmet L. Rixford entertained at a dinner on Thursday. Mrs. Gaspar's home is in Honolulu but she has established a temporary residence in Switzerland until her younger daughter completes her school year. She returned to Switzerland today. On Wednesday the Rixfords entertained the cast of the recent jinks of Sausalito Woman's Club and showed colored slides Dr. Rixford had taken during the performance. The picture showing at the clubhouse was followed by refreshments.

MORE SAUSALITO NEWS. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Conner have returned from an Easter holiday in Southern California that included some very pleasant days at La Jolla.

Mrs. H. R. Schreiber leaves next week for a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Sandstrom in Clearfield, Utah.

Dr. and Mrs. John Wellington spent last week on the East Coast. Mrs. Wellington visited friends in New York while the doctor attended a medical conference in Atlantic City.

Hadleys' Daughters In Baptismal Rite

The first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hadley of Fairfax was baptized recently at St. John's Church in Ross. The little one, baptized Virginia Lorraine, has two brothers, Larry and Bobby. Godparents of little Virginia are her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe DeLasaux Jr. (Muriel Satmary) of Mill Valley.

Maternal grandparents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Satmary of Larkspur. Following the baptismal ceremony a family party took place at the Hadley home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Satmary and cousins of the baby, Joan, Nancy and Denise DeLasaux and Lynette Satmary.

JOANNA GEARY TO BE WED TO WILLIAM CUTLER IN JULY

At a family dinner party at their San Rafael home, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Geary announced the engagement of their daughter, Joanna Elizabeth Geary, to William David Cutler. Plans are being made for a wedding at St. Raphael's Church on July 29.

The bride-elect, sister of Stephen, Don and Helenmarie Geary, is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Howard of Vallejo and the late Mrs. Helen B. Geary of San Rafael. Joanna is a grandniece of Judge Edward I. Butler of San Rafael.

The bride-elect attended Dominican and San Francisco College for Women and is a graduate of City College of San Francisco where she was president of Delta Psi sorority.

Bill, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Richard Cutler of Visalia, was graduated from Whitney High School in Visalia and University of San Francisco and is now attending the university's law school. He is a member of St. Ives Law Club, Scabbard and Blade and Block Club.

The young man is the brother of Rev. Richard Cutler of San Carlos Mission in Monterey, and Ross and John Cutler of Visalia. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cutler and the late Mr. and Mrs. David Toomey, all of Visalia.

JOANNA ELIZABETH GEARY whose engagement to William David Cutler was announced at a family dinner party given by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Geary of San Rafael. July 29 has been set as the wedding date.

He is the brother of Robert, Joe and Marilyn Green. A late summer wedding is planned.

Unification Topic Of Canon Betts At Presbyterian Society Meeting

Unification as proposed by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake was explained by Canon Darby Betts, Christian Social Relations director for the Diocese of California, speaker at the San Rafael Presbyterian Church April 13, Mrs. Carl Heidenreich made the introduction with Mrs. Warren Tracy, program chairman for the Women's Society monthly luncheon. Canon Betts explained that it wsa during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the greatest divisions occurred until today there are 300 different churches and sects.

He emphasized the following: "We must begin to think sacrificially about the Oneness of God . . . the Bible is the basic contribution . . . Christian reunion can come only by Christian humility on both sides. . . . If we are to witness to the world we must be One."

Mrs. Herrick Lane gave the worship service following Canon Betts remarks.

Luncheon was served at long tables decorated with garlands of hawthorne and ivy encircling pink camellias and blue daisies. The Rev. Herrick Lane gave the invocation.

Serving as hostesses were Mesdames Charles Tacchi, A. M. Chiaroni, Lewis A. Clapp, Eva Anderson, Ann Adams, Vernon Bauman, Peter Cazassa, James Cowie, L. S. Gaustad, H. V. Hickman, Guy Kirner, D. D. McFarlane, Ralph Oliver, Joe Petersen and Rudolph Scott.

Mrs. La Rue Bocarde made the white carnations for the corsages worn by the guests.

REPORTS GIVEN

Mrs. William Howe reported on the Knoxville College as described at a recent Santa Rosa meeting.

A report of the March Philadelphia meeting was made by Mrs. Samuel D. Archibald.

Mrs. Joe Petersen gave a summary of the sewing projects.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Mary Larson, pianist, a Dominican student, and this year's recipient of a Marin Music Chest Scholarship. Miss Larson played a composition by Haydn with variations and a Chopin Nocturne. Miss Larson was introduced by Mrs. Samuel D. Archibald.

The brief business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Kenneth Walkmeister.

COMING EVENTS

Coming events include the dinner at the San Rafael Presbyterian church April 21 honoring the Seminary graduates. February, March and April Circles will serve as hostesses. The Seminary luncheon will be April 24.

April 30 will mark the ordination of Richard Walenta.

On May 16 the Men's Council dinner will be served.

Miss Georgia Wintringham announced the Needle Work Guild exhibition and tea April 21.

Rev. Wesley Baker told of the congregation's opportunity to voice an opinion regarding the Sanctuary improvements to chancel and chapel at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Women's Society. Voting on the proposed improvements will take place following the April 23 church services.

SOVIETS BUILDING MOON SPACESHIPS

MOSCOW (UPI) — Spaceman Yuri Gagarin said today Russia is building spaceships for flights to the moon—presumably carrying men—and indicated clearly that he would like to go along.

At a two-hour press conference attended by an estimated 1,000 reporters, the largest such gathering ever seen in Moscow, the 27-year-old air force major said also that:

His spaceship was returned to earth intact, with its instruments undamaged, and that it could be used again for orbital flight.

His view of the earth while 110 to 118 miles high in orbit was as good as the view from a high-flying jet. Although the spaceship carried no cameras, he said he could see landmarks like mountains and rivers clearly enough to locate specific points on earth.

This appeared to confirm scientific belief that "spy in the sky" satellites would be of military value.

Russia has developed "several techniques" for the recovery of space vehicles, including the use of parachutes. He evaded a direct answer as to the method of his return from orbit.

His descent from orbit to Russia's secret "spacedrome" took 30 minutes. He gave no details of the ascent, but it appeared from other statements that it took about 29 minutes to get the spaceship up.

Russia has astronauts ready for additional flights. He hopes himself to venture into space again, perhaps to such points as the moon, Venus or Mars.

He became an astronaut at his own "urgent request," apparently in 1957. This suggested that he might have been in training for two or three years for this week's flight.

Gagarin survived the orbital journey in good health. His pulse count on landing was 70-75, the same as it was at takeoff and the same as when he went to bed the night before.

IF IT SPENDS MONEY

U.S. May Still Beat Reds For First Man On The Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may still beat the Soviet Union to the moon—if it's willing to pay for it.

That's the view of a top space official who said yesterday that the United States might be able to lob a man there in 1967 by spending billions on a crash program.

But the official, Dr. Robert C. Seamans, associate director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said reaching that goal would require a change in high national policy.

Going "all out on an absolutely crash basis," he said, would cost billions more than is now contemplated.

Seamans testified before the House Science and Astronautics Committee.

The Soviet Union hasn't hinted at its plans in the moon race. But its first space traveler, Maj. Yuri Gagarin, said the trip might be "sooner than we think."

Putting a man on the moon in 1967, Seamans said, would be "a very major undertaking."

Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.) cautioned him to consider his words carefully.

The NASA official then said 1967 "is a date that could be considered from a planning standpoint."

"I did not say we can do it," Seamans added. "I personally think it may be possible. I can't assure you anything can be done."

Chenoweth wanted to know if the goal was important enough to bend every national effort toward it, even to the extent of changing the national economy.

Seamans said he thinks NASA should have an extra $42.6 million for the Apollo space laboratory development. That was the amount cut from the program by the Budget Bureau.

Seamans asked five million dollars more for an additional tracking station for Project Mercury, the man in orbit program that leads to the more advanced Apollo concept.

Lone Man On Some Ballots

San Rafael High School District voters will go to 14 polling places Tuesday to cast their ballots for a trustee for the Marin Junior College District.

Only one candidate is on the ballot—incumbent Kent Seymour.

"It's a waste of time and money," said county clerk George Jones. But the settting up of the polling places is required by law, although Seymour has no opposition and San Rafael voters have no other measures to vote on. The San Rafael city school election was held last Monday.

POLLS ALREADY SET

Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools, explained that the number of polling places are determined by the number of registered voters, and are organized and established even before it is known how many candidates will be running.

Four or five county precincts are consolidated into one school precinct, he noted. Three clerks will be on duty at each of the 14 polls in the San Rafael district.

(Voters in the Tamalpais Union High School District also vote for the college trustee, as well as for their own district's bond issue and trustees.)

WRITE-INS POSSIBLE

"From a practical matter we probably won't get a great turnout," Blackmore said. But "as an agency charged with conducting the election, we can't go on practical considerations." There is also the possibility of write-ins, he noted.

The situation was complicated this year because the 1959 legislature changed school trustee terms to four years, with elections every two years.

Petitions Hit Attempt At Censorship

Two petitions were filed yesterday at the Mill Valley City Hall opposing any attempt by the city to censor the sale of publications at the city-owned bus depot.

One petition asked that the city apoligize to newstand operator Maggie Grant.

The petitions were initiated as a result of Councilman George D. Monardo's request April 5 that something be done about the "trash" magazines on sale to grade school children at the depot.

The matter will come before the city council at its meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

One petition with 50 signatures, started by Beth Coffelt of 17 Madrone Avenue, stated its support of the intelligence and integrity of Maggie Grant in the operation of the stand. It said, secondly, "We declare our opposition to arbitrary censorship of books and book selling either by act or by implication by unauthorized city officials."

Lastly, the petition asked that a public announcement of apology be made to Maggie Grant by the city council of Mill Valley in reparation for adverse and ill-deserved publicity regarding her book and magazine concession."

The second petition, with 250 signatures, was started by Mrs. Archibald D. Gillis of 123 Melrose Avenue and Mrs. Thomas W. Stone of 250 Tamalpais Avenue.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

VACATION ENDS — Ike, Mamie leave California.

Ike On Way Home

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower ended a golfing holiday in the California desert by expressing these opinions at a trainside press conference:

The Soviet Union has not dealt a major blow to United States prestige by orbiting a man in space because "it's not necessary to be first in everything."

He won't comment on a statement attributed to Robert Welch of the controversial John Birch Society that Eisenhower had been a tool of the Communists because: "I don't think I should give him (Welch) or the organization that much importance."

Tanned and rested from his two months in Palm Springs, Eisenhower chatted amiably at a press conference before leaving by train last night for the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Woman Kidnaped

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Thelma Meyer, 40, was kidnaped and robbed of $2,100 yesterday by a gunman who hid in her car while she was in a bank picking up money to cash payroll checks at her bar.

Mrs. Meyer told police the man pointed a gun at her as she got into the car and ordered her to drive to the Twin Peaks area. He grabbed the money and her car keys and fled on foot.

Strike Talks Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiators representing some 7,500 striking Bay Area machinists said today they are ready to resume talks in hopes of ending their week-long walkout against 127 metal working firms. But they said it appeared unlikely that any talks would be scheduled until Monday.

To Appoint Poole

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy today announced he will appoint Cecil F. Poole, a Negro San Francisco lawyer, as United States attorney for the northern district of California.

If the Senate confirms him, Poole will be the first Negro to serve as a U.S. district attorney in the continental United States.

Poole is Gov. Edmund G. Brown's clemency secretary.

$200,000 For Fibber

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marian Jordan—Molly of the Fibber McGee and Molly comedy team —left an estate of $200,000 in trust for her husband, James Jordan.

The will, filed yesterday for probate, also bequeathed a total of $36,000 to a dozen friends and relatives.

Mrs. Jordan, 61, died April 7 of cancer.

Saves Crew

BOSTON (UPI) — A captain's iron-nerved decision to stick with his broken ship until the last possible minute saved the entire crew of the ill-fated Marine Merchant, officials said today.

A Coast Guard spokesman said that if Capt. Robert P. Ruse, 37, of Baltimore, Md., skipper of the converted Liberty ship, had ordered his men into lifeboats when the vessel first ran into trouble they probably would have perished in the churning seas.

The 441-foot Marine Merchant, bound from Port Sulphur, La. to Portland, Me. with a cargo of sulphur, broke in half 55 miles east of Portsmouth, N.H., about midnight yesterday. The 35-man crew escaped.

Negro State Asked

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Elijah Muhammad, leader of the Black Muslim organization, has urged the founding of a separate state within the United States for Negroes and believes 20 million members of his race would unit with him in the venture.

"I want to unit my people and start them on their way to something other than lying at the doorsteps of the white man begging," the 63-year-old head of the extremist sect said at a press conference yesterday.

'Batman' Figure Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Walburga Oesterreich, whose fantastic affair with a lover who hid for years in her attic startled the nation 30 years ago, is dead at 75.

Her death April 8 came to light yesterday when her will was filed for probate.

She willed her multi-million dollar estate to Ray Bert Hedrick, 65, her business manager whom she married only two weeks before she died.

And what of Otto Sanhuber, whose tale of hiding in his mistress' garrets in Milwaukee and Los Angeles — coming out only when her husband was away—brought him the sobriquet "Batman"?

He dropped from sight after he was convicted in 1930 of manslaughter in the shooting Aug. 22, 1922, of Fred Oesterreich, Milwaukee garment manufacterer.

The statute of limitations had expired, so he was freed. His whereabouts since have been a mystery.

Riot Broken Up

About 100 demonstrators shouting "Cuba yes, Yankees no" tried to reach the ministry of education but were blocked by police detachments.

Brown Vows Anti-Bias Efforts

Brown said today he will try to "put the full power of government behind the effort to eliminate discrimination in the field of housing."

In a speech prepared for delivery to a statewide conference called by the California Committee for Fair Practices, Brown said:

TO PUBLICIZE BILL

The conference, with 350 delegates expected, was called to publicize a bill pending in the legislature which would prohibit refusal to sell or rent housing solely on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry.

The bill, by Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Los Angeles), would ban discrimination in "publicly assisted" housing.

The new measure would extend the ban to all housing, except single residences occupied by the owner, and give inforcement powers to the State Fair Employment Practices Commission, also established in 1959.

OUTLINES PENALTIES

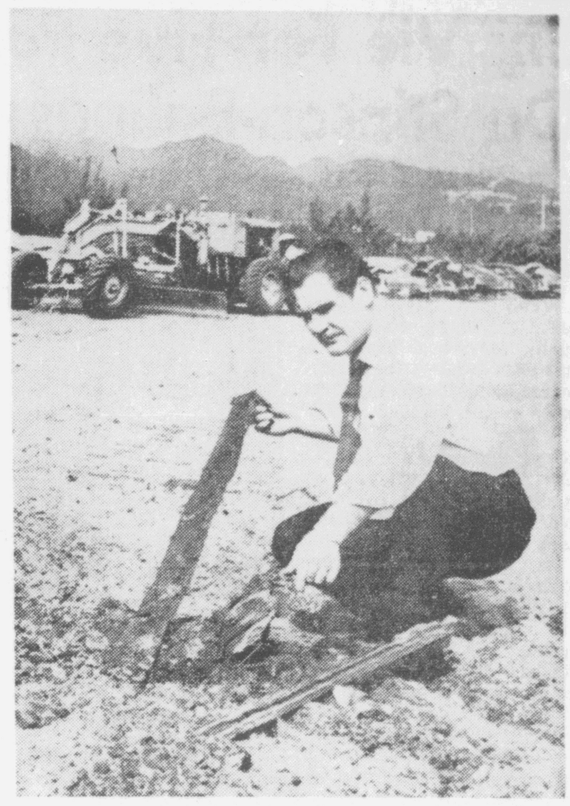
It would provide penalties, upon conviction in court, of up to six months in jail and a $500 fine, but would try to prevent or eliminate violations without the necessity of court action.

Brown said he endorses Hawkin's bill "in principle."

"I cannot speak for the legislature and tell you the exact form this bill will finally take. There may be revisions . . .

"I will accept reasonable compromises in form. None in principle."

The bill has cleared the Assembly Governmental Efficiency Committee, and is scheduled to be heard by the Ways and Means Committee Monday night.



END OF LEHI IV

Adventurer DeVere Baker sifts through the ashes of his historic eight-ton raft Lehi IV in Honolulu. He sailed the raft from California to Hawaii in 1958 in an attempt to prove a theory of his that the Polynesians originated in South America and drifted on rafts to the South Pacific. Baker had gone recently to Hawaii to claim the raft as a museum piece but all he found were ashes and charred boards. (AP Wirephoto).

Million-Dollar Electric Line Work Under Way

Work has started on construction of a new 9.6-mile, high-voltage electrical transmission line between Ignacio and San Rafael substations of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., it was announced today by electrical superintendent Leonard O. Robertson.

A contractor has started pile driving in the section of the line between San Quentin Road and Point San Pedro Road, an area of unstable soil where piles must be used, capped with concrete.

Materials are being delivered for the company's own "footing crews" to start pouring concrete in areas where this can be done without need for piles.

The new line is to be in operation by next Oct. 31, according to Robertson.

"We're giving Marin County the best quality electricity we can right now, but this line will provide more of it," quipped Robertson.

Costing $1,058,000, the new steel towers will add a 110,000-volt line to the already existing line which it will parallel which already carries two 60,000-vote circuits. The new towers will have capacity for another 110,000-volt line to be added later as demand rises.

Result of the new line will be to provide additional power for Marin from Sierra Nevada powerhouses and Bay Area steam generating plants.

Six Vie For Five Positions On Stinson-Bolinas Board

Five Incumbents Of Old Trustees Units On Ballot

(This is the last of a series of stories introducing candidates for school boards in districts where there are contests for board membership on the Tuesday ballot.)

A brand new school district, Bolinas-Stinson Beach Elementary School District, finds six candidates for the five positions on its first board in Tuesday's election.

Five of the six are incumbents of either the Bolinas or the Stinson Beach board. The two boards, which have been working jointly, go out of existence after the election as the two districts have combined into one.

Also on the ballot in the new district is a $1.20 general purpose tax limit. Former rates were $1.01 in Bolinas and $1.19 in Stinson Beach. Override tax of six to eight cents for retirement, etc., is additional to the proposed limit.

The six candidates for the new board are Mrs. Roberta E. Shockey, Mrs. Blanche Eustis, Arthur E. Carpenter, Mrs. Joyce Huntley, Henry B. Lacaze and Rolland M. McCready. All except McCready have been serving on one or the other of the former boards.

Here is a rundown on the candidates:

ROLLAND M. McCREADY

ARTHUR E. CARPENTER

ARTHUR E. CARPENTER, 41, of Lower County Road, Bolinas, is a designer and maker of furniture. He has served three years on the Bolinas School District board.

Carpenter and his wife, Joan, have a daughter and son in school.

He was born in New York City, has a B.A. degree from Dartmouth University, and took post-graduate work at Columbia University. He was a lieutenant in Navy intelligence in World War II, serving in the South Pacific and acquiring four battle stars.

He says his platform is to retain teachers of stature in the new district and insure them an environment that will enable them to work to capacity.

BLANCHE EUSTIS, 67, is the wife of Alvin A. Eustis Sr. of Stinson Beach. She taught school in Oakland until her retirement in 1957, and at one time was a county schools superintendent in Washington. Two sons live in Berkeley and Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Eustis is a member of Stinson Beach Allied Arts, Progressive Club of Stinson Beach and the Order of Eastern Star.

She was born in Elliott, Iowa, attended Eastern Washington College and received her A.B. degree from Washington State University.

Mrs. Eustis has served three years on the Stinson Beach School Board, being clerk throughout her service. "We are proud of the unionization of the Bolinas and Stinson Beach Schools. We hope to keep the unionization running smoothly and efficiently. Therefore I hope to be elected to serve on the union board," she says.

BLANCHE EUSTIS

JOYCE HUNTLEY, an incumbent of the Bolinas board, is the wife of Boyd Huntley and the mother of four children, three of whom are in school.

Mrs. Huntley is a graduate of University of California and is working for a teacher's credential at San Francisco State College.

HENRY B. LACAZE, 45, of Willow Avenue, Stinson Beach, is a plumbing contractor and operates the Stinson Beach garbage service. He has been a member of the Stinson Beach School District board for eight years.

Lacaze and his wife, June, have two sons in school. Lacaze is a member of the Stinson Beach Progressive Club, Stinson Beach Community Center, Volunteer Fire Department and Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce.

He was born in Napa and graduated from Napa High School. He and Mrs. Lacaze have been Stinson Beach co-chairmen of the March of Dimes for 15 years.

ROBERTA E. SHOCKEY is the wife of Kenneth Shockey of Stinson Beach and has served eight years on the Stinson Beach School District board. The Shockeys have two sons attending Tamalpais High School and one attending Stinson Beach School.

Mrs. Shockey is a member of the Progressive Club, Stinson Beach Allied Arts and Parent-Teacher Club. She is one of the producers of the annual Stinson Beach Wild Flower Show.

ROLLAND M. McCREADY, 45, of Stinson Beach is a chemist in sugar beet research at the Western Regional Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Albany, Contra Costa County. He and his family have resided in Stinson Beach for five years. Mr. and Mrs. McCready have three children in school.

McCready was born in Malta, Mont. He has a Ph.D. degree from University of California, from which he also received his A. B. His parents and a sister were school teachers.

Yowling Cat Eludes San Rafael Police

San Rafael police may yet have to organize a safari to capture an elusive animal on San Rafael hill.

They spent about a half hour yesterday around noon time tramping through grass and woods near Curtis Avenue after a woman reported she saw a big cat with a long tail with rings on it.

Mrs. R. F. Bjorn of 47 Curtis Avenue said the animal was yowling. She saw it run through the grass down the hill

On Thursday night Martha Babin of 40 Curtis Avenue told police she saw a large animal balance itself on a tree limb, then walk along a rail down the hill. She described it as yellowish color with darker stripes.

Police said the description was definitely not that of a mountain lion. They found nothing on the hill except an alley cat, they said.

Baseball Season Under Way—Four Injured

Four Marin boys proved baseball season is under way—even in Marin County—as they suffered minor injuries in three accidents Thursday.

Eugene Sapporetti of 2021 Hatch Road, Novato, and Barry Schwartzburg, of 20 Gertrude Lane, Novato, both 12-year-olds, collided as they were trying to haul in the same fly ball during a noon baseball game at the Hill School in Novato. Eugene was treated in Novato General Hospital for a cut on his lip and Barry went to the same hospital with a tooth missing.

Stephen Purcell of 28 El Cerrito Avenue, San Anselmo, a student at Sir Francis Drake High School, was treated in Marin General Hospital for a bruised right leg after he was struck with a baseball at the high school.

Jewish Humor To Be Discussed

Jewish humor will be discussed by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Freehof at a special program tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael.

The Freehofs will analyze Jewish humor throughout history, and will present a variety of readings in English, from Jewish literature. Freehof is the director of Sinai Memorial Chapel in San Francisco, and Mrs. Freehof is an instructor at the institute for Jewish Studies.

There is no admission charge to center members for this event, which is open to the public.

PILOT

Castro intelligence officer.

"I alerted the other two and we decided that the coward had betrayed us. We decided to take action at once," the pilot said.

He said it was because of this "treachery" that he and the others decided to "give him a lesson" with a strafing and bombing run over air base installations on their way to freedom. He said he struck at his own base—San Antonio de los Banos—and the other pilots hit other bases.

"I circled the field and dropped my load of bombs on it," the flier said. Later, in his statement to immigration authorities, he mentioned only strafing.

He said as he twisted his plane through small arms and anti-aircraft fire, "I heard explosions and saw flames."

The first of the bombers landed at Boca Chica. The pilot was taken into custody by U.S. Navy and boarder patrol officers.

Ahrens said a second man may have been aboard in the landing in Key West.

Have A Nice Weekend —After Deductions

This may spoil your weekend, but Uncle Sam and Cousin California are both looking for your income tax returns by Monday at the latest.

Federal and state income tax returns must be mailed with the postmark not later than midnight Monday. Penalties will be imposed after that.

Jury Trial Set For Woman Who Kicked Out Glass

A Mill Valley housewife, accused of kicking out a pane of glass and attacking a deputy sheriff at Sabella's Restaurant Thursday morning, faces a jury trial next month.

She appeared before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court yesterday and pleaded innocent to charges of malicious mischief and battery against Deputy Sheriff Boyd Burnham.

The judge set the jury trial for May 29 and May 31.

Deputy Burnham said he was questioning Mrs. Patricia M. Jackson, 35, of 61 Linden Lane, Mill Valley, about the broken door pane at the restaurant when she suddenly started hitting him on the head with her fists.

Students Plan Bond Statements

Redwood High School students will have a chance for rebuttal of statements made during a radio station KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" broadcast on the Tamalpais Union High School District bond issue yesterday.

Following the broadcast, several Redwood students called the station to object to statements made by some of the panel members.

Kitty Oppenheimer has announced that Donald Deane, student body vice president, and Michael Spencer, student commissioner of public relations, will be given a chance to air their own versions of the bond issue on "Kitty Oppenheimer's Open House" over the station at 11 a.m. Monday.

Mother Given Custody Right

Corte Madera attorney J. W. Ehrlich's daughter, Dora Jane Ehrlich Cherney has been given temporary custody of her two sons in Superior Court in San Francisco.

Her husband, singer Guy Cherney, whom she sued for divorce last January, has had temporary custody of the boys. In the bitter court fight yesterday he charged his wife was an "unfit mother."

Attorney Ehrlich has agreed to pay the $800 cost of summer camp for his grandsons, Joseph 13, and David, 10, and the cost of attending San Rafael Military Academy. They will enter the school in September.

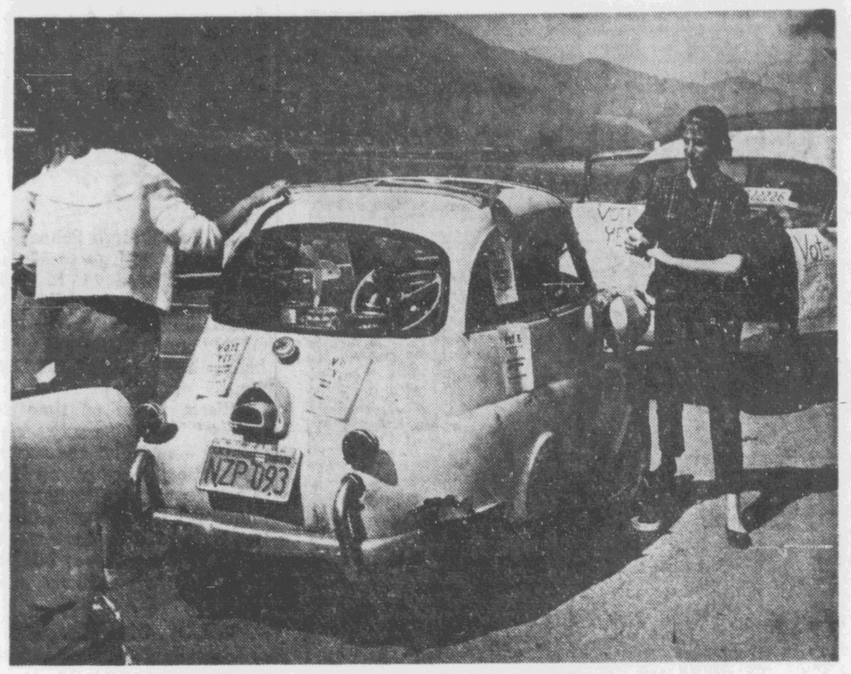
Groundbreaking Rites Scheduled By Church

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a new $69,000 education unit addition to the Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda will be held tomorrow after the 10:30 a.m. worship service, announced Charles Convis, building committee chairman.

The six class-room structure is to be completed this summer. Participating at the groundbreaking will be Howard Robie, director of New Work for the North Coastal Area of the Synod of California, United Presbyterian Church in the USA, Pastor Upshaw and members of the congregation.



MOTORCADE PLUGS FOR BONDS

Youngsters of the Tamalpais High School District plastered their jalopies with banners and signs this morning to whoop it up for the $3 million bond issue that is up for election next Tuesday. The car parade started from Greenbrae Lanes and wound through Ross Valley and South Marin. Getting her little "bug" ready for the motorcade is driver Nancy Prather of Drake High (back to camera). Helping her are Maxine Biedron of Lagunitas School and Margaret Prather of Drake. (Independent-Journal photo.)

Railroad Worker Acquitted Of Robbing Airman

A Marin Superior Court jury of five men and seven women deliberated for almost six hours yesterday and acquitted a railroad worker from San Francisco of a robbery charge.

R. D. Henderson, 39, of San Francisco was accused of hitting an airman over the head and robbing him of $30 north of Novato last Oct. 24. Airman 2/c Jerry A. Worthen told the jury that Henderson gave him a ride from San Francisco.

Instead of stopping at Hamilton, Worthen said Henderson drove north, beat him up, and took his watch and $30 in cash.

Henderson, defended by Carl Sharpiro, contended that the airman was asleep in his car until they were near Novato, then woke up and wanted to go back to Hamilton Field. Henderson said he was in a hurry and dropped the airman off north of Novato.

Nursery Manager Is Found Guilty

James E. Lewis of 206 Solano Avenue, San Rafael, was convicted after a trial before Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating. Lewis' attorney, Richard Gladstein, said he would ask for a new trial. The judge set 12 noon of next Tuesday as the time to hear the motion for a new trial or for judgement.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Hadden W. Roth presented witnesses to show that Lewis had committed lewd and lascivious acts against three girls, two 3 years old, and the other age 12. Lewis denied this.

Bach, Mozart Music Scheduled Tomorrow

Music of Bach, Marcello and Mozart will be presented in the third of a series of four Baroque concerts to be presented at Angelica Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael at 8 p.m. tomorrow by the San Rafael Baroque Orchestra. The program is sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation Department, the Dominican College Department of Music, and the Symphony Guild of Marin.

OBITUARIES

Marin Train Conductor Succumbs

Dominic A. Gallagher, 81, a conductor on the electric train which ran from Sausalito to San Rafael in the days of the ferry boat commuting in Marin, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a five-week illness.

Gallagher was born in San Rafael Jan. 11, 1880. He started in the railroad business in 1900 as a youth. He retired from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. 23 years ago.

He had resided at 308 D Street, San Rafael. He was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

Gallagher is survived by a son, Dominic Gallagher of San Anselmo; three daughters, Mrs. Eugenia Baxter of San Rafael, Mrs. Virgie Garcia of Kentfield and Mrs. Joan Prierucci of Fairfax; and six grandchildren.

A Requiem High Mass will be celebrated Monday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael. The cortege will assemble at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Recitation of the Rosary will be tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Keaton's Chapel. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

JAMES WILKINSON

James L. (Roy) Wilkinson, 64, of Alta Road, Lagunitas, died this morning in Marin General Hospital after a long illness.

A native of Mississippi, Wilkinson had owned the Wisler Printing Co. of San Francisco for many years. At the time of his death, he was employed by the Andrews Printing Co., at 1938 Fourth Street, San Rafael. He had lived in Marin County for the past four years.

He was a member of the International Typographical Union and the San Geronimo Community Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife, Maurine; one daughter, Gail Skinrood of Naples, Italy; two brothers, Nat G. Butler of Van Nuys and Warren L. Wilkinson of Dallas, Texas; five grandchildren and one great granddaughter.

CHARLES SMITH

Charles A. Smith, 73, who was badly burned March 28 at his Terra Linda home, died today in a local hospital.

He had lived with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Duckett of 386 Orange Blossom Lane.

Smith was burned when his bed and trousers caught fire as he was sitting on the bed.

A resident of Marin for three years, he previously lived in San Francisco for many years. He was a retired printer. He was a native of Camptonville, Yuba County.

Also surviving is one grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Keaton's, San Rafael. Interment will be in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

CONTRACT DUE APRIL 25

Education Board Opens Laurell Dell School Bids

Robert S. Miller of San Rafael submitted the low bid of $191,777 last night for construction of the new Laurel Dell Intermediate School at Lovell and Bond Streets in San Rafael.

The Board of Education opened eight bids received on the project last night, but postponed awarding a contract until after the bonds are sold April 25. The award will be made at a board meeting that night.

The bids ranged as high as $210,000 from Inland Pacific Construction Co. of San Francisco. The others were between the low bid and $204,000.

The architect's estimate for the school was $190,000—$208,000. The building will have nine classrooms, library and administrative offices.

The board hopes for completion by September, or soon after. Albert Siemer was appointed inspector for the project.

In another matter, the board appointed assistant superintendent Raymond Simpson acting secretary for its organizational meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the board office.

The board, including the new members elected Tuesday, will meet to elect officers, appoint a secretary and set meeting dates.

The new members will be sworn in before the meeting at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Forest Knolls Man Arrested On Checks Charge

Raymond Robert Tokarz, 35, unemployed, was arrested last night at his Forest Knolls home on suspicion of passing a series of bad checks at various grocery stores during the past month.

Assistant Chief Sam N. Serio of San Anselmo said he has five checks passed by Tokarz, drawn on the Fairfax branch of Bank of America. The checks range from $10 to $15 each. Sheriff's Deputies Robert Bertram and Ray Von Savoye, and Serio arrested Tokarz at his home on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Boy 'Shoots' Self With Bullet, Hammer

A 15-year-old boy at St. Vincent's School for Boys "shot" himself in the right leg without a gun Thursday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

William Edward Boyle, a student at the school, hit a .22 caliber bullet with a hammer, according to Deputy Arthur Wiggins. The bullet exploded, and a fragment hit the boy's lower right leg, inflicting a minor wound. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

Tam Juniors Will Attend Boys State

Two juniors from Tamalpais High School were chosen last night to attend California Boys State in Sacramento from June 17 through 24 this year.

They are Lawrence Hamilton, 17, chosen by Mill Valley American Legion Post 284, and Allan Putney, 17, picked by Bolinas Post 529. The two will get an all-expenses-paid trip to Boys State.

Two alternates picked by the American Legion posts are Robert Scott and John Meacham.

Israel Military Aide Arrested As Spy

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Col. Israel Baer, one of Israel's top military experts, has been arrested on charges of spying for the Communists, the government announced tonight.

Officials said American and NATO intelligence services turned up the information that led to Baer's arrest.

Clifford K. Badger, Chairman; Dr. Ellen Binckley, Vice-Chairman

CHAIRMAN WARNS

Increased Cost Seen If School Bonds Delayed

Postponement of the purchase of additional high school sites for the Tamalpais Union High School District—an item included in the proposed three million dollar bond issue on Tuesday's ballot could cost people of the district about $40,000 per year.

This was the warning issued today by Edward W. Colthurst, Corte Madera mayor and chairman of the campaign committee for the bonds.

The proposed bond issue, which goes before the voters Tuesday, includes $604,100 for the acquisition of two sites for future use.

Colthurst said the district bond committee made a recent survey of rising real estate values. It determined that an average 6½ per cent rise in property costs is indicated by experience over the past 10 years.

This would mean the people of the district will have to pay about $40,000 per year "for the privilege of postponing the obtaining of these sites," Colthurst said.

The campaign chairman pointed to the steadily rising costs in Marin County, of labor, materials, and land acquisition.

With the tremendous growth in Marin," acquiring prime or preferred sites becomes increasingly more difficult.

"The fact that these sites are necessary is reasonable and unrefutable . . . ," Colthurst said.

He noted that at the last bond election 60 per cent of the voters approved the issue, but the 40 per cent who turned it down "cost the citizens of this district a total of $40,000." A two-thirds vote is necessary for passage of the bond issue.

"The large property owners of Marin County who understand this situation and who, because of their holdings pay the largest share of the taxes, are unanimous in hoping that this will not be done again," he concluded.

Police Officers Get Diplomas

Michael Berney, Robert Alberigi and Theodore Zink, Sausalito police officers all hired in November of last year, were graduated from the academy.

Officer James Goodwin, hired about a year ago on the Fairfax Police Department, was also graduated from the 14-week police course.

Attempted Murder Charge Dismissed

Charges of attempted murder against Warner Hermann Hauffe, 31, were dropped by Marin Municipal Court Judge Joseph Wilson upon recommendation of Deputy District Attorney Charles Convis, because the complaining witness has disappeared.

Hauffe was accused of attempting to murder William Eagle, 31, of Forrest Terrace, Fairfax, on March 26, with a machete. Hauffe pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court on March 27. The preliminary hearing had been set for yesterday.

PROMOTED—Abel DeHaan Jr. of 701 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, was elected vice president of Tracerlab Corp., President S. S. Auchincloss announced today. DeHaan will continue his responsibilities as general manager of the company's Reactor Monitoring Center in Richmond.

Electronic Engineers Advise College Faculty

Seven electronics engineers from private industry met this week as an advisory committee to College of Marin engineering faculty to determine the needs of the community for trained electronic engineering technicians.

They are Ray E. Brown, Fairchild Semiconductor Corp., San Rafael; William E. Thiele, RCA Communications Inc., Point Reyes; P. W. Peterson, Hughes Aircraft, Hamilton Air Force Base; M. J. Lamperti, Star Delta Electrical Co., San Francisco; John Kaufman, Lewis and Kaufman, San Carlos and Charles Walsh, TV Center, San Rafael.

According to Carlton Cherry, chairman of the engineering, mathematics and science division at the college, the electronics industry will soon need three electronic technicians for every electronic engineer.

"There are immediate openings at excellent starting salaries for well trained technicians," Cherry said. "We think more students should be aware of the fine opportunities in this field."

The college offers a two-year program in electronic engineering technology. Equipment for the student laboratory is being given to the college by Fairchild, RCA and Lewis and Kaufman firms.

The committee will meet again in May to discuss methods of encouraging students in the program.

THERE'S A CLUB FOR YOU

You May Be Fat And Jolly But Do You Eat Too Much?

Fat men, step forward. You're wanted.

You are, that is, if you'd like to get thin.

Overeaters Anonymous, which last year organized an all-female chapter in Marin as result of a story in the Independent-Journal, would like to become co-educational.

Its San Francisco president, who styles himself only "Robert G." in accord with the overeaters' anonymity, today wrote the I-J:

"I am wondering if there may not also be some men in Marin County who also have a compulsive eating problem sericus enough to affect their health. Excessive weight is a bigger killer of men than women; also I believe men are just as concerned about their appearance as women are of theirs. We are not just talking about people suffering from massive overweight problems exclusively, but also those who are only 10 to 15 per cent over their 'fighting weight.'

"I would welcome an inquiry from any man living in Marin County who wants to alter his eating habits in order to lose weight, but has found it difficult if not impossible to accomplish this alone."

The address is Overeaters Anonymous, Room 207, 228 McAllister Street, San Francisco 2.

If enough beefy Marin men sign up, presumably they might pair up with the 12 to 15 Marin women in Overeaters Anonymous who now get together each Monday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael. Together they could enjoy the pleasure of not overeating.

New Montecito Center Building Slated For July

A single-story commercial building now under construction on Mary Street near Third Street across from the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, is expected to be completed by the end of July.

Owner George E. Lefevre, proprietor of George's San Rafael Recreation Parlor, said the structure will be L-shaped with approximately 3,500 square feet of space, partitioned for two stores and two offices. It will be built of Haydite blocks and steel. Off-street parking will be provided for 10 or 12 cars. The building is being constructed by San Rafael contractor Earl L. Ward Jr.

Camera Toll Taker At Bridge?

A Mill Valley man told the Golden Gate Bridge Board yesterday they should consider using a camera instead of a toll taker to collect fares across the bridge.

H. C. Brown, in a letter to Marin director Leland S. Murphy, proposed one lane be kept open in each direction for out of state cars to pay a cash toll, one lane be kept open for trucks, and all other lanes be equipped with cameras which would photograph the rear end of every car passing through the toll lanes.

A bridge employee would then scan the photos, and send a bill to the owner of the car each month.

He said the bridge tolls would be paid much the way a householder pays his utility bills.

The directors laughingly referred the prosposal to the finance committee.

Anderson Slates Marin Visit

Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson will visit Marin Tuesday to speak informally at a joint meeting of the Tiburon Peninsula Democratic Club and the Sausalito Democratic Club.

The meeting will be held in the banquet room at Zack's Restaurant, Bridgeway and Turney, Sausalito at 8:15 p.m.

Anderson will discuss the State Administration's legislative program, the election outlook for 1962, and politics in general.

High School Students Doing Average Work At College

Of 21 Marin County high school students taking regular credit courses at College of Marin, 80 per cent are doing C work or better, midterm reports revealed today.

These students are considered by their high school instructors and counselors as "capable of doing college level work." The program, initiated during the current school year, allows these selected students to take college work in addition to their high school courses.

The students took a total of 27 subjects including mathematics, history, English, French, geology, chemistry, and health education.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, April 15, the 105th day of the year with 260 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1843, Henry James, American and British novelist, essayist and critic was born.

In 1861, President Lincoln sent Congress a message recognizing a state of civil war.

In 1912, the luxury liner Titanic, making its maiden voyage from England to New York, hit an iceberg and sank. A total of 1,517 persons were killed.

Mac Saved By Another 'Bad Pitch'

Mike McCormick has thrown two bad pitches this season. One stuck him with the San Francisco Giants' only loss this year. The other helped him beat the Philadelphia Phils 2-0 last night at Candlestick Park.

Mahaffey ran into trouble early, walking three Giants, including leadoff man Felipe Alou, in the first inning. Alou scored on Mahaffey's only wild pitch.

McCormick didn't allow a hit until Ruben Amaro singled in the sixth. He didn't run into difficulty, however, until the seventh when Tony Taylor and Bobby Gene Smith singled. Ken Walters moved them along with a sacrifice and Pancho Herrera drew an intentional walk, loading the bases.

That's when McCormick got his big break.

Cal Neeman, backing away from a high inside pitch, tapped the ball to McCormick for an inning-ending double play.

"It was a fast ball and a bad pitch," McCormick said later. "I think he was trying to get out of the way of the ball and his bat hit it just enough."

Neeman nodded in the Phils' dressing room.

"I wasn't trying to hit that pitch," he said.

McCormick didn't give up another hit.

He lost the only game the Giants have lost this season on what he calls "one of the lousiest pitches I ever threw." That was when he served up a three-run home run pitch to Bill Virdon of Pittsburgh on opening day.

His "bad" pitch last night evened his record at 1-1.

There was virtually no wind at all in Candlestick Park and the 19,989 fans enjoyed the tense duel.

"That was the nicest weather I've ever played a night game in at this park," McCormick said.

Mahaffey lost a heartbreaker. He gave up just two scratch singles—to Alou and to Ed Bressoud—before Willie Mays scored the insurance run in the eighth inning. Willie belted a 380-foot homer to left field, his first four-bagger of the season.

Manager Alvin Dark credited Willie McCovey with "the best play of the game." It came on Amaro in the eighth. Bressoud's throw was high and wide of first base and McCovey made a fine grab and sweeping tag to nab Amaro.

BIG LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Triplets Sparkle As Twins Triumph

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

What's in a name? They're the old Washington Senators but they've been re-named the Minnesota Twins and it might be more appropriate to call 'em the Cuban Triplets.

It's mighty confusing to baseball fans but no more than to American League rivals who have seen the Twins score victories over the two top-rated teams in the circuit for a 2-0 slate that has earned them a grip on first place.

The Twins, who opened their season with a 5-0 victory over the New York Yankees last Tuesday, made it two straight last night when they scored a 3-2 decision over the Baltimore Orioles. It was Pedro Ramos who tamed the Yankees and last night it was the combination of Camilo Pascual and Zorro Versalles that topped the Orioles.

Pascual sizzled with a 12-strikeout, five-hit performance while Versalles scored the Twins' first run after hitting a double and singled with two out in the seventh inning to drive in the decisive run. The Twins had tied the score in the sixth inning on singles by Lenny Green and Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison's sacrifice fly.

NEAR NO-HITTER

Frank Lary, missing the season's first no-hitter on Jim Lanis' scratch single, pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 7-0 win over the Chicago White Sox and rookie Joe McClain's seven-hitter enabled the new Washington Senators to down the Cleveland Indians, 3-2, in other American League games.

In the National League, a ninth-inning rally gave the Cincinnati Reds a 7-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals and their third straight victory of the season, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-0, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-3, and the Chicago Cubs defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2.

Eddie Kasko singled home the tie-breaking run and Vada Pinson followed with a two-run double for the big blows in a five-run ninth-inning uprising that carried the Reds to their third straight win. Jim Brosnan finished for the Reds but the triumph went to Bill Henry who pitched the seventh and eighth innings. Wally Post homered for the Reds and Stan Musial connected for the Cardinals.

GROAT'S BIG BLOW

Dick Groat's double was the big blow of a four-run third-inning rally which sparked the Pirates to their second win in four games. Joe Gibbon shut out the Dodgers until the eighth inning when Tommy Davis homered. Davis also singled home two runs in the ninth before Clem Labine retired the side. Groat, Roberto Clemente, Dick Stuart and Gino Cimoli each had two hits for the world champions.

Sammy Taylor's two-run ninth-inning homer gave the Cubs' Don Elston his first win of the year and dealt Milwaukee's Bob Buhl the defeat. The Braves had carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth on the strength of homers by Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron.

Boccabella's Homers Win For Santa Clara

SANTA CLARA (UPI)—Santa Clara and UCLA went 14 innings yesterday before the Broncs' John Boccabella ended the proceedings with a three-run homer.

The final score of the 4-hour 40 minute contest was 10-7. The loss knocked UCLA out of the CIBA lead.

Boccabella had a fabulous day at the plate with two homers, a double and single in six at-bats.

EX-HAMILTON GRIDDER HURT IN EXPLOSION

Franklin "Pepper" Rodgers, 29, backfield coach for the University of Florida and a former football star at Hamilton Air Force Base, was seriously injured yesterday in an ill-fated fishing expedition off St. Petersburg, Fla.

He, along with four other Florida coaches, a television executive and the skipper of the yacht "Hi-Way" suffered various degrees of burns and injuries when an explosion rocked the $42,000 vessel and set it afire. The yacht sank in 40 feet of water.

Rodgers was among the more seriously injured, suffering first, second and third degree burns. Last night the hospital report said his condition was "satisfactory."

Hospitalized with him were fellow coach Jim Powell, 39, and TV executive Ray Ellis, 56.

Drake Defeats Marin 2-1 On Malcom's HR

Lee Malcolm's two-run homer and southpaw Dave LeBeck's four-hit pitching yesterday carried the Drake High Pirates to a 2-1 victory over Marin Catholic in their final practice game of the season at Drake.

Malcolm's big blow came in the fourth inning with Larry Kline aboard on an error and gave Drake its seventh victory of the practice season against four losses. LeBeck, who went the distance, improved his personal record to three wins and only one loss as the Pirates look ahead to the opening of the Marin Athletic League round-robin schedule next Tuesday against San Rafael.

Marin's lone run yesterday came when John Odetto was hit by a pitched ball and Ken Bowerman slashed a single to drive him home.

NOVATO LOSES

In another practice game yesterday, the Napa Indians exploded for four runs in the seventh inning to defeat the tough luck Novato Hornets 6-2 at Novato.

Novato got its runs in the fifth inning when Joe Jones singled and Larry Hale homered.

Novato used four pitchers—Sam Young, Ron Grayson, Lu Haas and Don Scribner. Haas was the loser. Novato opens its league schedule Tuesday at Marin Catholic.

The other league opener sends Redwood against Tam at Tam. All games will start at 4 o'clock.

Spider Tries Comeback On TV Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Spider Webb, one-time middleweight contender, shakes off 14 months of ring rust tonight in a comeback effort against tough Dick Tiger of Nigeria.

Tiger, 31, British Empire champion, is a 7-5 favorite although he was outpointed by Webb in London three years ago. The reason is obvious. While Spider, 29, has been gathering rust on his layoff, Tiger has been fighting, winning and improving.

In his last two starts, the muscular Nigerian flattened Wilfie Greaves in nine rounds to regain the empire 160-pound crown and stiffened Ace Armstrong in nine. It was Tiger's third straight victory over Armstrong and the first time the Ace was stopped. No one else has beaten Armstrong. Tiger is ranked third by Ring and No. 5 by the NBA.

Tiger's record is 39-11-2, including 11 kayos. Webb's record is 34-5, including 11 kayos. Neither has been stopped.

Fairfax Woman Wins $150 Prize For Hole-In-One

Mrs. Ted Weitzel of Fairfax will receive a $150 merchandise order for her heroics on the Meadow Club golf course yesterday.

Mrs. Weitzel scored a hole-in-one on the 150-yard 11th hole at the Fairfax course, using a No. 5 iron. The feat was witnessed by Mrs. Paul Hartman Sr.

The merchandise order is a reward from the company that manufactures the ball she was using.

MARIN LEAGUE

Novato, Tam, S.R. Win Track Meets

Novato, Tamalpais and San Rafael high schools' track and field squads ran, jumped and threw their talents to victories over Marin Athletic League opponents in dual meets yesterday.

Tam won two of three divisions with Drake, 65-48 in varsity and 64½-48½ in Class B, but Drake won Class C 43-33.

San Rafael swept all three divisions over Marin Catholic, 82-32 in A, 90-23 in B and 50-25 in C.

Jim Sewell once again paced Coach Ken Ruff's Novato varsity as he won the shot put with 45 feet, 2¼ inches and the high jump at 5-feet-8. He was the meet's only double winner.

High scoring honors of the afternoon went to Tam's Jim Mitchelle with three victories—120 high hurdles, 16.1 seconds; 180 low timber, 21.1 and the broad jump at 21 feet 6 inches.

Mitchelle's teammate, Lon Carter, won both the 100 and 220 sprints. He zipped across the century in 10.1 and the 220 in 22.1.

The meet's only other double winner was Drake's Lou Galetti. He high jumped 5-8 and pole vaulted 10 feet, spending most of the afternoon in the air.

The Class B meet had an interesting sprint dual between Drake's Fred Krug and Tam's Ellis Williams. Krug won the 75 in 8 seconds flat while Williams got some revenge with a beautiful 15.3 clocking in the 150. Fred Harris of Tam high jumped 5-7.

In Class C Drake's triumph was paced by Pete Metz' victories in the 75 (8.4) and the 150 (16.5).

San Rafael's triumph over Marin was paced by Jack Haney who won both sprints, but individual honors once again went to Marin's one-man gang, Rich Ongaro.

Ongaro won both hurdles, 15.9 over the highs and 20.7 over the lows, and tied in the high jump at 5-6.

Haney won the century in 10.6 and the 220 in 23.2.

NOVATO-REDWOOD

Varsity first places—120 H.H., Klapperich (N), 15.8 (stadium record); 880, French (N), 2:05.3; 100, Alesio (R), 10.6; 440, MacLaury (R), 55.; 180 L.H., Piere (N), 21.5 (stadium record); 220, Henderson (N), 23.6; Mile, Kennon (N), 5:02.3; 880 Relay, Novato, 1:37.1; Shot, Sewell (N), 45-2½; Disc, Cook (N), 116.5; High Jump, Sewell (N), 5-4; Broad Jump, Gossing (R), 19-4; Pole Vault, tie—McElroy (N), Kruezberger (R), Frater (R), 9-6.

The Novato Bs and Cs also left their respective Redwood opponents in the cinder dust. The Hornet B team led by Craig Bond beat Redwood, 62 to 42, while the C team put the Giants down 52-21. Bond, for the Bs, set a new stadium record with his running of the high hurdles in 10 seconds. He also tied Rick Basco of Redwood in the low hurdles with 14.8 seconds on the clock for another stadium record.

For the Novato Cs, the stars of the day were Jerry Foster and George Van Dyke. Foster was clocked with a winning 8.6 seconds in the 75-yard dash; 16.8 seconds in the 150-yard dash; and he managed a 16-foot, 5-inch leap in the broad jump.

TAM-DRAKE

Varsity first-place winners: 120 H. H., Mitchelle (T), 16.1; 100, Carter (T), 10.1; 440, Sullivan (D), 52.7; 880, Miller (D), 2:11.1; 180 L.H., Mitchelle (T), 21.1; 220, Carter (T), 22.1; Mile, Ketron (D), 4:57.0; 880 Relay, Tam, 1:36.6; High Jump, Galetti (D), 5-8; Broad Jump, Mitchelle (T), 21-6; Shot, Collins (D), 44-3; Discus, Powell (D), 130-9; Pole Vault, Galetti (D), 10-0.

SAN RAFAEL-MARIN

Varsity first places—120 H.H., Ongaro (M), 15.9; 880, Lathrop (SR), 2:05.6; 110, Haney (SR), 10.6; 440, Henderson (SR), 55.7; 180 L.H., Ongaro (M), 20.7; 220, Haney (SR), 23.2; Mile, Rhoades (SR), 5:21.6; Pole Vault, Shanks (SR), 10-7; High Jump, tie—Ongaro (M), McPhail (SR), 5-6; Shot Put, Nickel (SR), 44-8¾; Disc, McTavish (SR), 127-6; Broad Jump, Wilson (SR), 20-11; 880 Relay, San Rafael, 1:37.6.

The San Rafael Bs whipped Marin Catholic Bs by a huge 90 to 23 margin. Bob Goldstein had a lot to do with amassing points for the Bulldogs as he ran first in the 70-yard high hurdles with 10.2 seconds time; first in the 120-yard low hurdles with 14.7 seconds recorded, and won the high jump by sailing over at 5 feet, 4 inches.

Bob Olsen sparked the Bulldog C club to a 50 to 25 stamping of the Marin C team. The versatile Bulldog won the 75-yard dash in 8.5 seconds and the 150 sprint in 16.2 seconds. Then he walked out to the sandy pit and broad jumped 17 feet, 2 inches for another San Rafael win.

Stilt Tallies 51 In Marin Cage Feature

Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain showed off his amazing bag of tricks last night for the first time before a Marin County audience and led his barnstorming All-Stars to a 112-107 victory over the San Francisco 49er footballers-turned-basketballers in an exhibition game.

The game featuring the Philadelphia Warriors' great 7-foot-2 scoring champ was played at the Redwood High School gymnasium before a crowd of approximately 1,300 fans. About 600 seats were vacant.

Chamberlain was all the fans had heard of him as he scored 51 points, including many on hook shots that swished through from far outside. He treated the crowd to some fancy backwards stuffs and on defense frustrated the 49ers by blocking several shots.

49ER SCORERS

The 49ers made it a close game all the way, and trailed by only 48-52 at halftime. John Thomas, the former College of Pacific star, tallied 30 points for the gridders. Others on the 49er lineup and their scoring were Gordy Soltau 22, R. C. Owens 19, Bob St. Clair 17, Clyde Conner 15, Ed Henke 2, Y. A. Tittle 2. Matt Hazeltine didn't score.

The evening turned out to be an autograph collector's paradise. Besides the "name" athletes who played in the game, two spectators were kept busy signing their names—Jim Brown, the Cleveland Browns' great fullback, and Abe Woodson of the 49ers, a resident of Terra Linda.

The game was prompted by former basketball great Don Barksdale.

Tam, Redwood Swim Teams Defeat League Opponents

Jeff McCreary won two first places, setting a school record in the process, to pace the Tamalpais High School swim team to a 61 - 34 victory over the Drake Pirates yesterday in their Marin League dual meet at Tam's pool.

McCreary churned through the water in the 50-yard freestyle in 24.1 seconds, beating by three-tenths of a second the school record set in 1959 by Gary Dahl. Jeff also picked up a first in the 100 back in 1:04.9.

In Class B competition, Drake's Terry Politi smashed two pool records with great performances in the 100 back and individual medley in times of 1:05.2 and 1:06.3, respectively.

Bill Kelsey of Drake won the 50 and 100 free as the little Pirates prevailed, 49-37.

REDWOOD WINS

The Redwood Giants, meanwhile, were getting on the victory scoreboard with a 67-27 decision over San Rafael, paced by Dick Chambers' victories in the 200 free, 2:08.4, and the 200 individual medley, 2:21.9.

The meet's only other double winner was San Rafael's Lou Yuvan with times of 1:08 in the 100 back and 24.6 in the 50 free.

Shillinger Named Ski Club Prexy

Danil Shillinger of San Anselmo this week was elected president of the Marin Ski Club at its annual election of officers meeting at Brookside School in San Anselmo.

Others elected to the slate were Barry Evergettis of San Anselmo, first vice president; Kick Kure, San Anselmo, second vice president; Cathy Massavelli, San Anselmo, recording secretary; Bobbie Rogers, San Anselmo, corresponding secretary; Joy Best, Kentfield, treasurer; Ron Foster, Novato, housing chairman.

Another highlight of the meeting was the presentation of trophies for the club's recent annual race at Sugar Bowl. Alan Best of Kentfield won first award for men, followed by Scott Watterworth, second, and Ron Foster, third.

For the women, Joy Best was first, Millie Culbertson and Millie Dunshee tied for second and Claire Gannon third.

Archdiocese Teen Mission Set For Marin

It Will Be First For Teenagers CYO Has Held In County

It is for teenagers only and it is the first time it has ever been held in Marin County.

That is how the Catholic Youth Organization describes its Teen Mission to begin tomorrow for Marinites at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael and in other Bay Area cities. The mission in San Rafael will be held from 8 to 9:15 p.m. daily through next Friday.

It will be conducted by Fathers Eugene Zimmers, S.J., and Eugene Schallert, S.J., of the University of San Francisco and will be highlighted by a series of talks each evening on the spiritual and social life of teenagers.

"Do you have trouble getting along with your teachers and classmates? What about your dating life? Have you forgotten about God? Do you sometimes wonder what it really means to be a Catholic? These are some of the questions stated in the announcement of the mission that will be answered and discussed.

Transportation for teenagers from the other parishes of the county to St. Raphael's Church will be provided by the members of the National Council of Catholic Women under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Rasella, 81 Montford Avenue, Mill Valley.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

Registration Still Open For Laymen's School

The first Marin County classes of the Bay Area Laymen's School of Religion were held this week, but it is still not too late to register, said Mrs. Richard S. Harding, a student and resident of 107 Helen's Lane, Mill Valley.

The classes, taught by leading professors in Bay Area seminaries, will be held for Marinites at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo every Monday through May 18.

From 1 to 3 p.m. in Alexander Hall, a class on the "Synoptic Gospels and Jesus" is taught by Dr. Neill Q. Hamilton, professor of New Testament at the host seminary. The class is a study of Matthew, Mark and Luke "as they contribute to understanding the ministry and proclamation of Jesus," states the bulletin.

A 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. class on the "Personal Ministry of the Laity" is taught by Dr. Lyn Elder, professor at Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in Mill Valley. It will be held in Geneva Hall, Room 2, and is described as "a consideration of how the Christian layman can minister to the needs of persons whom he meets in his daily life."

The purpose of the Laymen's School of Religion says Dean Muriel James of Berkeley, is to provide "a systematic comprehensive theological education for laymen." Classes may be audited or taken for credit. Students may register at the class meeting. The tuition fee is $12, states the bulletin. Further information may be obtained by contacting Dean James through the school's Post Office Box 655, Berkeley.

"The Church believes in the 'Priesthood of All Believers,'" said Rev. James. "It challenges Christians to minister to each other and to the world. It implies that they are called to study the Christian faith. With this study the layman will be able to witness more effectively in the Church and in the world."

Arizona Missionaries Will Address Baptists

Rev. and Mrs. Perry Jackson of Cottonwood, Ariz., will be speakers for the missionary emphasis night at the First Baptist Church in Corte Madera tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The Jacksons are missionaries to the Yavapai, Supai, Walapai and Apache Indians in the area.

At 9 p.m., following this service, the West Bay Assn. of the Baptist Youth Fellowship will meet in the church with Rev. J. Bryant Wright, Director of Christian Education and Camping for the American Baptist Union.

Mormon Heads Will Address Stake Meeting

Elder Delbert L. Stapley, a member of the Council of the Twelve Apostles, and Elder Mark B. Garff, a member of the General Welfare Committee, of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) in Salt Lake City, will be the featured speakers tonight and tomorrow at a conference of the church's Santa Rosa Stake.

Conducting the conference will be stake president Weston Lawrence Roe of 278 Alameda De La Loma, Novato.

Sunday's general sessions, to which the public is invited, will be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Veteran's Memorial Hall in Petaluma, announced president Roe.

Saturday, special meetings will be held for priesthood leaders, and local officials of the welfare program at 8 p.m.

Prayer's Power Will Be Lecturer's Topic

The practical power of prayer, base don spiritual understanding of God, will be the topic of a public lecture on Christian Science to be given in Sausalito Thursday by Elbert R. Slaughter of Dallas, Texas.

On nationwide tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Slaughter will speak in the gate Playhouse, 668 Bridgeway, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Sausalito, announced Mrs. Earl James, publicity chairman. His subject will be "Christian Science: Its explanation of the business of living."

Counselor To Speak

Glen Dale Hofstetter, assistant in counseling at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael will be the congregations guest speaker at both tomorrow's 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services, announced Pastor Wesley C. Baker. Hofstetter, who is a senior at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, will speak on "Confidence in Faith and Doubt."

Bartenders Out Front

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Census Bureau figures reveal that the nation has 193,467 bartenders and 167,471 clergymen.

Psychologist Will Lecture

Dr. Aaron John Ungersma will be the guest speaker at the family dinner program at Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church, 100 Tarry Road, San Anselmo, tomorrow at 5 p.m.

Doctor Ungersma is professor of pastoral psychology at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. He did post-doctoral research at Purdue University and at Vienna and from 1944-46 was a navy chaplain in the Seventh Fleet.

Arrangements for the pot luck dinner are being made by Mrs. John Morrison, 11 Van Winkle, San Anselmo.

Around The World

Miss Carol Cleminshaw, a graduate student at San Francisco State, will speak at the Sausalito Presbyterian Church tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Her talk is entitled "Around the World With a Rucksack or Ten Months Abroad on $2,000," announced a church spokesman.

CHURCH WILL MARK 5TH YEAR WITH BANQUET

The Fifth Anniversary of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novato will be celebrated at a 7 p.m. banquet tonight at Rickey's Rancho Raphael in Nicasio.

Guest speaker at the affair will be Rev. Walter Hellman, executive vice president of the South Pacific District of the American Lutheran Church. He will also speak at the church's only worship service at 11 a.m. tomorrow, said Pastor Ole Winter.

A year after organizing, the congregation moved into a new $40,000 sanctuary on South Novato Boulevard, south of Midway Street. Originally the members met at Druids Hall in Novato.

Burglars Break Into Stations

Burglars broke into two service station Thursday, taking four new tires from one station, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputy William Johansen, on patrol about 3:30 a.m. yesterday, noticed a padlock broken on the lubrication room of Wilshire Service Station on Highway 101 near Smith Brothers Ranch. Nothing appeared to be disturbed inside.

However, when owner Gerald Turover investigated this morning, he found four tires gone. They were worth $60.

Joe Horich of Associated Service Station at Point Reyes Station reported that his station was also entered last night. The extent of loss was not immediately known.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

DREAM home for unconventional couple—or with 1 small child! Three bedrooms, 2 baths . . . imported mosaic porcelain tiles. Huge natural lava stone fireplace—natural wood paneling. Hillside with oak trees. View! Decks. Close in to San Rafael, yet with privacy. Not for tract dwellers.
Can arrange any kind of financing, but not for Cal-Vet, VA, or FHA. If you go for the unusual . . . if you are the type that buys sports cars . . . "you'll love it." For sale by builder/designer. $25,350. Shown by appointment only. GL 4-0187.

HILLSIDE, view, sceluded older home, excel. cond. Also extra lot available. $14,750. GL 3-2383.

Japanese Contemporary Hillside Home

NEARING COMPLETION

Unique studio home; ideal for sophisticated bachelor 'pad'—or for 2 men or 2 women. Imported mosaic tile—natural hardwood—fireplace. Has decks off every room. Striking view through 20 foot span of glass, 10' high. Secluded but close in to San Rafael. Not for tract dwellers.
If you have been living in a luxury apartment on Telegraph or Russian Hills; or in Sausalito—this will appeal. Distinctive! Unusual! Way out! and not for "Cubes" (should have a sports car.)
For sale by designer/builder. So buy now if you want some little refinements of your own: in colors, appliances, carpets; and so forth. $20,250. Finance any way you want, but no VA, FHA or Cal-Vet. Shown by appointment only. Call GL 4-0187.

Gagarin's Flight May Be Start Of Something Great

Not since Charles Lindbergh's historic flight across the Atlantic Ocean has a voyage of discovery so electrified the people of the world as that of Major Yuri A. Gagarin, Soviet cosmonaut.

There have been many firsts since that time—first around the world, first around the world non-stop, endurance records, altitude records, and many more.

But Gagarin will join Lindbergh in the select group who broke a major barrier; something more than a new record, the opening of a new field of endeavor.

Of course we are sorry that an American was not the first in space. Yet Gagarin may have made another break through—which ultimately may become even more important than his scientific achievement.

Gagarin may well be the first real Soviet Russian hero who is not a man of war. There have been some others of lesser stature, scientific or political "heroes", or some, like Boris Pasternak, who were not allowed to receive the plaudits of their own people.

But Gagarin is the first to really catch the imagination of the Russian people other than on the battlefield. He was received in Moscow with the enthusiasm of a New York reception — obviously without the ticker tape shower. He was given the nation's highest decoration and, something more — a title.

We are not overlooking the possible disastrous military results for the free world in his exploits. A manned space station which could see the whole world every hour or so, could guide missiles directly to their targets, and keep close tab on major activity any where on the globe, is of inestimable military importance.

But the fact is Gagarin wasn't up there for a military purpose. Like the Wright brothers, it is not his responsibility what foolish men do with his achievement. He is a peacetime hero, a world figure and a source of pride and possessiveness for the Russian people.

They, like we, have much more to lose now. People with something to lose are more conservative.

Gagarin's flight may be more than the beginning of the space age; it could be a small start toward a more secure peace.

Bouquets And Brickbats

BOUQUETS to Angelo Turrini and Mrs. Turrini on the 25th anniversary of the United Ambulance Service. The Turrinis started the service and carried it on for years as a one man-one woman operation around the clock; now it had grown into a major service of which they and Marin can be proud.

A BELATED BRICKBAT to the State Division of Highways (and the County Planning Commission for letting them do it) for destroying the parking lot near Marin Joe's at Corte Madera in the highway widening program, forcing parking on both sides of narrow Meadowsweet Drive, which becomes almost impassable.

A BOUQUET to Mrs. Edna Hammond, retiring as two-term president of the Marin County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, on her national award for service as patient aid chairman for seven years, even while president. It's the first award of its type ever given by the national organization in Northern California. She's still got the job, too.

BRICKBATS to motorists who pause to gawk at others' misfortunes, as when last Wednesday they created a Waldo-to-Alto traffic jam southbound because of accidents in northbound lanes.

A BOUQUET to Assemblyman Bill Bagley for his NO vote against Assembly Bill 289, the Sunday "blue law" which would make it illegal for auto dealers to sell cars on the Sabbath. The measure passed the Assembly without an extra vote to spare. Too bad we have only one Bagley who can vote in the legislature.

A BOUQUET to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on the start of construction of their new $2,400,000 toll center building in San Rafael.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

MORE TO LEARNING THAN MARKS

The scramble for a higher education is becoming so challenging these days that academic achievement alone is no guarantee of admission to college.

This fact was brought out by a spokesman for Columbia College, where four out of every five applicants have no problem meeting the scholastic requirements.

"We shall be seeking students," he said, "who have evidenced a readiness to work hard, to be restlessly curious, to be responsible and to contribute to their school and local community activities."

It is significant that such stress should be placed on hard work, personal responsibility and service to others. They provide the stuff of which any intellectual formation is made.

Add to these the indispensable ingredient of a mature spiritual development, and you have students who will be well fitted for the struggles of life.

Do your part to improve education, as well as seeing that it maintains a spiritual dimension.

"Take hold on instruction, leave it not . . . keep it, because it is thy life."
(Proverbs 4:13)

Help me, O Holy Spirit, to guide young people in their education both for time and for eternity.

END OF DELAYS?

Solons, Kennedy Look Into Regulatory Units

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON (CQ)—Congress and President Kennedy are about to turn their attention to the federal independent agencies, "the headless fourth branch of government."

Their aim: legislation to end the interminable delays in agency decisions and to stop undue outside interference with agency decisions.

A pastel mink coat given to a White House secretary became the symbol of influence peddling and agency favoritism in the 1952 presidential campaign. A vicuna coat given to former presidential assistant Sherman Adams likewise became a symbol of meddling in agency decisions in the 1960 presidential campaign.

Now the time has come for action to try to curb some of these abuses, according to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

ACTION IS IMMINENT on these fronts:

Harris's newly constituted Subcommittee on Regulatory Agencies will launch a series of technical studies to determine how agency operations and procedures can be improved and speeded up. These studies will be done agency-by-agency, Harris said.

The Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure of the Senate Judiciary Committee will make nine legislative recommendations designed to speed up and improve the work of the agencies.

President Kennedy will send a message to Congress on his recommendations to reorganize and streamline the administrative agencies and to submit a code of ethics for federal employees He promised to take such action during the 1960 campaign at a speech before Wittenberg College in Ohio on Oct. 17, 1960.

THE KENNEDY message was originally scheduled to be sent to Congress April 3. But Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.), chairman of the Senate Subcommittee, met with the President March 25 to ask Kennedy to delay the White House message pending publication of the Subcommittee report.

The regulatory agencies are vitally important to the nation's industrial life. For example, the Interstate Commerce Commission regulates the railroads. The Federal Communications Commission licenses radio and television stations. The Civil Aeronautics Board licenses air carriers. The Federal Power Commission licenses hydroelectric projects and regulates the interstate transportation and sale of natural gas.

Other regulatory agencies oversee atomic energy and industrial labor relations, police trade and business practices and the securities exchanges

THE DEMOCRATIC majority of the Senate subcommittee will make nine recommendations to Congress. It would provide penalties for violation of a presidential code of ethics and for the use of improper influence to affect agency decisions. It would set up a White House Office of Administration and Reorganization to keep an eye on the agencies' day-to-day operations. It would provide uniform 10-year terms for members of the agencies, plus increased salaries and pension benefits to attract top men to these posts. It would increase the authority and compensation of hearing examiners to expedite agency decisions. It would protect the public from costly delays in the decisions of rate cases before the FPC. It would expedite the judicial review of agency decisions and make the Conference on Administrative Procedure a continuing body to assure judicial oversight over the agencies.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the ranking Republican on the subcommittee, will recommend 15-year terms for members of the agencies with no rights to reappointment. This recommendation, if enacted into law, would materially increase the independence of the agencies.

World Federalists To Dine, Listen, Dance

By CHAPIN A. DAY

CHIP DAY

A goodly contingent of Marin's chapter of United World Federalists, one of the strongest in the Bay Area, is going to San Francisco next Friday night for the U.W.F.'s 15th anniversary party in the Fairmont Hotel.

It's going to be a dinner-dance affair with a speaker, rather an unusual combination. Cocktails before, of course.

The speaker will be William L. Shirer, a dean of the foreign correspondents and author of the recent successful book on Hitler. His topic will be "Prospects For A Permanent Peace."

The dancing will follow the speech so we must assume that there are prospects.

CONGRESSIONAL Quarterly, the Washington nonpartisan reference agency, has just come up with some interesting figures on how congressional candidates ran as compared with their party's presidential candidate.

Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera was one of the 13 Democrats and eight Republicans who ran 5 or more percentage points ahead of his party's candidate.

Miller had the lowest of all 21 congressmen. While Miller was winning re-election by 51.6 per cent of the vote, Kennedy lost the district by 46.4 per cent, giving Miller a 5.2 per cent bulge.

Best record was by Democrat Harry R. Sheppard of San Bernardino County who, in a county Kennedy lost with 47.5 per cent, won with 66.8 per cent of the vote.

Best Republican was Craig Hosmer of Long Beach who won by 70 per cent while Nixon was winning the district by 53.4. William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, won by 65.3 per cent while Nixon was losing 48.6 per cent.

"Of course I would appreciate it if you'd donate this to the Republican campaign fund," he declared, "but don't you do it. Buy a new hat instead."

Notoriously hatless Jean, was shaken. She was wearing the first new hat she'd purchased in six years.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS are planning a big "Vaudeville Night" at the Sausalito Woman's Club on May 13. There will be eight acts, mostly professional, but David Winslow, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee is on the billboard for "Politics As Seen Through a Tin Whistle," and Gordon Ness, YR president, is billed for "Magic." Coffee, draft beer and pretzels are included in the admission price.

S. F. ASSEMBLYMAN John A. Busterud, mentioned more than casually by Nixon as a man "who ought to be representing you (Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties) in some way or another," could hardly wait to get away from the Nixon reception last Saturday.

He had an appointment with a real estate man to look at a couple houses in San Rafael.

AN ERA ENDED for me this week when Governor Brown signed AB 934 by John M. Kennick (D, Long Beach) into law. It "prohibts persons from riding on a flat bed truck with their legs extending over the sides or rear of the truck bed."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

A Candidate Appreciates Help

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Although I was unsuccessful in my recent bid for the San Rafael Board of Education, I should like to express my appreciation for the equitable news coverage your newspaper gave me.

While I didn't gain a seat on the board, I do, nonetheless, appreciate the many friends made during the course of my campaign, and it was most gratifying to learn that so many of our citizens are interested in this vital activity.

It should be remembered that the management of our schools is everyone's business and that school board meetings are open to the public for their suggestions and criticisms.

I can assure you that my interest in the affairs of our public schools will not terminate as a result of the recent election. It is my intention to do whatever I can towards the improvement of our school system, and I would hope that those who voted for me will join me in this endeavor.

Hopes Beach Won't Be Closed

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I want to thank you for the recent article in the Marin Magazine concerning my work in marine biology. I find great pleasure in going to the seashore with my students.

Also, I have been very aware of the situation concerning the Point Reyes National Park. I certainly hope that it will be a U. S. National Park.

However, I also hope that they will not place a complete quarantine on all of the flora and fauna of the area. There are some U. S. seashore parks in California that have such a complete quarantine, that is where no biological life can be removed. I don't think this will happen to Point Reyes.

Very soon I plan to write a booklet about the seashore life in Marin County with an emphasis on the Point Reyes area. I plan to finish this draft after this summer, find a publisher and then await to see how the Marin residents will utilize the information. I will keep in contact with Ed Neumeier and your newspaper.

Your highlights of "A Century of Service" was very stimulating—keep up the fine work.

Don't Let Senator Sabotage Park

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Please don't let Sen. McCarthy sabotage the Point Reyes park plan. His alternate "for free" park near the bridge idea is excellent. Let's have both.

One has only to read the population statistics and to drive along Highway 1 south of the city to know what can and will happen to our beautiful Marin coast if we do not move to save open land for the benefit of us all, now.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Giant Fans Were Made Happy By Losing That Opener?

When the Giants lost their opener this year, some staunch Giant backers figured their team was off to a fine start.

In past years, the Giants have won their openers, then toward the end of the season lost all their steam. But this year, they figure all is well. Their reasoning: The Giants may be reversing past trends. Let 'em blow a few of the early games, then gather up steam midway and come roaring in strong down the home stretch.

It's definitely spring now. Even the well-timed Soviet space flight failed to knock baseball completely off the front pages, although the feat did as well as any single event will ever do to overshadow the opening of the baseball season.

IT'S JUST ABOUT the time of year again when we have to start worrying about turning our clocks ahead an hour.

But don't lose any sleep over it yet. Because daylight saving time won't be coming until the last Sunday in April. That's two weeks off yet.

ELECTION RESULTS in San Rafael this week really fooled a lot of the experts. But one thing is certain. Voters in town really know how to elect a balanced team.

For example in the school board contest, their first choice was a man who campaigned on the premise that the present schools were in excellent shape.

So, to get some variety on the board, they figured their second choice should be a woman attorney who has been one of the severest critics of the present school setup. Sort of balances things, you know.

YOU'VE ALL heard of the John Birch Society. But have you heard of a new group whose name has been springing up in the best coffee houses in town.

It's called the John Buresh Society. Buresh, well known San Rafael lawyer, had this to say when we approached him the other day:

"Our only purpose is to collect dues, and I'm the treasurer. You wanna join?"

TOP AWARD to the jury with the best audience-participation rating this month goes to the one that heard the bigamy case.

Jurors not only were attentive throughout; they raised their hands, quizzed the witnesses, and even had the prosecutor and defense attorneys on the run with final arguments of their own. Better than any TV show we've seen.

That was the conclusion reached by a local laundry machine owner when he opened up one of his machines to gather up his week's receipts.

Out dropped dozens of two-centavo coins, about the size of quarters.

A MOTORIST must have been in an awful hurry on Fourth Street the other night. He called police to report a drunk draped over the hood of his car.

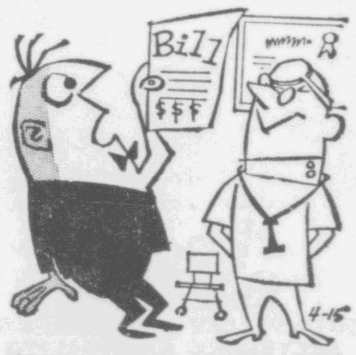
When police arrived, the car was gone, but the drunk was happily wrapped over the parking meter.

Officers reasoned that the driver had undraped the man from his car and carefully deposited him against the meter so as not to awaken him.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

The wife of a rather stingy manufacturer was constantly griping about her ailments, so when a famous French physician came to America for a visit, the manufacturer reluctantly allowed her to put herself under the Frenchman's care.



He cured her, too—or at least so she claimed—but then he rendered a bill that sent the manufacturer howling piteously into the night. "This bill," he accused the physician, "is bigger than the total cost of D-Day!"

Fighting Hub Fires Has Been His Life

Nello Marcucci Still Thrills To The Clang Of Engines

AT HIS DESK in his office in San Anselmo's main fire station, Nello Marcucci, the Hub City fire chief since 1930 and a member of the fire department for 43 years, checks over some departmental reports. San Anselmo's fire insurance rating climbed from eighth class to third class during the first 10 years of his leadership, and he has continued to work for better fire protection for the citizens of his city. (Independent-Journal photo)

By WAT TAKESHITA

Most boys thrill to the sound of clanging fire engines and helmeted firefighters racing to a blaze.

Nello Marcucci of San Anselmo was no exception. But, where it is just a passing fancy for most, Nello made it a career.

Now at age 62, Fire Chief Marcucci is goin into his 44th year as fireman for the Hub City, and his 31st year as its chief.

"Firefighting has been my whole life," says Marcucci simply "That's all I know."

He is a man of few words, but the record speaks for him. When he took over the department in 1930, San Anselmo was an eighth class community in the eyes of the fire underwriters. About 10 years later, San Anselmo's fire rating was up to third class, the first fire department in Northern California to be given that rating.

HIS EARLY training as electrician came in handy during those uphill years. Marcucci and his men built their own fire alarm system and alarm board and improved the water system.

Disasters by fire have been few and far between. During World War II, a shack with tarpaper insulation caught fire, taking a shipyard worker and his family. A woman suffocated from fumes one night in a small fire that was confined to her room on Rosemont Avenue.

Potentially the most dangerous was the fire that gutted a heating and sheet metal firm at the Hub intersection about 10 years ago. No lives were lost, but it was touch and go all the way as firemen battled to keep flames from igniting service stations and a garage that surrounded the burning building.

In the 1920s, Sunny Hills orphanage was plagued with a series of fires, sometimes two or three times a day. Eventually the boys' dormitory and the main building were destroyed by flames, but all occupants got out safely. A man in charge of the dormitory was believed to be the firebug who set the fires. He was never convicted, but Chief Marcucci personally saw to it that he got on the ferry at Sausalito never to return.

Otherwise, San Anselmo has been a relatively fire-free city since the horse and buggy days of 1917, when Marcucci first joined as volunteer.

Born in Italy in 1898, Marcucci moved to San Francisco when he was 2 years old. His father was a rancher, but Nello's first love, ever since he can recall, was tagging along with the firemen.

IN 1916, he moved with several buddies to a rented home next to his present residence at 160 San Francisco Boulevard.

In those days San Anselmo had a two-horsepower wagon, drawn by two horses called Major and Colonel. The Major knew each of the 13 alarms by ear. As soon as an alarm rang, the Major would head straight for that particular alarm box.

Trouble was, Major knew the 5 o'clock whistle just as well. Marcucci recalls he was working with a street crew repairing a culvert. They were working away as the 5 p.m. whistle blew. When they looked up, Major was already headed down the street toward the firehouse.

In 1916, the growing city went motorized with a White truck known as a "hose and chemical wagon."

In 1923, Marcucci became assistant chief under the late Chief Charles Cartwright. When the chief became semi-retired in 1930, Marcucci had a choice of becoming police chief or fire chief. He stuck with fire, and Donald T. Wood came in as police chief.

As a one-man fire department, supported by volunteers, Chief Marcucci recalls working round the clock for six months straight without a day off. Then he eased up to a six-day week.

Marcucci married a San Anselmo girl, Helen Locati, in 1926. They have lived in their present home ever since.

Eldest son, Robert, 22, is already carrying on the firefighting tradition started by his father. Robert is a San Rafael fireman. The other other boy, Marty, 21, is attending College of Marin. He, too, wants to be a fireman, probably in some other department.

Both sons already have long experience in fire fighting. As toddlers, Bob and Marty would jump in the father's car to give him moral support at every fire. One day, Chief Marcucci laid down the law. They must not ride with him. "Okay," said the boys.

But at the next fire call, Marcucci noticed both boys were at the scene just about the time he got there. He couldn't understand how they made it so fast. Finally dad caught on. The boys were jumping into the back seat and lying low until the chief reached the scene and got out. Then they'd scamper out the other door.

For the last 20 years Marcucci has hammered away for a second firehouse at the west end of town. Today, about two years away from mandatory retirement, Chief Marcucci has seen his dream come true.

The city's second firehouse at Butterfield Road and Arroyo Avenue was just dedicated.

Marcucci's department now consists of 16 firemen and Assistant Chief Frank Souza. The two horsepower unit in the days of Major and Colonel has grown to a six-unit department. The city has a 750-gallon pumper, a 600-gallon pumper, one rescue truck, a four-wheel drive power wagon, an International pickup, and a 1,000-gallon pumper which belongs to State Civil Defense.

The veteran fire fighter does not seem to relish the idea of retirement. He'll become 65 in June of 1963. "Just two years and three months," he says a little wistfully. "I have to retire, you know."

A man of few hobbies, Chief Marcucci explains he just did not have time for avocations. He used to play sandlot baseball, but beyond that, his whole life was fire fighting.

But as he nears retirement age, Chief Marcucci has bought himself a 32-foot cruiser docked at San Rafael Yacht Harbor on Francisco Boulevard. "It needs a lot of work on it yet," he points out. Some of his spare time is now spent on the boat. But he seems to be in no hurry to get the work done.

After all, it won't be easy to swap his fireman's hat for a skipper's cap after nearly a half century of firefighting.

WHEN NELLO MARCUCCI first came to the Hub City in 1916, this was San Anselmo's sole protection against fires. Chief Charles Cartwright and his volunteers rode a carriage behind two thundering "horsepowers," Major and Colonel. It was shortly after this picture was taken that Marcucci joined the department as a volunteer.

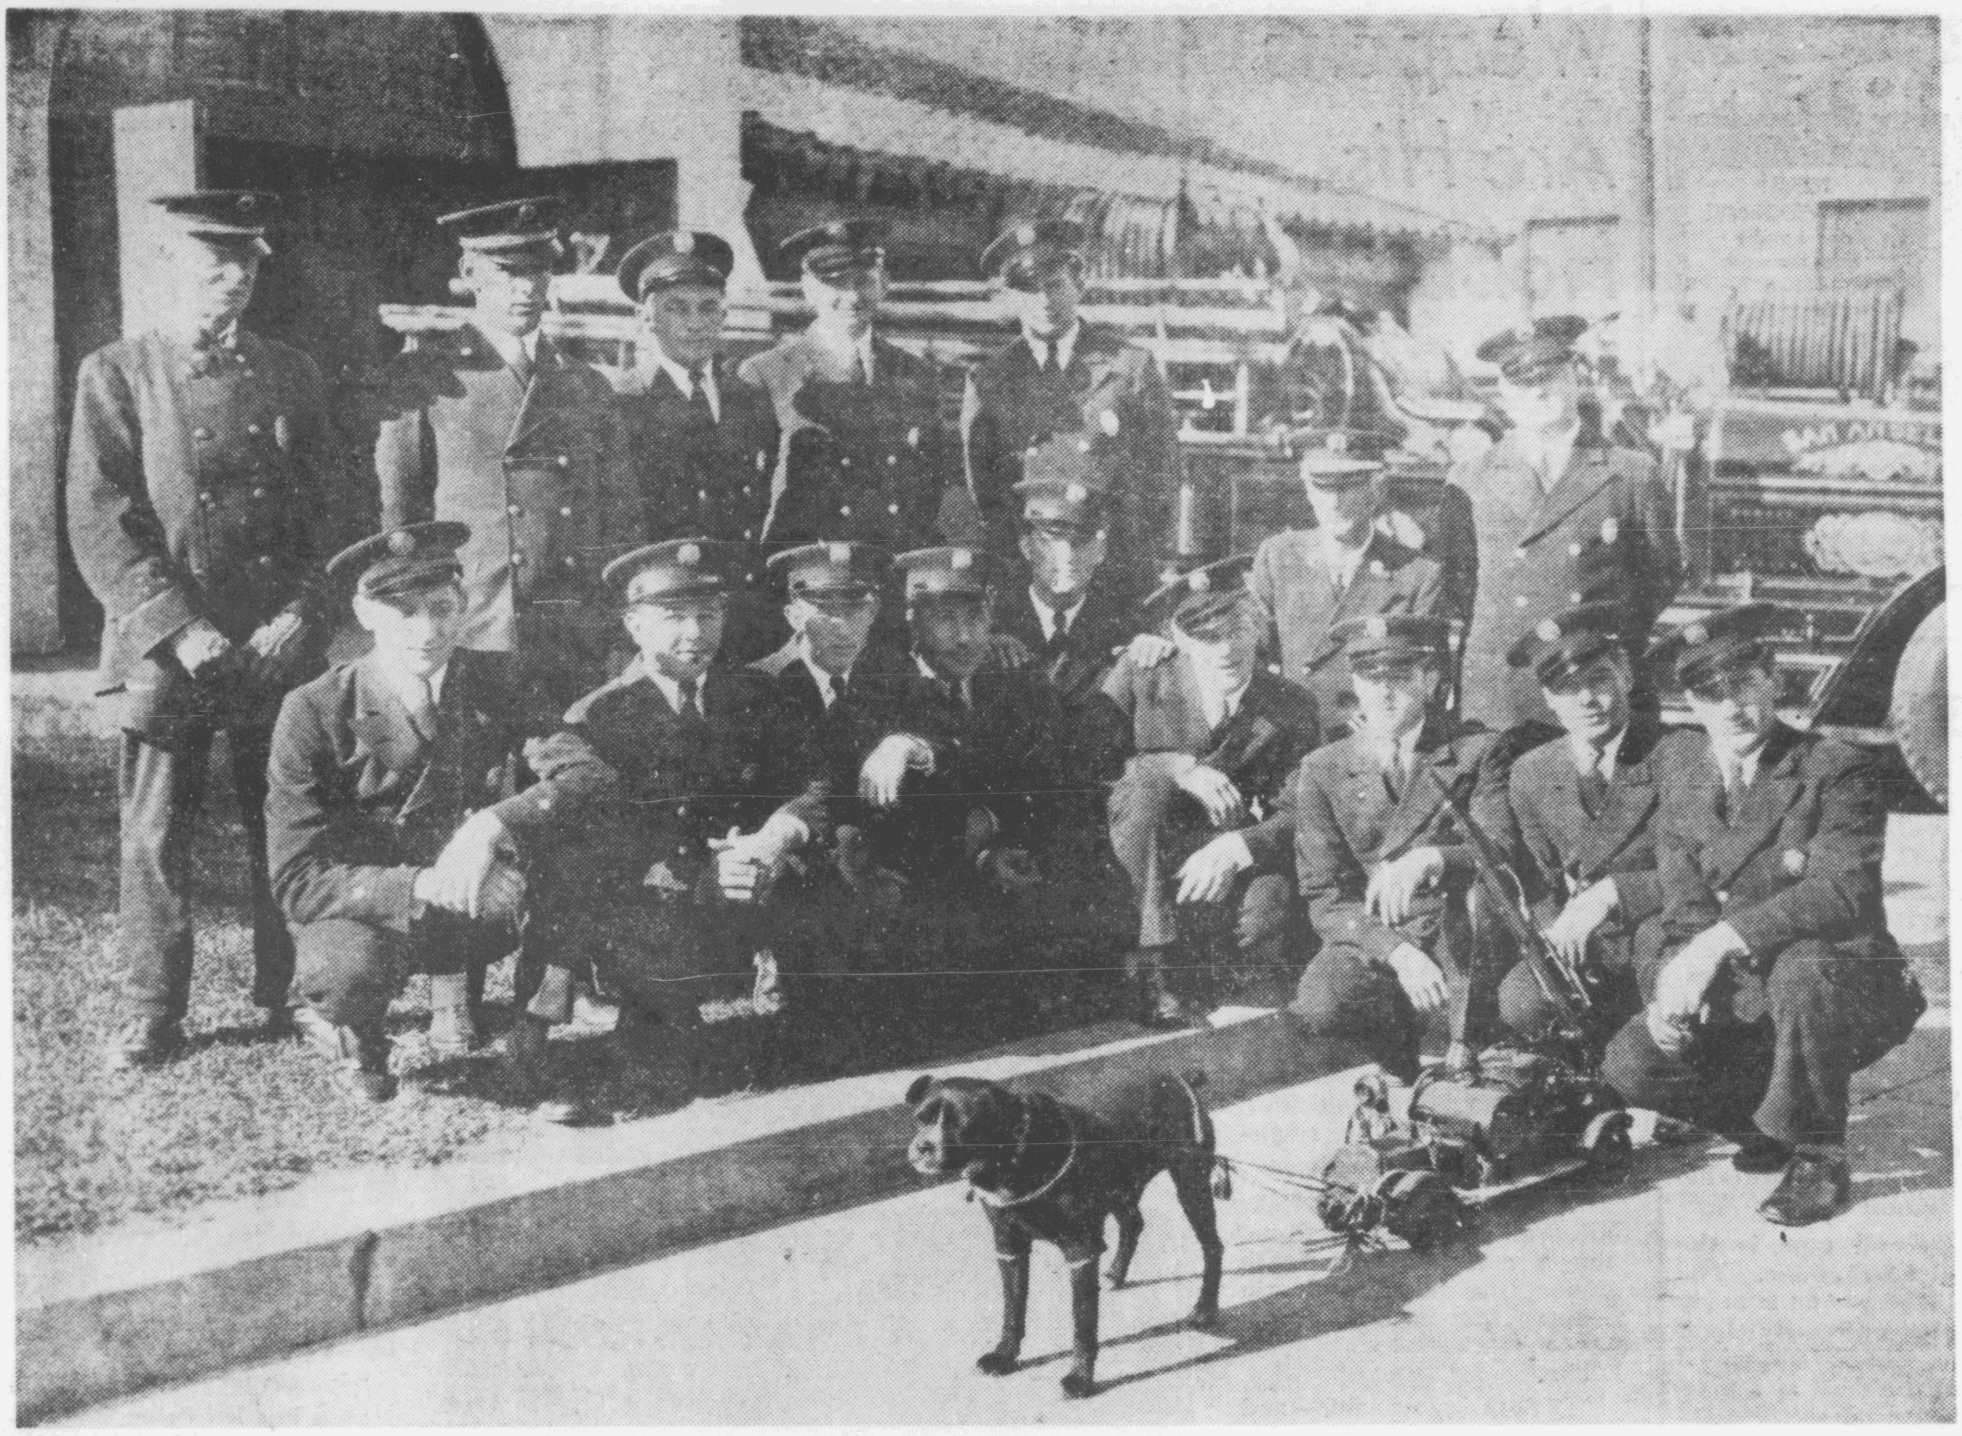
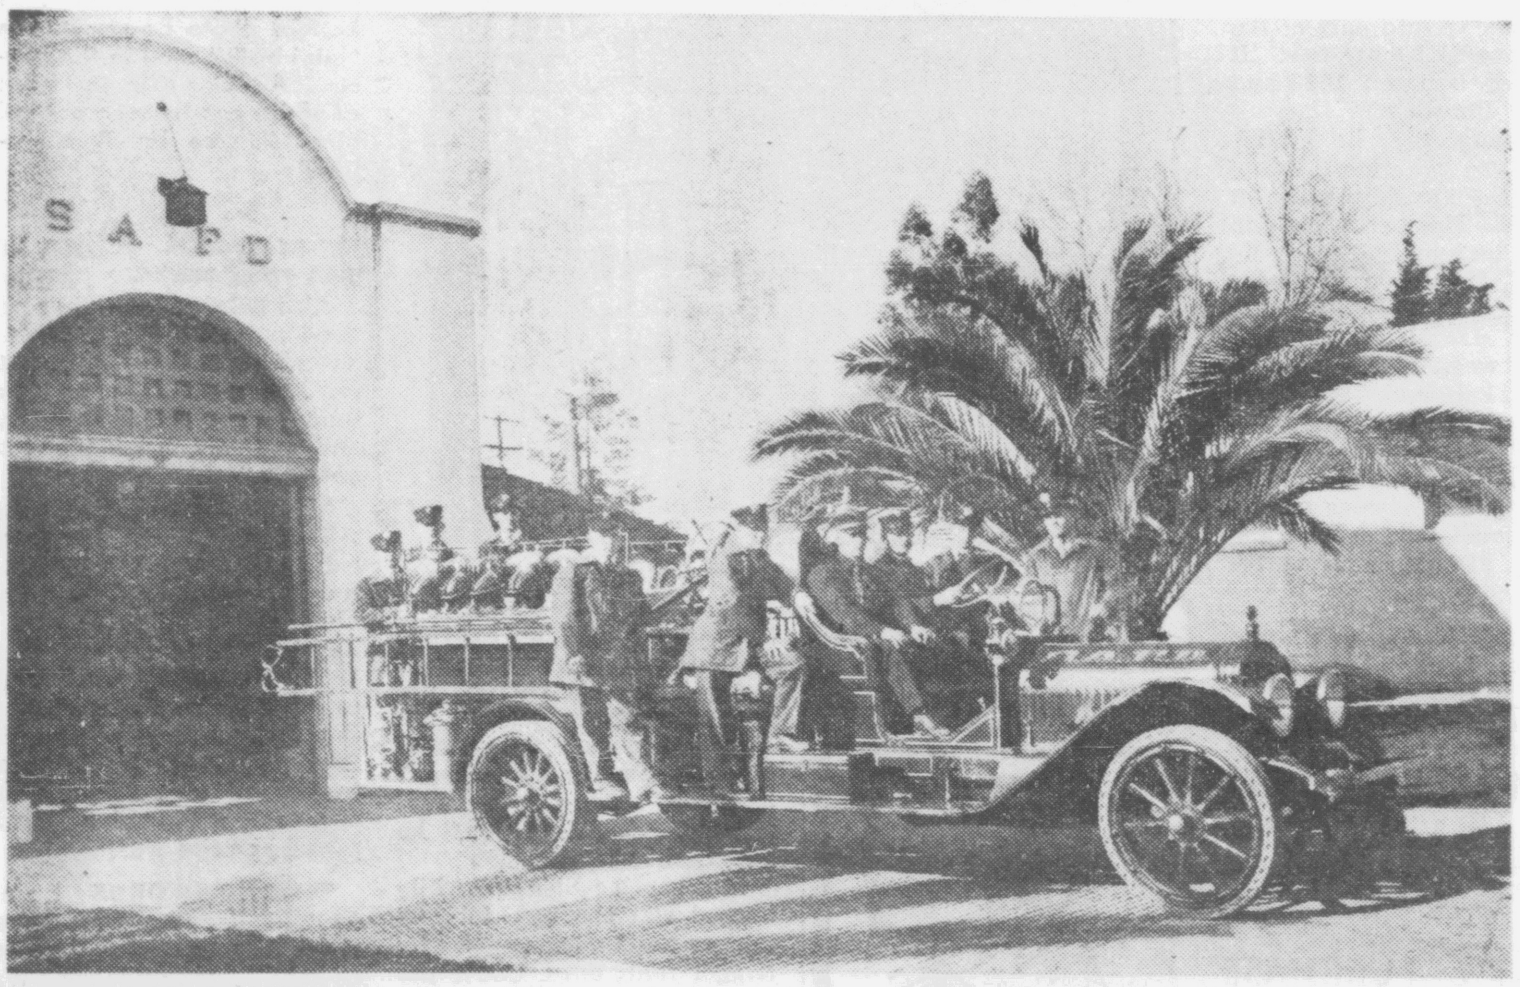
BACK IN 1925 Nello Marcucci was not only San Anselmo's assistant fire chief, but he worked for the police and street departments and the city clerk's office as well. "I was also the dogcatcher," he recalls. This photo shows him at one of his roles at that time—that of a mounted patrolman.



MORALE WAS HIGH and the uniforms natty back in the early 1930s when this photograph was taken. All the firemen were volunteers, but they showed up in full force on fire calls and for parades. Here the uniformed firemen posed with their mascot who had pulled the model fire engine in a parade in which he had just participated with the volunteers. Nello Marcucci is second from the left in the back row. To his right is the late Chief Charles Cartwright.



THINGS WERE REALLY rolling in 1916 when the San Anselmo fire department advanced from hooves to wheels with the purchase of the first fire truck. There was no flat tire problem. The tires were solid rubber. The city's fire department has since grown to six modern moving units and two fire stations.

STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

Last week's article explained the crystal and ceramic microphonts. The ceramic, although it has the same characteristics as the crystal, is not affected by temperature and humidity and is therefore preferrable in hot humid areas.

The second type is the Ribbon microphone. The ribbon microphone is made up of an extremely light metallic ribbon suspended between the ends of a magnet. The sound waves striking the ribbon cause it to vibrate. The vibrations effect the magnetic field in such a way that voltage is produced in coils wound around the magnet. This type of microphone is bi-directional; that is, it picks up sounds from the front and rear of the mike and is less sensitive from the sides. The disadvantages are that it is extremely sensitive to shocks such as touching the mike, it is sensitive to wind noise when outdoors, and it has a barrel-like quality when one speaks too closely to the mike. The ribbon microphone produces a very smooth life-like quality. Because of the disadvantages mentioned, the ribbon mike does not lend itself for general work and is therefore not commonly used.

The third type is the Condenser microphone. The Condenser mike uses two thin metallic plates very close together, but not touching each other, as the pickup unit. The sound waves striking one of the plates causes it to swing closer and farther away from the second plate. This action changes an electrical characteristic called capacitance. The capacitance change is converted to electrical energy by means of electronic equipment built into the microphone head.

Next week I will continue with the characteristics of the Condenser microphone.

Weapons Are His Hobby

Antiques and antique collecting are currently in the limelight in Marin, what with the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale scheduled to open for four days Thursday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

The collectors preparing for the event are to be found in all the communities of Marin, in all its professions and in all age groups.

His collection of antique guns began with a weapon given him on Christmas in 1957. His parents, having seen advertised for sale a collection of guns used in movie-making, wrapped one up for Peter and the collection fever started. It was an Austrian army rifle, made around 1881, and is a heavy caliber single-shot longarm.

VISITING Peter in the Behr Mill Valley home, we found him a self-possessed eighth grader (he attends Marin Country Day School), articulate and enthusiastic about his hobby.

"The most valuable—and my favorite—weapon is this percussion plains rifle." He took it down from the rack and displayed its features with pride.

"It's a real work of art. A .45 caliber counterpart of the long graceful Kentuckies. It was made between 1845 and 1850 by Blairdow."

Knowledgeably, he added, "These are the finest examples of the gunsmith's art in the West. This particular one doesn't have one place on its 54 and 3/16-inch barrel where it's not artistically done."

Other statistics about this favored weapon are that its 36 and 11/16-inch barrel can be detached by removing the barrel bands and moving it upward. It's complete with a bullet mold, a powder pouch, bullet pouch and a belt for holding all these accoutrements.

A SUMMER trip to Europe furthered his collection. While the Behrs were in London, he picked up a tiny eight-inch saluting cannon, made in 1810, at the Caledonia Market (formerly the Thieves Market). One has the feeling that Peter allows its current use as a decorative piece in the Behr living room (away from his collection) only because it is not a legitimate weapon. "It's in firing condition," he admits, however.

Another acquisition while abroad was the rare folding-trigger percussion pistol. Its trigger folds down under the gun, explains its owner, so that it will not become entanged with the clothing while being withdrawn from the wearer's pocket. It bears Belgian proof marks.

Also Belgian is another percussion pocket pistol with a .50 caliber muzzle-loading percussion cap. It has silver inlay on the back of the grip and a 3 and 1/16-inch octagonal barrel.

"Here are two single-shot rifles," pointed out our young collector. "One is a Remington Rolling Block Saddle Carbine, made in 1867, and a Russian Berdan II, made in 1880. And this one," indicating a Swiss Veller II, "has the distinction of being the first repeating rifle to be officially adopted for military use. It's a 10 and a fourth-pound rim-fire weapon."

THREE SWORDS hang from his bedroom wall. They are a French sailor's cutlass of the Revolutionary War period, a French dueling sword with a solid gold hilt (this one has undoubtedly seen much action, Peter informed us) that is profusely engraved and a Spanish calvalry sword, made in 1881.

Able to take his weapons apart and put them back in the intended order, Peter has learned, along with this mechanical instruction, a real appreciation for history. "It certainly makes studying history far more interesting," he said.

AS RECENTLY AS 1954 when this photograph was taken by John A. Starkweather, the Dixie School District was a one-school district. The original Dixie School at 4775 Redwood Highway housed 23 pupils. Mrs. Josephine Leary, the teacher at the time, stands at the entrance. She now teaches at Santa Margarita School in Terra Linda, one of five schools now in operation in the Dixie district. The building seen here is still in use, housing administrative offices and the school board meeting room.

THE DIXIE DISTRICT AND HOW IT GREW

Certainly Marin County's fastest growing school district and very possibly the fastest growing in all of Northern California is the Dixie School District covering the Santa Venetia-Marinwood area.

Back in 1954 it had only a single schoolhouse, and that a one-room frame building. Today it has five modern school plants with construction to start soon on a sixth. And with the population continuing to soar, the end is not in sight.

Next Tuesday the voters of the Dixie District will be asked to approve at the polls acceptance of a four million dollar state loan so that their school system can continue to keep pace with its enrollment growth.

Part of that loan, if it is approved by the voters, will go toward financing additions to existing schools.

But a large slice of the monies would be earmarked for three more new schools, the need for which is already apparent. One will go up in Terra Linda Valley on property already owned by the district. Another is proposed for seventh and eighth graders in Marinwood. And yet another will be needed in Lucas Valley on a site yet to be acquired.

But even that is not the end.

The district expects to use still more of the money to acquire sites for two more future schools in addition to the five now in use, the one soon to be under construction, and the three future buildings which would be financed under the state loan.

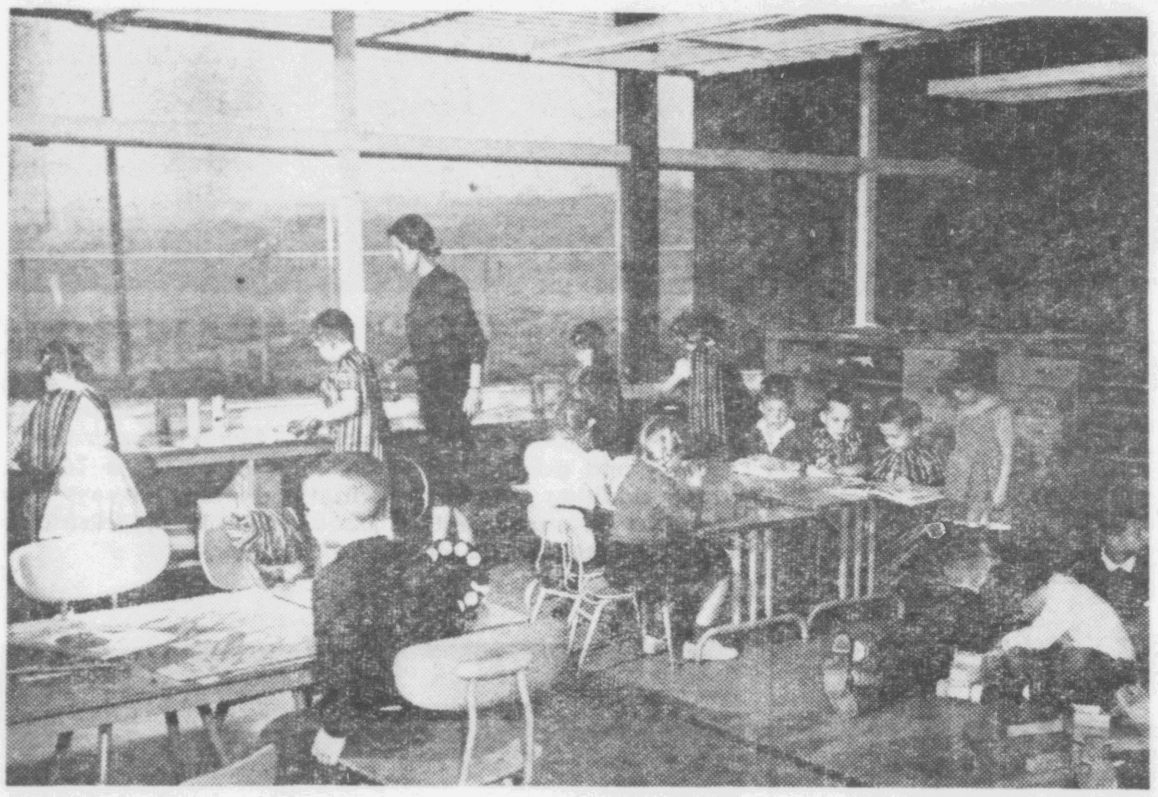
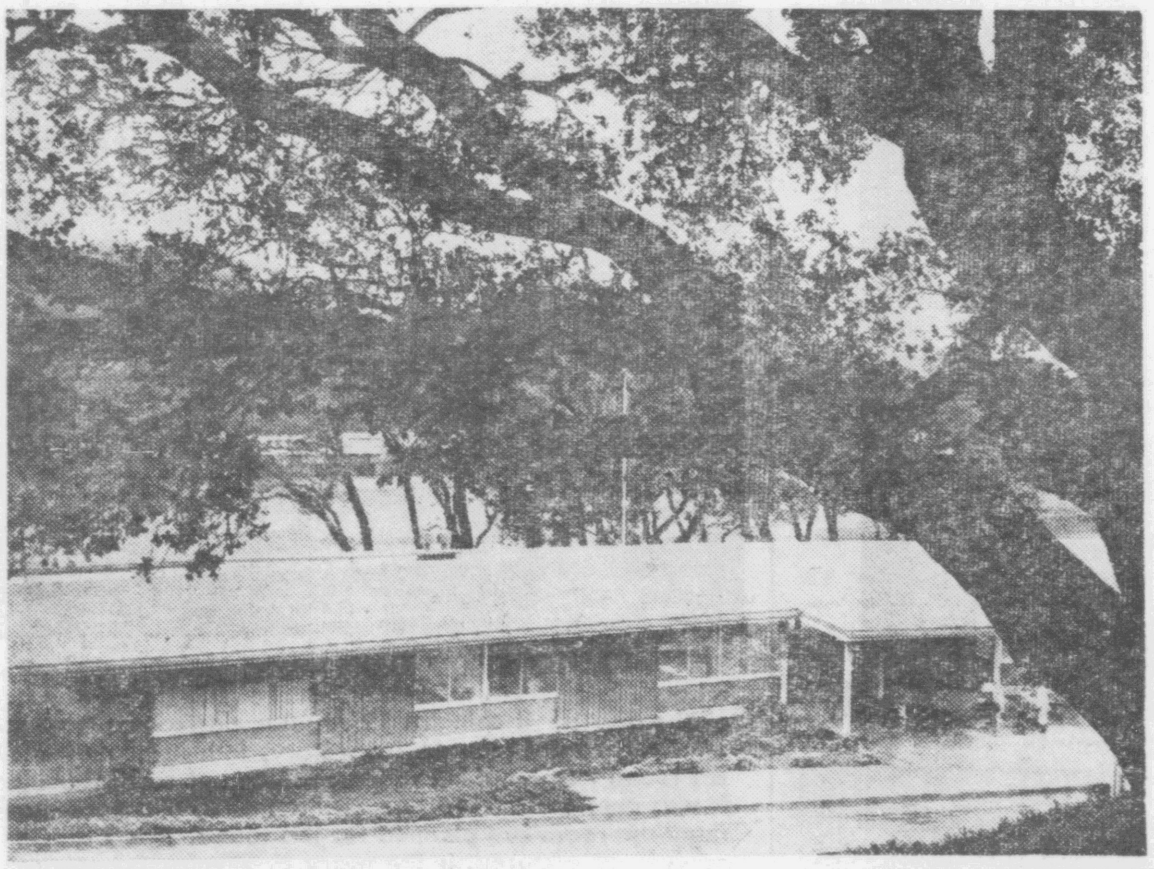
THE BERNARD HOFFMAN Elementary School in Terra Linda was the first school to be built in the Dixie District following the original one-room schoolhouse. The Hoffman School opened in October of 1955. Additions were made in 1956 and 1959. It now contains 15 regular classrooms, two kindergartens, a library, a multi-purpose room and administration offices. Here we see the sixth grade classroom taught by Victor Piltch.



SANTA MARGARITA School in Terra Linda opened its doors to pupils in February of 1958, and additions were built later that year and in 1959. It now contains 12 regular classrooms ,two kindergartens (one of which is shown here), and an administration area. Six additional classrooms and a library are now under construction. Connie Davis is the teacher of this kindergarten class.



LUCAS VALLEY Elementary School was put into use in September of 1959, and the building was enlarged in 1960. It contains 10 regular classrooms, one kindergarten and an administration office. Plans are to add eight regular classrooms and two kindergartens, with the space now used for kindergarten to become a library.

THE FACULTY of the Dixie District schools has now grown to 93 teachers. They presently instruct 2,240 pupils in the five schools built during the last six years. A sixth school —Don Timoteo—will be under construction soon. Originally to house eight classrooms, two kindergartens, a library and administrative facilities, plans for a 16-classroom addition are already in the works. Surveys have forecast an enrollment of 5,350 pupils in the district by 1965. (Photos by John A. Starkweather)

THE VALLECITO SCHOOL is the newest of the Dixie District schools, and serves the seventh and eighth grade children of the district. It contains 12 regular classrooms, two science classrooms, science laboratory, industrial arts shop, art room, homemaking room, library and administration. It was opened in 1960. An additional 10 classrooms and multi-use room are planned for the future. The fifth Dixie school, not pictured, is the Mary E. Silveira School, completed in 1956, and enlarged in 1957. It contains 16 regular classrooms, two kindergartens, a library and administration offices with a multi-use room planned for the future.

In Japan, The Key Word Is 'Shibui'

It's An Adjective Denoting 'The Ultimate In Beauty,' And It Applies To The Authentic Oriental Garden

By DOLLY ANDERSEN

The history of Japanese gardening may be traced through the cultural and aesthetic development of the life of the Japanese. As long as 1,500 years ago Japanese civilization was first affected by the older civilizations introduced from Korea and China, whose architecture and gardening were highly developed arts. The philosophy of Zen Buddhism and the tea ceremony also contributed

During the Chinese influence designs varied. Generally they represented field and coast. Rigid restrictions were observed in the shape and size of stones, their aspect, and the direction of the stream. A stream was not considered good unless it flowed from east to west, or from north to south. It was believed that east was the source of purity, and west the outlet of all impurities.

The philosophy of the positive and the negative had its influence in fixing the details of garden design. This influence has been carried down to recent times. In flat gardens only stones and trees are used, also white sand. This idea was apparently borrowed from the art of bonseki (tray landscape) which was popular among the nobles.

GARDENING progressed through 1392 to 1615 when the grand scale of architecture was introduced and the general tone of gardens was transformed from repose (characteristic of Zen Buddhism) to color and vigor. Huge stones and bold plants were used. The tea ceremony was introduced in gardens of unadorned simplicity, with elegance refinement and a certain repose. In response to the requirements of the tea ceremony, the stone lantern, the water-basin, stepping stones and steps became the leading features in garden making. These original practical features gradually found their way into ordinary gardens as ornaments.

In 1603 in the Edo period, the "stroll" garden was introduced because of the necessity of coordinating the various structures used for the tea ceremony. In the making of paths the selection and arrangement of stepping stones or pavement was made to suit the location and to present an equally appealing effect from any vantage point.

No gardens in the world can surpass those in Japan. Their charming serenity is highly condusive to peaceful relaxation. There is beauty everywhere in Japan, even in the commonplace. Beauty, in its many forms, has preoccupied the Japanese people to a degree unmatched in history. So it is only reasonable that they should have arrived at a deeper grasp and penetration of what comprises beauty than has been achieved by other cultures less dedicated. An exacting standard of perfection has prevailed for at least 10 centuries. This is the most valuable lesson to be learned from Japan. If we can look at beauty as they look at it, we can enlarge our own understanding enormously.

THE KEY WORD is shibui, an adjective that denotes the ultimate in beauty. The first element is simplicity, the second depth, the third modesty or humility, the fourth silence, the fifth naturalness, the sixth normalcy, and the seventh emanating from normalcy is coarseness or roughness (without a gaudy covering).

Both Japanese and Western gardens use the fundamental elements of natural beauty in their landscape design. Western gardens are usually characterized by the use of lawns and flower beds, while the Japanese garden is actually a re-creation of nature in exaggerated form on a reduced scale, similar to the manner in which a painter interprets an extensive view on his canvas.

It may prove interesting to discover that the divisions and features of Japanese gardens, such as the shape and color of the trees, stones, water, hills,

That garden is now well established.

The designer was Sakari, a Japanese philosopher, who used native Japanese plantings as well as Ishi toro (Japanese ornaments and stones).

THE USE OF NATURAL stones at which the Japanese are so adept is immediately noticeable in the Pomeroy garden. The irregular steps are still another eye-catching feature. And note the detail of the stone lantern.

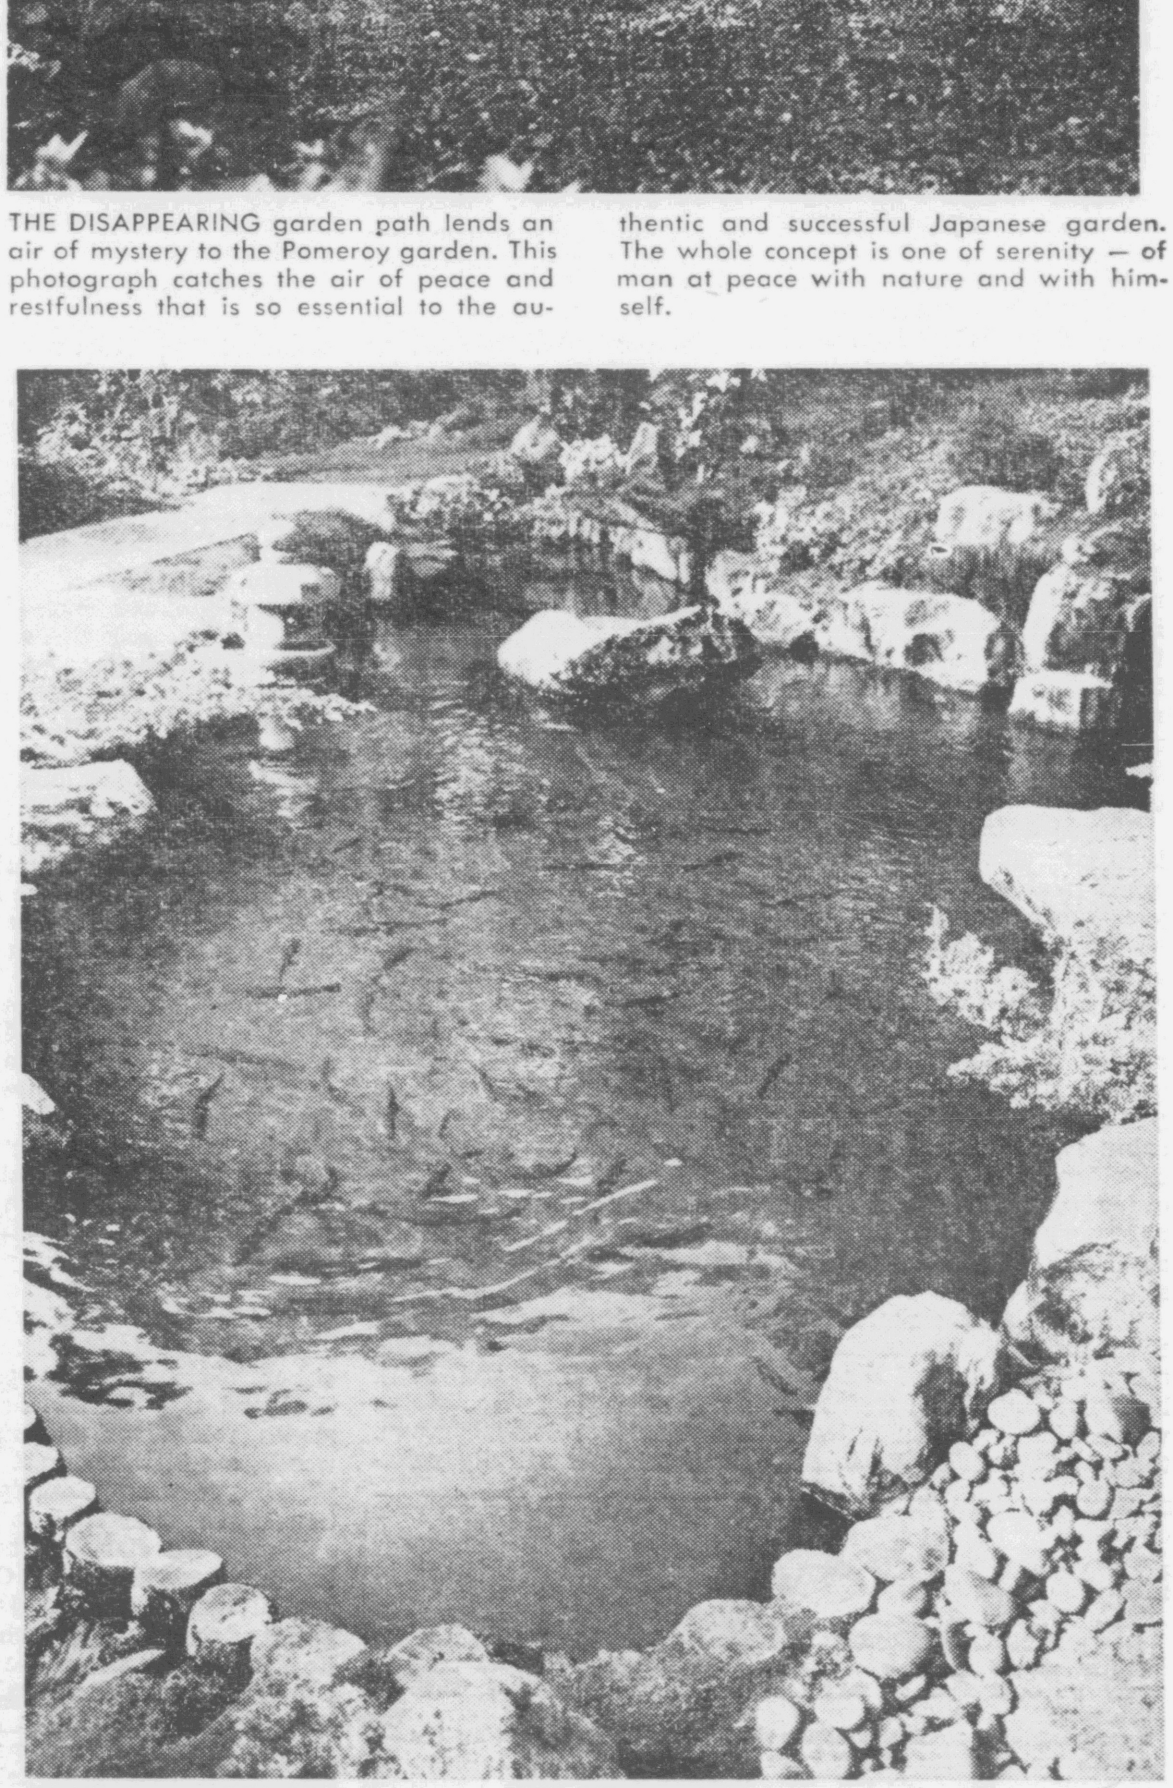
Flowering cherry trees are used and some of the native plants have been trained to lend themselves to the Japanese atmosphere.

Bamboo has been tastefully introduced at strategic points, in the Japanese manner, and there are several bridges, a tiny bamboo fence alongside one of them. The patio floor is constructed of a combination of large Japanese slate colored stones imbedded in cement, complimented by small stones in a pleasing pattern.

The Pomeroy home, built by a Captain Harrison in 1871-72 and after whom Harrison Street at the other extremity of San Carlos was named, can be reached by taking Bridgeway to Caledonia at which point San Carlos takes off to the right up a steep hill.

The Pomeroy garden will be one of six such beauty spots to be included in the Garden Society of Marin's garden tour next Saturday.



THE DISAPPEARING garden path lends an air of mystery to the Pomeroy garden. This photograph catches the air of peace and restfulness that is so essential to the authentic and successful Japanese garden. The whole concept is one of serenity — of man at peace with nature and with himself.

Japanese Gardening: Beauty And Serenity

and fences, have an individual character and artistic beauty of their own, and that they have been selected under definite rules, always in line with the general harmony of the whole.

The garden as the visual wall of the room is a relatively new idea in America, but it is at least 1,000 years old in Japan. The sliding walls are put away in summer, so the garden truly becomes part of the house.

The Japanese try not to show everything from one spot, creating mystery, and stimulating imagination. Each view withholds some part of itself from revelation. The garden path turns, disappearing behind hillock, rock, or shrub. Every device is used to preventy our eye from coming up against a finality. Man and nature, working in close harmony, produce a beauty not otherwise possible. Man has crafted a handwashing bowl, placed it in position, and has arranged stones around it, but nature adds the patina to the bowl, the aging lichen and the curve of the fern, without which the arrangement would be an intrusion.

PONDS AND lakes are carefully designed to make the most of sky and garden reflections.

The Japanese create the smallest gardens in the world. In as little as 40 inches of space a garden is sometimes created by skillful and artistic use of a few rocks, gravel, a few shafts of bamboo, a little water, and perhaps a shrub. Sometimes reed curtains are used to give an illusion of space. Other techniques include dwarf plants, highly developed scaling, materials from nature, and leaving empty spaces. Their real miracle is that they have made the smallest spaces seem uncrowded and uncontrived.

The ideal in room planning is to give all main rooms separate and private gardens, preferably arranged so that no other room shares the garden. A walled garden bathroom is sometimes created in modern Japanese gardens in a space only 10 feet square.

The William A. Pomeroy garden at 86 San Carlos, Sausalito, is an authentic example of a Japanese hill garden. In order to appreciate it, it is necessary to know something about the composition of Japanese hill gardens.

The hill garden represents the heart of the mountain, or the remote recess of the valley. The intended angle of vision of this garden is from the parlor. A hill is featured, combined with pond and stream, the pond with irregular, graceful shore lines, never symmetrical. The pond contains an island, and hills of varying heights are arranged on the south side. A path winds all about the garden to insure that all the features are shown to advantage.

A NORMAL HILL garden has a pair of large stones standing at the left and a waterfall leaping between them. Thihs combination is intended to form the center of the garden. Below and on the left is placed a water basin. The garden is designed to present in one view a complete, and picturesque scene. For the partial paving of the path, stepping stones, oblong and otherwise, are used. The oblong one is called tazakuishi, or "poem card stone," because of its resemblance to a card usually associated with Japanese poems. The shore of the pond is protected by stones and piles, and important points are marked by stones and trees. Generally the main view is shifted to the back rather than to the right or left, and the side views at the right and left are brought slightly to the foreground. (The triangle is also the basic principle of the flat garden, but the hill garden possesses three dimensions, which requires more decorative features and a more complicated design.)

The island is decorated with a stone called raihaiseki, or "worshipping stone," a yukimi-doro, or "snow viewing lantern," and a pine tree, so as to function as an important feature in the design. The island is effective in producing an illusion of enhanced distance by making the pond and the hills more complicated. It may be considered the center of the garden view.

Much care is taken in selection of trees, in order to maintain a beautiful appearance in all seasons. Evergreens are the keynote, interspersed with flowering trees and maples, which color beautifully in the autumn. This eliminates the dreary winter scene. Evergreens usually supply the background, lining the fencing around the garden and completing the permanent scene.

From olden times the pine has been regarded the green of garden trees, and their shaping and trimming for artistic effect have been studied with marked success. Garden designers prefer pines fashioned into picturesque shapes similar to the bonsai(or dwarf tree). Pines are first choice, followed by red and black pine, sugi (Japanese cedar). Of the large leaved group, those with beautifully colored foliage, or turn to blazing color in autumn, or flowering in the spring are preferred. Mochi, mokkoku, kashi (oak) and others are used, also camellias and sazanka camellias. The favorite deciduous trees are ume (plum) and sakura (cherry). For autumn color, mountain maple and other maples, pomegranite and crape myrtle are admired for the fantastic figure of their stems and branches. All these garden trees are carefully trimmed to keep them in good appearance.

FENCES ARE either partitions or screen. The screen (sodigaki, or sleeve fence) hides an unpleasant sight, or forms a background, usually six to seven feet high. Partition fences are made of wood, stone, or bamboo, those within the garden being of bamboo, wood or twigs, to create a light impression.

Stone lanterns have been in use from early times. The idea was first borrowed from the dedication lanterns in old temples and shrines by tea masters. The idea was adopted by many garden designers and specimens of various shapes came to be used for garden decoration. Imitations made commercially came into use by increased demand. Some lanterns have been originated by individuals. The size is chosen according to the site, i.e., whether used to light a footpath, a water-basin, or accent a plant, and size range from one foot to 18 feet. The location should properly be selected so that the practical purpose of illumination is served.

Water basins may be practical stone basins, or ornamental.

Bridges are designed to be either ornamental or practical and may be made of stones, worked or unworked, wood, earth, but must be pleasing to the eye. Repetition is always avoided.

Stones are chosen according to shape and color. Generally andesite, hornstone, granite, clay-slate, and chlorite schist of suitable shape are popular. These are installed at important points in the garden, usually in groups of two to five, ranging in height on a firm foundation, to give stability. Stones are kept wet to bring out the color and natural effect.

IN THE JAPANESE garden, every ornament, such as this stone lantern in the William C. Pomeroy garden in Sausalito, and every stone has a special meaning, according to the designer, Sakari, a philosopher.

THE PROBLEM FACED by William Kapranos, landscape architect, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lundgren of 661 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, was how to provide screening for the bedroom patio without cutting off the view. You can see in this photo by Ken Molino how he met that problem and solved it in a way that also enhanced the appearance of the patio.

April's The Time To Plant Citrus

Californians who would preserve their state's heritage by planting citrus in the garden will find April an ideal month to do it.

First, it's the beginning of the growing season; and, secondly, they transplant best now. Frosts are past and the sun is not yet hot enough to be hard on the new transplants.

A watering basin should be formed at the base of the tree, but water should not be allowed to settle against the trunk. Mound earth around the trunk to guard against this. And wrap the young, exposed trunk with burlap to prevent sun burning.

'Can Foam Rubber Lining Be Drycleaned?'—Mrs. A.S.A.

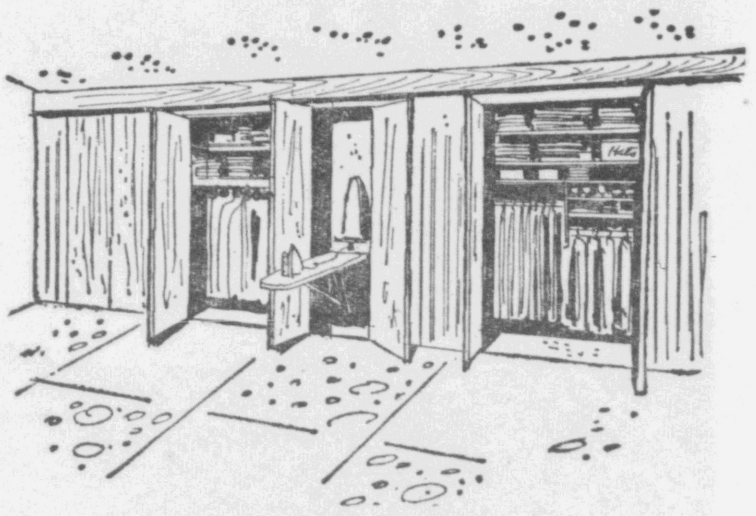
Dear Mrs. A.S.A.:

There is a growing use of thin layers of urethene foam, which most of us call "foam rubber," as linings and interlinings on garments. Urethene foam also is combined with all types of fibers, both natural, synthetic, and blends. It is used in both knitted and woven garments. Actually this is not "rubber" and laundering or cleaning of garments to which this urethene foam is bonded appears to be entirely safe.

Some drycleaners have been worried about the "foam" separating from the fabric in cleaning and have hesitated to accept such garments. According to tests of several of these laminated fabrics by the American Insitiute of Laundering and the National Institute of Drycleaning, they can be drycleaned and finished or laundered just as the fabric without fear of the fabric separating from the "foam." However, in some tests, shrinkage was noted in some of the fabrics tested for drycleaning, but the bonding of the "foam" to the fabric was not affected.

In some cases the "foam lining" is not bonded to the outer fabric originally. Naturally, it would remain separate from the fabric after cleaning.

But because the lining is not rubber, Mrs. A.S.A., it can be drycleaned safely.



NEED CLOSET SPACE? Then why not try this scheme which devotes a whole bedroom wall to expertly tailored storage space, and even includes a drop-down ironing board. Closets are designed in tawny beige Douglas fir, with doors that have no exposed hardware and open by finger pressure. When closed, the doors appear to be sleek wall paneling. It's a real storage spectacular.

Friendly Family Of Flowers

Violas are a friendly family of flowers. Their shining faces present myriad colors and sizes that will brighten the dreariest of days. And their profusion is more than any garden can rightly ask.

This versatile family is mighty nice to have around. It includes not only the familiar, bright-eyed pansy with its multi-colored markings, and the bedding viola, with its variety of single colors, but also the old-fashioned sweet violets and little Johnny-jump-ups which seemed more prevalent in another age than they do today. There's not a bad one in the whole lot.

We'll turn to pansies first, because that's exactly what so many gardeners do when they visit a nursery show yard. The pansy's greatest virtue, aside from its gorgeous blooms, is the fact that it produces this bloom so quickly. Almost from the time you plant them, pansies begin to put forth a show of color.

Another nice thing about them is that pansies demand frequent cutting if they are to extend their bloom period. No garden job could be easier, nor yield more pleasant results. This means, of course, that you will have a spring full of color in your house from pansies planted now.

The bedding violas—which take the family name—can be similarly kept in bloom through spring and well into summer.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

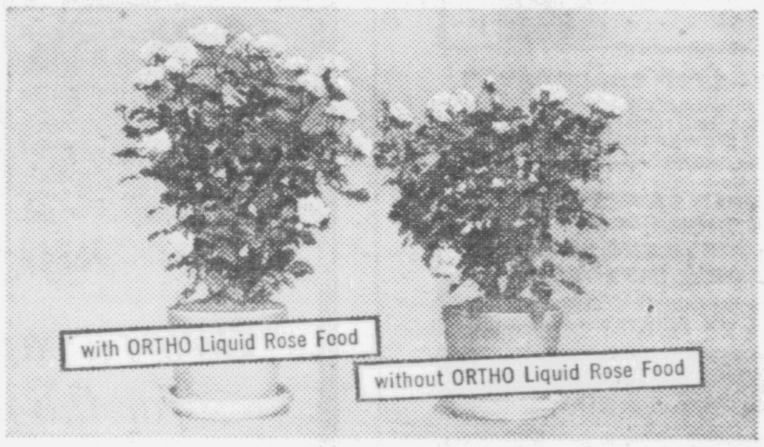
Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- Rhododendrons are in bloom this month and there's no better time to pick out the one you want.
- Clumps of gerbera (Transvaal daisy) can be bought in bloom. Plant them in raised beds to insure perfect drainage and don't bury the crown.
- Sow a lawn before the month is out. It's best to get one going before the hot weather sets in.
- Work soil conditioners and humus into the ground while it's still moist enough from the winter rains to be workable.
- Mulch around camellias with a two or three inch layer of peat moss or leaf mold.

Grow spectacular Roses!

Tests like this prove roses respond beautifully!

ORTHO Liquid Rose Food gave spectacular results in 5 week test: more blooms . . . longer, stronger stems . . . more luxuriant growth. Plant on left received just 5 feedings of Liquid Rose Food. Plant on right, grown in same rich soil, was watered only.



● DESIGNED SPECIFICALLY FOR ROSES

ORTHO Liquid Rose Food is a specially balanced formula that fills the particular nutrient needs of roses. That's why it makes such spectacular differences in roses! Improves growth fast, too, because it's a liquid, readily absorbed by both roots and foliage. A chelating agent releases soil minerals for additional plant nourishment.

SPRAY OR SPRINKLE. Mix ORTHO Liquid Rose Food in water as label directs, sprinkle on soil and foliage with watering can. Easier yet apply with ORTHO Lawn Sprayer attached to garden hose.

CELLIST JEAN MAGUIRE will be one of the soloists in tomorrow night's San Rafael String Orchestra concert in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus.

It Wasn't Bach, But His Boss Who Wrote Concerto

A concerto with a history as interesting as its rich melody will be given its American premiere in Marin tomorrow.

Celloist Jean Maguire will play a cello concerto in G Major as one of the highlights in the third of a series of Baroque concerts under an Rafael Recreation Department sponsorship by the San Rafael String Orchestra in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael, starting at 8 o'clock.

Hugo Rinaldi will conduct.

The concerto in which Mrs. Maguire will solo was until recently credited to either J. S. Bach or Antonio Vivaldi. Research in preparation for tomorrow night's performance, however, has brought forth evidence that the actual composer was the little known Duke Johann Ernst of Saxe-Weissenfels, patron-employer of J. S. Bach at Weimar.

Gregor Piatigorsky, fascinated by the work when he heard it played as an organ concerto, transcribed it for cello and piano. Marin's Jean Maguire, equally intrigued by this work of mysterious origin but wishing to perform it as a cello solo with full string accompaniment, sought in vain both here and abroad for such a score.

Undaunted by her lack of success, she commissioned Marin musician-photographer Eddy Walter to write the transcription for solo cello and Baroque orchestra.

San Quentin Inmate Tells Story Of Teen-Ager Thrown Into Jail

It is the story of a homeless, inexperienced teen-ager thrown into jail for the first time, and of what that experience and those surroundings do to him.

Author Braly has two things going for him. First, he knows what life is like behind bars, and what kind of people you find there. Secondly, he has a great deal of writing talent.

The result is a hard, realistic, gutty story that holds your interest from start to finish. And paints as good a picture of the young boy taking the first steps toward a life of crime as you are likely to find.

It is far more than 35 cents worth of reading.

GOLDEN BOATS FROM BURMA, by Gordon Langley Hall, Macrae-Smith Co., 249 pages, $3.75. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

"Go any other place, but put thoughts of going to Burma out of your heads."

That was the advice that greeted Ann Hasseltine Judson of Bradford, Mass., and her husband, Adoniram Judson, when they arrived in India in 1812, intent on establishing the first Christian mission in Burma.

They ignored the advice. They had come under the spell of a highly romanticized account of Burma by a British Army officer, Michael Symes, entitled "An Account of An Embassy to the Kingdom of Ava." Their minds were made up; nothing could dissuade them.

Nothing did; neither boycott nor pestilence, imprisonment nor war. Their three children died in infancy, and Ann Hasseltine Judson's own health was ruined, so that she died at the age of 36, to be buried beside the Salween River. After more than a century and a quarter, during which the domain of the "golden kings" has fallen to the British, has been overrun by the Japanese, recaptured by the British and at least become a democracy of sorts, her grave remains a shrine to Burman Christians. For despite all the odds against them, she and her husband succeeded in making converts and planting in Burma a seed of Christianity that has grown with the years.

Ann Judson's story is told tenderly and skilfully by New Yorker Gordon Langley Hall in "Golden Boats from Burma." It is a moving story. And, as befits a story of missionary pilgrims, it contains a moral, plain to be found but thoughtfully left by the author for the reader to discover for himself: Christian love conquers all.

A vanity book this one, and yet quite an interesting treatise on the life and times of the hell-raising Marx Brothers. Particularly interesting are the chapters on Algonquin Round Table in New York, where the silent member of the zany Marx group listened while bright wits F. P. Adams, Alexander Woollcott, Dorothy Parker and the New Yorker's Harold Ross talked.

Rise of the Marx family from the East Side of New York, through the borscht circuit where theings were even tougher, onto Broadway and into the movies is laced with nip-ups, escapades all told lightly and interestingly.

A great book, too, for poker or pool players. Harpo, it seems was always and may be still, looking for a game. There is also a bundle of old-time vaudeville photos for those who want to go back that far.

THE MAUVE DECADE by Thomas Beer, Vintage Books, 193 pages, $1.10. Reviewed by Don Keown.

This is the description of American life in the late 1800s that was first published in 1926 as a hardcover book by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc.

Hardcover or this new paperback edition, the first reaction to the book is one of being overwhelmed by a torrent of words. But upon recovering from that initial impact, the reader finds much that is interesting and reflective of the age about which Beer writes. And there is a growing appreciation of just how tremendous a job Beer performed in collecting and evaluating his mass of information. It is not, however, a book for fast reading.

AUTHOR OF the new book, "The Search for Meaning," an explanation and evaluation of the existential analysis approach to psychotherapy, is A. J. Ungersma of the San Francisco Theological Seminary faculty at San Anselmo.

Seminary Prof Writes Book On School Of Psychotherapy

Back in 1958-59 Dr. A. J. Ungersma of the San Francisco Theological Seminary faculty spent his sabbatical leave in Vienna. There he studied at the University of Vienna under the world famous Dr. Viktor Frankl, leading spokesman for a school of psychotherapy called existential analysis or logotherapy that is attracting increasing attention.

As a result of those studies, made under an American Assn. of Theological Schools fellowship award, Dr. Ungersma has written a book on the new approach to psychotherapy.

Entitled "The Search For Meaning," the 188-page book, selling for $4.75, will come off the presses of Westminster Press in Philadelphia on Monday.

The book is aimed at doctors of medicine, psychiatrists, ministers and students concerned with new approaches in psychotherapy and their relevance to religion and the status of man in his present technological culture.

Dr. Ungersma makes this basic distinction between existential analysis and the older methods of Freud and Adler:

Whereas Freud stressed man's quest for pleasure and Adler emphasized man's hunt for power, Frankl and his school of psychotherapy stress man's quest for meaning.

Psychotherapy, he says, commonly contends itself with uncovering the causes of man's psychic handicaps. But man, he adds, needs something more — a deep and worthwhile meaning to life, a transcendental value to which he can dedicate himself. This is the thesis of logotherapy.

Man, Dr. Ungersma and the logotherapy school assert, is spiritual as well as material, and manipulates himself and even the culture in which he lives.

The writer points to the congruity of this premise with Christian doctrine. And he devotes much of his book to the study of how the therapist and the pastor counselor can then, through the overlapping of their fields of ministration, help each other and borrow freely from each other. Thus the subtitle: "A New Approach in Psychotherapy and Pastoral Psychology."

Dr. Ungersma was born in Indiana. He studied at Purdue University, Hope College, Western Theological Seminary and Princeton, then traveled in Germany where he studied psychotherapy and religion. He taught at the University of Denver and held pastorates in Washington and Indiana.

During the war he served as an officer with the Seventh Fleet in the Philippine and Okinawa campaigns.

At the seminary in San Anselmo he is professor of pastoral psychology and counseling.

Huge Harold, The Rabbit, Certain To Delight Child

HUGE HAROLD by Bill Peet, Houghton Mifflin, 46 pages, $3. Reviewed by Claudia Royal.

A running, rollicking story of a rabbit who was "nearly as big as a cow." He galloped through a meadow and hopped through a cornfield into a gloomy old woods. Here he ran into problems and exciting adventure.

On and on he traveled with trouble all the way, until he found "a big friendly barn." After that, he became the pet of all the children, who showed their love by bringing him carrot ice cream.

Former Marin Man Will Launch Spring Festival Showing Of Art

A former Marin County resident will return tomorrow to open the 1961 Marin Society of Artists Spring Festival show at the Frances Young Gallery in the Marin Art and Garden Center at Ross.

Giacomo Patri will show slides and lecture on "Art Teaching As a Creative Activity."

He is the director of the Patri School of Art in San Francisco, and is widely known for his illustrations. He has published two books of woodcuts in story sequence.

Patri is also a former San Francisco Chronicle staff artist.

The program will be presented at 3 p.m. during the preview of the spring show.

The Spring Festival marks the only Marin Society of Artists show of the year that is open to all media. Paintings, graphics, ceramics, sculpture, mosaics, weaving, jewelry and other crafts will be on display.

Preview hours tomorrow will run from 2 to 5 p.m. The show will then continue through April 28 at the regular gallery hours—2 to 4 p.m. every day of the week and 7 to 9 on Thursday evenings.

ART SCHOOL director Giacomo Patri of San Francisco will present an illustrated lecture opening the Marin Society of Artists Spring Festival show at the Frances Young Gallery, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, tomorrow afternoon.

There is no admission charge.

Robert Harvey is the Spring Festival director.

'A Cool Drink In The Desert'

Mrs. Grace Abbett is well known in Marin art circles. But it was in faraway Libya that her interest in painting, dormant since her early school days, was first revived.

It was to relieve the tedium of a summer in the torrid Libyan desert that Mrs. Abbett took to paints and pastels. And she found there as her teacher Kay Coriat, a watercolorist whose husband was in the British colonial service in Libya. Years before, in London, Mrs. Coriat had been an artist and decorator by special appointment to her majesty Queen Mary.

Her art lessons from Mrs. Coriat are described by Mrs. Abbett now as "a cool drink of water in the desert." Her spark of interest in the arts was ignited and there followed an outpouring of sketches of mosque, oasis and native market.

Returning to the U. S. and Marin County, a few years later, Grace Abbett came under the artistic influence of Richard Yip, California watercolorist.

More recently she has turned her hand to oils as well as watercolors.

She is the wife of Eugene B. Abbett, local business man, and the mother of three, the youngest a high school freshman.

"I feel a homemaker is a better and happier person when she is also an individual in her own right," Mrs. Abbett says. "The need to express and create is in all of us."

Her formal studies have included a Bachelor of Arts from San Jose State, where she minored in art, plus graduate study at the University of Pacific and College of Marin. Her paintings have hung in offices, stores and restaurants in Marin and San Francisco as well as numerous shows and exhibits.

Currently her work is being shown at the Dutch Art Gallery in San Rafael for a two-week period which will continue through next week.

STEREO NOTES

Lambert, Hendricks, Ross Score Again On Ellington

By JOHN SUNIER

Like, the most! Winners of both the 1959 and 1960 Downbeat polls for vocal groups, Lambert Hendricks and Ross encore their previous Columbia album "The Hottest New Group in Jazz," with All-Ellington material lyriced-up by Jon Hendricks. The lyrics are the thing, of course, and you may be sure they swing as well as the instrumental originals.

The sentiments expressed by Hendricks are seldom cloying or cute but instead examples of good healthy modern psychology spiced with the wit and complete honesty of a jazzman.

An example is "What Am I Here For?" which could stand beside previous answers to this ticklish and age-old philosophical question by such as Aristotle St. Thomas, and Satre.

"Cottontail" relates in swingin' poetry the entire tale of Peter Rabbit and "Happy Anatomy" may sound risque, but isn't.

Some of Dave, John and sweet little Annie's previous records really needed an accompanying libretto to follow all the rapid-fire words but the pace is a little slower here and stereo makes it child's play to dig every single word of the lyrics.

MARIN POETS' CORNER

DUCK HUNTING IN MARIN

We arose before dawn to hunt waterfowl.
The awakening sounds of nature, sweet to the ear,
With the glory of the radiant sunrise

Blinding the sleepy eyes of earth, was a portrait.
Together in our blind we heard the lute-throated birds
Call their mates.
We heard the whirring wings of the air riders
Rise to seek new feeding places.

Sacrilege to shoot God's envoys,
But the inborn will of man for hunt
Encountered the flight as it swung within range
To settle in our decoys.

An instant they poised as if suspended by an invisible hand,
Then broke their flight to descend among their kind
When a sharp report shattered the stillness

KPIX And Cal To Cooperate In Course For The Business Man

TELEVISION courses are nothing new, but the one starting Monday morning on KPIX (Channel 5) is aimed at a different kind of student. Its target: Owners and prospective owners of small and medium sized firms, and the managers and others who must deal with administrative problems of independent businesses.

The title is "Business Guidelines: Managing the Independent Business." It's a cooperative effort by KPIX and the University of California. And it will run 13 weeks, Mondays through Fridays.

Only early risers need "enroll." The course will be on the air daily from 6:30 to 7 a.m.

U.C. faculty members will conduct the course with Ewald T. Grether doing the introductory honors at Monday's opening session.

Topics to be covered will include records and accounting controls, financing the independent business, taxation, administration and human relations, labor relations, systematic control of business operations, marketing strategies, forecasting and long-run planning, and organization.

For a $5 fee, made payable to the Regents of the University of California and sent to Correspondence Instruction, University Extension, University of California, Berkeley, viewers can participate in a test question program, receive supplementary outlines of the TV lectures and earn certificates of participation.

KRON IS ALSO launching a new series in which the University of California is a party. "On Campus," to be seen Sundays at 1 p.m. starting tomorrow, will deal with the functions, purpose and effects of the modern university, and its relation to the community and the country. Dr. David Krech, professor of psychology, will be the host.

Tomorrow's premiere program will offer two panel discussions. A group composed of Aldous Huxley, Leo Rosten and Harold D. Lasswell will explore "Adult Education." A second panel composed of Donald O. Hebb, Dr. Holgar Hyden and Dr. Wilder Penfield will analyze "The Physical Background for Mental Processes."

ACADEMY Award time is almost on hand (KGO will carry the presentations Monday night), and in anticipation of that event, Channel 7 will carry a special show of Oscar-winning music tonight at 8 o'clock.

There are no big names in the cast, but Bobby Hammack will conduct the ABC Orchestra in songs ranging from "The Continental," first winner of an Oscar for "best song" back in 1934, to this year's five nominees in that category. Listen in, and see if you can pick the winner.

Also tonight: Shelley Winters in KTVU's "Play of the Week," the Frank Corsaro drama of the depression era, "A Piece of Blue Sky," starting at 9 o'clock; and a "Nation's Future" debate at 9:30 p.m. on KRON on the question—"Is Africa Ready for Independence?" The debaters: Kenneth D. Kaunda, president of Northern Rhodesia's United National Independence Party, and J. Freire D'Andrade, director of the Portuguese Trade and Cultural Interchange Bureau in New York.

MORT SAHL
Paired with Berman

AS FOR SUNDAY, the most promising show is an "NBC White Paper" documentary entitled "Anatomy of a Hospital" that will be seen at 10 p.m. on KRON. The Cambridge, Mass., City Hospital will be used to show some of the problems that are faced daily by our hospital administrators, personnel and patients.

KPIX is especially proud of a one-hour special entitled "Chopin" which it has scheduled for its 2:30 p.m. time spot. Famed pianist Moura Lympany provides not only music but also personal background on the great composer, Frederic Chopin. Her efforts will be supplemented by lithographs, woodcuts and original prints. And the original Camille Pleyel piano presented to Chopin in 1831, a treasured museum piece from Paris, will be shown. The show was produced in New York by the Metropolitan Broadcasting Corp.

Admirers of the modern school of comedy will hardly believe their own good luck when they discover that they have an opportunity to hear both Mort Sahl and Shelley Berman on the same program tomorrow. The two comics, now at the top in their field, will appear on the "Herb Caen Show" on KGO at 2 p.m. The 11 o'clock night-time Caen gabfest will be a repeat of last week's discussion of capital punishment by a panel including Marinites William Weissich and Bernice Freeman Davis, former San Quentin warden Clinton Duffy and Episcopal Bishop James Pike.

Other good Sunday bets: The concluding "Omnibus" show of the season, a look at the future of the Western Hemisphere, at 5 p.m. on KRON; the continuation study of Sweden and its of the "Twentieth Century" social advances and problems at 6:30 on KPIX; and comedian Bud Abbott's debut in a serious dramatic role on the "General Electric Theater" at 9 o'clock on KPIX.

THIS IS JUST PEACHY

Blossoms like these on a peach tree in Novato are no ordinary ones. Orchards in Novato once were famed for providing fruit for many Bay Area kitchens. Today homes have replaced the orchards, but many of the trees have survived. And in a few months it looks like this one will provide peaches for dozens of pies. 'Tiburon City' Commercial Needs Revealed

Main Street Could Go To Belvedere

By DEEDEE ABRAMSON

The proposed city of Tiburon, if its main street business district is annexed by Belvedere, must have a commercial business in order to retain the same tax rate and the same level of services.

This was revealed at last night's public meeting, attended by 60 people, to review both the incorporation and annexation feasibilities studies prepared by Griffenhagen-Kroeger, Inc. of San Francisco.

NOT METROPOLITAN

(When the fifth incorporation movement started, Tiburon peninsula coordinating chairman Dick DeBerry said, "most of the people are interested in not having industry here . . . This is not a metropolitan area.")

Whether Belvedere is interested in annexing the business district or the business district plus the residential portion of Tiburon, is a moot point. But one Belvedere resident, Recreation Commissioner Mrs. Robert Bastian, last night, questioned whether the same level of services could be kept with the annexation.

"Belvedere has a much higher standard of recreation . . . This would lower city standards," she said. "We have five parks now, it would be necessary to provide parks in the Tiburon area. I doubt if a group of people are willing to tolerate the inequality of services, without the tax rate going up."

CAN'T EXPAND

In answer to a question about the effect of incorporation on the city of Belvedere, Charles E. Rains, of the San Francisco firm, said: "Belvedere can no longer expand," which prompted Mrs. Bastian to say, "Belvedere never has."

The audience delved into the problem of maintaining peninsula streets, and the question of the dissolution of the three special districts which would remain under the present incorporation proceedings.

Tiburon Sanitary District Secretary Robert A. Sterling asked Rains, "What adjustment is necessary to be sure that representation on the council of the new city is fair?"

He referred to the fact that out of the 11-million-dollar assessed valuation, three and a-half million dollars has 55 per cent of the population.

Rains replied . . . "You can elect your council by districts, but I have found people do not react on the basis of assessed valuation."

Three Airports In Cuba Attacked In Bomb Raids

CITIES BOMBED — Havana, the capital of Cuba, and Santiago, at the eastern end of the island, and San Antolio de los Banos, a town about 20 miles from Havana, were struck by bombs early today. (AP Wirephoto map)

Castro Regime Sees 'Prelude To Invasion'

HAVANA (UPI) — Twin-engined B-26 warplanes bombed and strafed airports in three Cuban cities today. The government called the attacks a prelude to "large-scale military aggression" against Cuba.

Acting Foreign Minister Carlos Olivares called in the diplomatic corps and said the air raids were designed to knock out the Cuban Air Force before Cuba's enemies mount a full-scale attack in an effort to bring down the Fidel Castro government.

Castro mobilized his 300,000-man militia immediately after today's attacks in fear of an imminent invasion. Government sources said the bombing raids caused widespread damage in the three cities hit.

Castro said they were masterminded by the United States.

(Two B-26s, one damaged by anti-aircraft fire, landed in Florida. The pilots said the raids were carried out by Cuban Air Force men fed up with Castro's communism. Another plane was reported to have landed in Jamaica.)

AGGRESSION CHARGE

Olivares told the foreign diplomatic corps the United States was lending a "guilding hand" to aggression. Castro himself called the attacks open aggression by the United States.

Olivares displayed bomb fragments he said bore United States markings.

(A U.S. Navy spokesman at the naval base at Guantanamo Bay said the situation there was "very quiet" and that "no extra precautions are being taken. We are prepared for any eventuality.")

One bomb scored a direct hit on an Air Force ammunition dump at Camp Liberty on the Havana city limits. Ammunition explosions rocked the area moments after Castro raced there to investigate the bombings. He was not hurt.

TWO KILLED

Two militiamen were killed in the Havana bombing and "many" were wounded when planes strafed them as they ran to their posts.

The bombs had been lobbed just outside the Camp Liberty headquarters.

DEFECTING PILOT DESCRIBES RAID

Declares Blasts At Military Targets Made To Avenge Betrayal of 'Coward'

MIAMI (UPI)—Defecting pilots fleeing Fidel Castro's air force flew to Florida in World War II bombers today after blasting Cuban military installations to avenge betrayal by a "coward" among them.

One of the Cuban Air Force B-26 bombers landed at Miami International Airport, riddled from anti-aircraft and small arms fire and with only one of its two engines working. Another landed at the Boca Chica U.S. Naval Air Station at Key West.

A third bomber landed in another "foreign country" where all three planes originally planned to go, informed Cuban sources here reported.

The pilots, who asked to remain unidentified, alighted from their planes in military fatigues and immediately asked for asylum. District immigration director Edward Ahrens in Miami said their request was granted.

The pilots told immigration officials that he and three other Cuban Air Force pilots had planned "for some months" to escape.

But he said the decision to leave today was made only two quests were under consideration.

The mustachioed pilot who days ago when he saw one of the other three talking with a

Castro's Air Force Chief Seeks Asylum

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's air force chief and his private pilot have asked for asylum in the United States, it was reported today. The men are brothers.

Delegate Says More Cuban Raids Slated

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa said today Cuban rebels had announced they would raid Fidel Castro's island stronghold again at 10 p.m.

Putting before the General Assembly's main political committee the dawn raid by B26 bombers against bases at three Cuban cities, Roa said:

"The responsibility for this act of imperialistic piracy falls squarely upon the government of the United States."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said, "No U.S. personnel participated in today's incident. Nor were there planes of the United States of any kind."

'Cycle Rider Found Dead In Napa County

The body of a young San Rafael man was found in a canyon off a Napa County road yesterday, tangled in the wreckage of his motorcycle.

Robert P. H. Sangster, 19, of 34 Grove Street had left San Rafael April 1 for a trip to a lake or baths in Napa County.

The accident probably happened the same day, the Napa County sheriff's office said. Sangster apparently was coming down a winding grade on his motorcycle, missed a curve and hit several trees, landing in the canyon where his body could not be seen from the road. He probably was killed instantly, a deputy said.

The youth's father David Sangster of New York City had been here on business, it was learned. An uncle, Dr. Joseph Moore, lives in Mill Valley.

Admiral Tells Of Device For 'Hearing' Subs

BURBANK (UPI) — A ranking naval officer said today the United States has a series of sensitive underwater ears along key coasts to protect against sneak attack by missile carrying submarines.

Thus, Vice Adm. R. B. Pirie, deputy chief of naval operations for air, acknowledged what has long been rumor in the defense industry.

Pirie, here for the dedication of Lockheed's new subhunting PV3-1, said:

"We have passive listening devices on the bottom of the sea to detect submarines by listening to them. We have them in critical areas."

Asked if he could name the critical areas, he laughed and said, "can't you guess." Then he added, "They border our coasts in certain strategic areas."

Soviet Reply Expected Soon On Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has indicated Russia will reply in a few days to a call for a cease fire in Laos, it was learned today.

Reliable sources said Gromyko informed U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., of this in a talk in Moscow Thursday.

The talk occurred when Thompson conveyed President John F. Kennedy's deep "concern" over Russia's failure to reply to the Western cease fire request which has gone unanswered since about 4 weeks ago.

U.S. officials remained cautious despite Gromyko's hint of an early answer. They noted that when Gromyko saw Kennedy here several weeks ago he promised a Soviet answer in "three days."

Officially, the State Department had no comment on Thompson's meeting Thursday except that "matters of interest, among them Laos," were discussed.

However, it is known that the Kennedy administration feels events of the next few days may be crucial in deciding whether there will be peace or stepped up strife in Laos.

Auditor To Unveil Hospital Fund Plan

Marin County might borrow $739,000 at reasonable interest for county hospital construction right now, Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle will tell the supervisors next week.

He explained today that the amount would come from the county employees' retirement fund, from which 25 per cent could be borrowed for a project of this sort. The fund had total assets of $2,850,183 at the end of last year.

Interest might be as low as 3½ per cent but a more likely rate, through negotiation, would be 4 per cent, slightly above the current rate for general obligation bonds (turned down twice by the electorate) but well below the lease-purchase cost.

But on the basic issue of changes in cost of building a new hospital, for which information has been sought by the board, deLisle said he thus far offered only a limited reply.

Building costs have been going up and interest has been going down, he said. The delay since calculations to support the last unsuccessful bond campaign has added about 5 per cent to overall cost of the project in any form, deLisle estimated; but whereas general obligation interest rates were 3¾ per cent then, with least-contract at least 5¼ per cent, these rates have now dropped respectively to around 3 per cent and 4½ per cent.

DeLisle expressed belief that existing hospital plans provide for too many beds in any event —"125 should be the maximum rather than the 175 projected."

"Nursing homes seem to me the answer on that," deLisle added. "I'm not for more federal housing than we've got already in Marin City and plenty of others feel that way. I understand petitions against this idea are being circulated."

DeLisle said he felt costs can be trimmed and financing provided with a good start offered by his idea of borrowing from retirement fund. On this latter her had a postscript:

"There has been past opposition on a theory that to pay interest on this would be double taxation," said deLisle. "However, 57 per cent of the fund was put in by employees and we can borrow only 25 per cent of it.

IT'S NOT BREAD, WATER

Prison Menu Snubbed By Death Row Felons

A hunger strike hit San Quentin's Death Row last night when 28 men out of 34 refused dinner, according to J. R. O'Brien, officer of the day.

The strike continued this morning when 29 of the men refused breakfast, according to O'Brien.

There is no spokesman for the group, O'Brien stated. The men politely refused to eat. Apparently they want something other than what they are receiving, O'Brien said.

Warden Fred R. Dickson looked into the food being served. He stated that it was adequate and conforming to the standards set up.

The menu of the dinner refused was: Beef broth with rice, combination salad with French dressing, fried scallops with lemon wedge, assorted cold cuts, macaroni au gratin, and Swiss chard for dinner. For breakfast they were offered stewed apricots, cooked cereal, plain omelet, crisp bacon, French toast with maple syrup, toasted bread with oleo, coffee and milk.

Two Airmen Hurt As Car Hits Pole In Ignacio; Power Out For Half Hour

Two Hamilton Air Force Base airmen and a Petaluma man suffered minor injuries last night when their car struck a power pole in Ignacio, knocking out power in the area about a half hour.

Treated at the base hospital were A/3c Milton Martin, 21, the driver; A/1c Robert Paige, owner of the car, and Roland Kamps, 22, of Petaluma.

Officer Sam Thomas of the California Highway Patrol said the car came out of the parking lot at The Meadows, went about 85 feet, and struck the pole, breaking it. The vehicle was a total loss, he said.

Issuance of a citation will depend on the results of a sobriety test given Martin, the officer said.

A Lompoc woman received a whiplash injury in another accident last night involving four cars in rear-end collisions on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

Mrs. Patricia Wheeler was treated at Marin General Hospital, then released. She was passenger in a car driven by her husband, Thomas A. Wheeler, 24, stationed at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Also involved in the accident were Raffale A. Ferante, 31, of 18 Poplar Avenue, Ross, driving a tow truck; John A. Crossler, 17, of 300 Bothin Road, Fairfax, and Kent B. MacIver, 21, of 5 Stadium Way, Kentfield.

MacIver was cited for illegally stopping in the roadway.

Adamarie Rancke To Marry Richard Fernandez In Fall

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Rancke of San Anselmo have announced the engagement of their daughter, Adamarie, to Richard P. Fernandez.

Adamarie is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and St. Joseph's College of Nursing in San Francisco. Adamarie, a registered nurse, is on the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio R. Fernandez of Oakland, California. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Ziliotto of Morgan Hill.

The young man is a graduate of Fresno High School, and attended San Jose State College and was graduated from the Allan Hancock College in Santa Maria.

He is presently stationed with the United States Air Force at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

A Fall wedding is planned.

Ticket Chairmen For Spring Decor Event Announced

Ticket chairmen for the demonstration of Spring floral arrangements, which is being cosponsored by the Marin County Council of Co-operative Nursery Schools and its participating members at the Corte Madera Recreation Center on Wednesday, May 3, were announced this week by Council president Mrs. Joseph Rogers of San Anselmo.

Katherine Eubanks, Larkspur floral decorator, will give a demonstration, which will begin at 1 p.m. and be followed by a tea.

Handling tickets for the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School will be the Mesdames C. E. McClain, Spencer Greaves, and John Stone, while the Mesdames Robert Thalman, W. W. Comstock, and John E. Doane will take care of this detail for the Terra Linda School.

Heading the list of ticket sellers for the Mill Valley Cooperative Nursery School will be three members, Mrs. Roy B. Montgomery, Mrs. William E. Marshall Jr., and Mrs. Harvey Hoffman.

Twin Cities Cooperative Nursery School ticket sellers are the Mesdames Del De Martini, Mrs. T. A. Bataglia, and Mrs. Gary Lovell, while Mrs. R. E. Douglas, Mrs. David Faw, and Mrs. Robert Mertle are ticket chairmen for the San Anselmo school.

Childbirth Series Planned In May

A new series of classes in the Education for Childbirth program will begin during the first week of May. They will be held on Thursday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. and in the evening from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gunhild Brown and Mrs. William Weeks, who are registered physical therapists, will be the instructors. The classes are conducted in San Rafael at the physical therapy office of Mrs. Gunhild H. Brown, 711 D Annex.

The eight week course includes training in exercises for relaxtion, breathing techniques and posture. Emphasis is given to understanding the processes of pregnancy and labor. Expectant fathers are invited to attend the Parents Class where films are shown.

The expectant mother must have her doctor's written permission before she can enroll in the series. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Brown.

New Officers For P.E.O.

Mrs. A. C. Kuehl has succeeded Mrs. W. D. Oberholtzer as president. Her 1961-62 staff includes Mrs. J. H. Hemingway, vice president; Mrs. A. L. Main, recording secretary; Mrs. A. H. Wilcox, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. S. Price, treasurer; Mrs. Larry Reed, chaplain, and Mrs. J. Hudson Ballard, guard.

Mrs. Kuehl has named the following appointive officers: Program committee — Mesdames Joseph Sheeks, E. C. Sargent, Jr. and Larry Reed; Courtesy Mesdames John Bagshaw, Samuel D. Archibald and Stephen Bruff; Cottey College chairman, Mrs. Walter Hagenbuch; P.E.O. Record reporter, Mrs. Earl Barnt; finance, Mrs. Ilion Jones and Mrs. John Jefferson Canoles; telephone committee—Mrs. Sigge Hjort and Mrs. A. J. Brincerkerhoff; auditing—Mrs. Fred Crisp and Mrs. Jacob Lindenbaum; bylaws—Mrs. Lehmann Ross and Mrs. F. D. Dale; reciprocity, Mrs. J. H. Hemingway; parliamentarian, Mrs. W. D. Oberholtzer; historian, Mrs. G. L. Rice; pianists—Mrs. F. E. Clinite and Mrs. John Bagshaw; publicity, Mrs. Roy A. Brown.

Exemplification of the ritual and initiation will take place April 28 at the home of Mrs. Dale when Mrs. Sargent will be a co-hostess.

Surprise Party

Attending were Messrs. and Mesdames F. W. Zimmerman, Mickey MacGowan, Leo Sullivan, Fred T. Beckley, R. W. Blakey, Clark Holmes, Mrs. Joseph Serpa, Mrs. Mirata, and Manuel Silveira.

League Neophytes Being Feted At Tea

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The Junior League's new provisionals and Mrs. Richard W. Newell, retiring president of Marin Unit of the Junior League of San Francisco Inc. will be honored at a tea Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. George David Hart at her home in Ross. Mrs. Hart is the retiring chairman. New provisionals are Mesdames Barry T. Brennan, Robert W. Dawson Jr., Kirk Frederick, V. Neil Fulton, Jarvis J. Gates, Fred Graham and William Robert Hanson. The seven are part of a group of 28 neophytes welcomed at a luncheon on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Anthony H. Woodson of San Francisco.

HONORING A couple from Fort Dodge, Iowa, here for a visit, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Merryman of San Rafael gave a dinner Tuesday night. Honored were Mr. and Mrs. John C. Deardorf. Their niece, Miss Judy Nesbitt of Boston was a guest at the dinner.

MRS. BERT VAN CLEVE, former Sausalitan, is renewing local friendships on a visit from Los Angeles. Staying with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Van Cleve, "Millie" was present at a gathering of her former neighbors on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Chapman.

A 63-FOOT YACHT was the "centerpiece" for the party Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson I. Moseley hosted at their novel yachting subdivision at Paradise Cay, Tiburon, recently. The more than a hundred guests from the Peninsula and the East Bay strolled from the wide verandas and sundecks of the home on Jamaica Drive down the gang plank to board the blue and silver "Orient," the 63-foot cutter. As the Orient rode at anchor a Hawaiian string band played and neighbors in their own boats cruised by to wave to the visitors.

TRAVELING to Europe with a large group of Horseless Carriage Club members will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Jones of Kent Woodlands. However they are leaving the fine old cars at home and flying jet to Paris and from there will tour the continent by chartered bus for about a month. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are leaving on April 27 and will fly to Los Angeles and then to Paris. They will be there for several days then take off for Luxembourg and from there to Germany where they will stay in Mannheim and Stuttgart. They'll travel to Switzerland for several days in Lucerne and then it will be Italy and its large cities. The party will travel to Monte Carlo for a couple of days and then fly to London for several days of sight seeing before jetting home.

AT THE LARGE TEA Mrs. Frank Baumgarten and Mrs. Frank Timberlake are giving on Thursday at the Century Club in San Francisco honoring Mrs. Timberlake's new daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Timberlake, a number of Marinites will pour or otherwise assist in the social event. Among these will be Mrs. June Shaw Haseltine, who has just returned from a month's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Hutchinson III and her family in Arizona; Mrs. V. Balfour James, Mrs. Frederick Clute, also Carol Henderson, Mrs. Rufus Thayer and Mrs. John Ziel, who have summer homes in Nicasio; Mrs. Jefferson Doolittle Jr., who has a home on the Belvedere Lagoon; Mrs. Richard Palmer, whose parents live in Belvedere.

PEACOCK GAP COUNTRY Club will be the locale for the no-host luncheon to be given on Wednesday before the Northgate Table Decor Show. Among those attending will be Mesdames A. W. Feidler, Frank C. Stratford, Rolla B. Hess, Henry Drath, William Dawson, George Geramoni, Harvie Freed, John E. Kirkpatrick, A. J. Valenti, Laurence Benamati.

A YEAR'S WORLD TOUR has been completed by Victor and Irene Wollmann who move back into their Sausalito home today. They cut their journeying short a week to attend the wedding of Mariette Gaspar and Rev. Murray L. Trelease at Christ Church in Sausalito on Saturday. The Wollmanns have been staying at the Kenneth Logan home since their return. Irene and Vic flew first to Paris where they bought a sun-top Peugeot to tour the continent which they did thoroughly. They sent the car home from Rome and traveled after that mostly by air. They went to Greece, Turkey and then Egypt, then Cairo and the southern part of Egypt to Luxor, site of ancient Thebes, to view the ruins of temples and tombs.

The travelers flew to India, then went to Ceylon, Singapore, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Tahiti and Honolulu returning home from there. They are already planning another trip, this time to places they did not see in the Orient.

MRS. HENRY S. FOSTER of Mill Valley will be among those leaving on the Peggy Wilberg good will tour of Europe Monday. She is taking with her sets of Parker pens and pencils, donated by Carl Priest of Mill Valley to be distributed as a good will gesture.

The party will go by jet to New York and from there by jet to Lisbon, Portugal, arriving just in time to be entertained by the Lord High Mayor of Lisbon.

In the following two months they will also be entertained by other officials and important people including the mayors of Munich, Rome, Madrid and Vienna, Professor Walter Minarz of Vienna and Dr. Wladimir Lindenberg of Bavaria, world famous brain surgeon.

In Vienna a special welcoming committee headed by Dr. Minarz will be composed of prominent people comparable in age and occupation to members of the tour party.

SEVERAL COCKTAIL parties will be given on Wednesday before the luncheon and fashion show of Madera Guild of Sunny Hills at Bob's of Marin. Mrs. Donald W. Fox will entertain Mesdames Jerome Kay, John Erlwein, Anthony Novacic, Haskell Shedd, John Corriea, Richard Ruyck, Robert Gast, Aaron Shenson, Ralph Bowman, William Hawk, Michael Looper, Kenneth Hansen, Abe Kupperberg, Charles Cross, Tom Smith, Jerome Cohn, Myron Kaplan and Louis Van Vliet.

A FOUR MONTHS' holiday in Europe is being pleasantly anticipated by Mrs. George Thierbach of Corte Madera who, with her sister, Mrs. M. C. Hood of Oakland, leaves for the continent on April 22. They are flying to New York and then to Lisbon and after touring nearly all the countries will go to Scotland, Ireland and England.

TO HONOR Mrs. Louis Gaspar, who was in Sausalito to attend the wedding of her daughter, Mariette Gaspar to Rev. Murray Trelease, Dr. and Mrs. Emmet L. Rixford entertained at a dinner on Thursday. Mrs. Gaspar's home is in Honolulu but she has established a temporary residence in Switzerland until her younger daughter completes her school year. She returned to Switzerland today. On Wednesday the Rixfords entertained the cast of the recent jinks of Sausalito Woman's Club and showed colored slides Dr. Rixford had taken during the performance. The picture showing at the clubhouse was followed by refreshments.

MORE SAUSALITO NEWS. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Conner have returned from an Easter holiday in Southern California that included some very pleasant days at La Jolla.

Mrs. H. R. Schreiber leaves next week for a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Sandstrom in Clearfield, Utah.

Dr. and Mrs. John Wellington spent last week on the East Coast. Mrs. Wellington visited friends in New York while the doctor attended a medical conference in Atlantic City.

Hadleys' Daughters In Baptismal Rite

The first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hadley of Fairfax was baptized recently at St. John's Church in Ross. The little one, baptized Virginia Lorraine, has two brothers, Larry and Bobby. Godparents of little Virginia are her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe DeLasaux Jr. (Muriel Satmary) of Mill Valley.

Maternal grandparents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Satmary of Larkspur. Following the baptismal ceremony a family party took place at the Hadley home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Satmary and cousins of the baby, Joan, Nancy and Denise DeLasaux and Lynette Satmary.

Unification Topic Of Canon Betts At Presbyterian Society Meeting

Unification as proposed by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake was explained by Canon Darby Betts, Christian Social Relations director for the Diocese of California, speaker at the San Rafael Presbyterian Church April 13. Mrs. Carl Heidenreich made the introduction with Mrs. Warren Tracy, program chairman for the Women's Society monthly luncheon. Canon Betts explained that it wsa during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the greatest divisions occurred until today there are 300 different churches and sects.

He emphasized the following: "We must begin to think sacrificially about the Oneness of God . . . the Bible is the basic contribution . . . Christian reunion can come only by Christian humility on both sides. . . . If we are to witness to the world we must be One."

Mrs. Herrick Lane gave the worship service following Canon Betts remarks.

Luncheon was served at long tables decorated with garlands of hawthorne and ivy encircling pink camellias and blue daisies. The Rev. Herrick Lane gave the invocation.

Serving as hostesses were Mesdames Charles Tacchi, A. M. Chiaroni, Lewis A. Clapp, Eva Anderson, Ann Adams, Vernon Bauman, Peter Cazassa, James Cowie, L. S. Gaustad, H. V. Hickman, Guy Kirner, D. D. McFarlane, Ralph Oliver, Joe Petersen and Rudolph Scott.

Mrs. La Rue Bocarde made the white carnations for the corsages worn by the guests.

REPORTS GIVEN

Mrs. William Howe reported on the Knoxville College as described at a recent Santa Rosa meeting.

A report of the March Philadelphia meeting was made by Mrs. Samuel D. Archibald.

Mrs. Joe Petersen gave a summary of the sewing projects.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Mary Larson, pianist, a Dominican student, and this year's recipient of a Marin Music Chest Scholarship. Miss Larson played a composition by Haydn with variations and a Chopin Nocturne. Miss Larson was introduced by Mrs. Samuel D. Archibald.

The brief business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Kenneth Walkmeister.

COMING EVENTS

Coming events include the dinner at the San Rafael Presbyterian church April 21 honoring the Seminary graduates. February, March and April Circles will serve as hostesses. The Seminary luncheon will be April 24.

April 30 will mark the ordination of Richard Walenta.

On May 16 the Men's Council dinner will be served.

Miss Georgia Wintringham announced the Needle Work Guild exhibition and tea April 21.

Rev. Wesley Baker told of the congregation's opportunity to voice an opinion regarding the Sanctuary improvements to chancel and chapel at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Women's Society. Voting on the proposed improvements will take place following the April 23 church services.

JOANNA ELIZABETH GEARY whose engagement to William David Cutler was announced at a family dinner party given by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Geary of San Rafael. July 29 has been set as the wedding date.

JOANNA GEARY TO BE WED TO WILLIAM CUTLER IN JULY

At a family dinner party at their San Rafael home, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Geary announced the engagement of their daughter, Joanna Elizabeth Geary, to William David Cutler. Plans are being made for a wedding at St. Raphael's Church on July 29.

The bride-elect, sister of Stephen, Don and Helenmarie Geary, is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Howard of Vallejo and the late Mrs. Helen B. Geary of San Rafael. Joanna is a grandniece of Judge Edward I. Butler of San Rafael.

The bride-elect attended Dominican and San Francisco College for Women and is a graduate of City College of San Francisco where she was president of Delta Psi sorority.

Bill, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Richard Cutler of Visalia, was graduated from Whitney High School in Visalia and University of San Francisco and is now attending the university's law school. He is a member of St. Ives Law Club, Scabbard and Blade and Block Club.

The young man is the brother of Rev. Richard Cutler of San Carlos Mission in Monterey, and Ross and John Cutler of Visalia. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cutler and the late Mr. and Mrs. David Toomey, all of Visalia.

UC SENIORS MAKE PLANS FOR A SUMMER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William Franchini of San Anselmo recently announced the engagement of their daughter Gail to James Edward Green of Modesto at a cocktail party at their home.

Gail, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, is a senior at the University of California where she is a member of the Alpha Phi sorority. She is the sister of Carol Franchini, a freshman at University of California, and William Franchini. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Franchini of San Anselmo and Mrs. Aileen Schlosser of San Rafael.

Jim is also a senior at University of California where he is affiliated with the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, a member of Skull and Keys and past president of the Big C Society. He played varsity football at Cal for three years and was a member of the 1959 Rose Bowl team. Jim is the son of Mrs. Juanita Russell of Modesto and the late Albert Green. He is the brother of Robert, Joe and Marilyn Green. A late summer wedding is planned.

GAIL FRANCHINI posed with her fiance, James Edward Green of Modesto. Both are seniors at University of California. Gail is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Franchini of San Anselmo.

SOVIETS BUILDING MOON SPACESHIPS

Gagarin Tells Huge Press Conference Of His Flight, Hope For The Future

MOSCOW (UPI) — Spaceman Yuri Gagarin said today Russia is building spaceships for flights to the moon—presumably carrying men—and indicated clearly that he would like to go along.

At a two-hour press conference attended by an estimated 1,000 reporters, the largest such gathering ever seen in Moscow, the 27-year-old air force major said also that:

His spaceship was returned to earth intact, with its instruments undamaged, and that it could be used again for orbital flight.

His view of the earth while 110 to 118 miles high in orbit was as good as the view from a high-flying jet. Although the spaceship carried no cameras, he said he could see landmarks like mountains and rivers clearly enough to locate specific points on earth.

This appeared to confirm scientific belief that "spy in the sky" satellites would be of military value.

Russia has developed "several techniques" for the recovery of space vehicles, including the use of parachutes. He evaded a direct answer as to the method of his return from orbit.

His descent from orbit to Russia's secret "spacedrome" took 30 minutes. He gave no details of the ascent, but it appeared from other statements that it took about 29 minutes to get the spaceship up.

Russia has astronauts ready for additional flights. He hopes himself to venture into space again, perhaps to such points as the moon, Venus or Mars.

He became an astronaut at his own "urgent request," apparently in 1957. This suggested that he might have been in training for two or three years for this week's flight.

Gagarin survived the orbital journey in good health. His pulse count on landing was 70-75, the same as it was at takeoff and the same as when he went to bed the night before.

IF IT SPENDS MONEY

U.S. May Still Beat Reds For First Man On The Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may still beat the Soviet Union to the moon—if it's willing to pay for it.

That's the view of a top space official who said yesterday that the United States might be able to lob a man there in 1967 by spending billions on a crash program.

But the official, Dr. Robert C. Seamans, associate director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said reaching that goal would require a change in high national policy.

Going "all out on an absolutely crash basis," he said, would cost billions more than is now contemplated.

Seamans testified before the House Science and Astronautics Committee.

The Soviet Union hasn't hinted at its plans in the moon race. But its first space traveler, Maj. Yuri Gagarin, said the trip might be "sooner than we think."

Putting a man on the moon in 1967, Seamans said, would be "a very major undertaking."

Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.) cautioned him to consider his words carefully.

The NASA official then said 1967 "is a date that could be considered from a planning standpoint."

"I did not say we can do it," Seamans added. "I personally think it may be possible. I can't assure you anything can be done."

Chenoweth wanted to know if the goal was important enough to bend every national effort toward it, even to the extent of changing the national economy.

Seamans said he thinks NASA should have an extra $42.6 million for the Apollo space laboratory development. That was the amount cut from the program by the Budget Bureau.

Seamans asked five million dollars more for an additional tracking station for Project Mercury, the man in orbit program that leads to the more advanced Apollo concept.

Lone Man On Some Ballots

San Rafael High School District voters will go to 14 polling places Tuesday to cast their ballots for a trustee for the Marin Junior College District.

Only one candidate is on the ballot—incumbent Kent Seymour.

"It's a waste of time and money," said county clerk George Jones. But the settting up of the polling places is required by law, although Seymour has no opposition and San Rafael voters have no other measures to vote on. The San Rafael city school election was held last Monday.

POLLS ALREADY SET

Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools, explained that the number of polling places are determined by the number of registered voters, and are organized and established even before it is known how many candidates will be running.

Four or five county precincts are consolidated into one school precinct, he noted. Three clerks will be on duty at each of the 14 polls in the San Rafael district.

(Voters in the Tamalpais Union High School District also vote for the college trustee, as well as for their own district's bond issue and trustees.)

WRITE-INS POSSIBLE

"From a practical matter we probably won't get a great turnout," Blackmore said. But "as an agency charged with conducting the election, we can't go on practical considerations." There is also the possibility of write-ins, he noted.

The situation was complicated this year because the 1959 legislature changed school trustee terms to four years, with elections every two years.

Petitions Hit Attempt At Censorship

Two petitions were filed yesterday at the Mill Valley City Hall opposing any attempt by the city to censor the sale of publications at the city-owned bus depot.

One petition asked that the city apoligize to newstand operator Maggie Grant.

The petitions were initiated as a result of Councilman George D. Monardo's request April 5 that something be done about the "trash" magazines on sale to grade school children at the depot.

The matter will come before the city council at its meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

One petition with 50 signatures, started by Beth Coffelt of 17 Madrone Avenue, stated its support of the intelligence and integrity of Maggie Grant in the operation of the stand. It said, secondly, "We declare our opposition to arbitrary censorship of books and book selling either by act or by implication by unauthorized city officials."

Lastly, the petition asked that a public announcement of apology be made to Maggie Grant by the city council of Mill Valley in reparation for adverse and ill-deserved publicity regarding her book and magazine concession."

The second petition, with 250 signatures, was started by Mrs. Archibald D. Gillis of 123 Melrose Avenue and Mrs. Thomas W. Stone of 250 Tamalpais Avenue.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

VACATION ENDS — Ike, Mamie leave California.

Ike On Way Home

The Soviet Union has not dealt a major blow to United States prestige by orbiting a man in space because "it's not necessary to be first in everything."

He won't comment on a statement attributed to Robert Welch of the controversial John Birch Society that Eisenhower had been a tool of the Communists because: "I don't think I should give him (Welch) or the organization that much importance."

Tanned and rested from his two months in Palm Springs, Eisenhower chatted amiably at a press conference before leaving by train last night for the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Woman Kidnaped

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Thelma Meyer, 40, was kidnaped and robbed of $2,100 yesterday by a gunman who hid in her car while she was in a bank picking up money to cash payroll checks at her bar.

Mrs. Meyer told police the man pointed a gun at her as she got into the car and ordered her to drive to the Twin Peaks area. He grabbed the money and her car keys and fled on foot.

Strike Talks Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiators representing some 7,500 striking Bay Area machinists said today they are ready to resume talks in hopes of ending their week-long walkout against 127 metal working firms. But they said it appeared unlikely that any talks would be scheduled until Monday.

To Appoint Poole

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy today announced he will appoint Cecil F. Poole, a Negro San Francisco lawyer, as United States attorney for the northern district of California.

If the Senate confirms him, Poole will be the first Negro to serve as a U.S. district attorney in the continental United States.

Poole is Gov. Edmund G. Brown's clemency secretary.

$200,000 For Fibber

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marian Jordan—Molly of the Fibber McGee and Molly comedy team —left an estate of $200,000 in trust for her husband, James Jordan.

The will, filed yesterday for probate, also bequeathed a total of $36,000 to a dozen friends and relatives.

Mrs. Jordan, 61, died April 7 of cancer.

Saves Crew

BOSTON (UPI) — A captain's iron-nerved decision to stick with his broken ship until the last possible minute saved the entire crew of the ill-fated Marine Merchant, officials said today.

A Coast Guard spokesman said that if Capt. Robert P. Ruse, 37, of Baltimore, Md., skipper of the converted Liberty ship, had ordered his men into lifeboats when the vessel first ran into trouble they probably would have perished in the churning seas.

The 441-foot Marine Merchant, bound from Port Sulphur, La. to Portland, Me. with a cargo of sulphur, broke in half 55 miles east of Portsmouth, N.H., about midnight yesterday. The 35-man crew escaped.

Negro State Asked

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Elijah Muhammad, leader of the Black Muslim organization, has urged the founding of a separate state within the United States for Negroes and believes 20 million members of his race would unit with him in the venture.

"I want to unit my people and start them on their way to something other than lying at the doorsteps of the white man begging," the 63-year-old head of the extremist sect said at a press conference yesterday.

'Batman' Figure Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Walburga Oesterreich, whose fantastic affair with a lover who hid for years in her attic startled the nation 30 years ago, is dead at 75.

Her death April 8 came to light yesterday when her will was filed for probate.

She willed her multi-million dollar estate to Ray Bert Hedrick, 65, her business manager whom she married only two weeks before she died.

And what of Otto Sanhuber, whose tale of hiding in his mistress' garrets in Milwaukee and Los Angeles — coming out only when her husband was away— brought him the sobriquet "Batman"?

He dropped from sight after he was convicted in 1930 of manslaughter in the shooting Aug. 22, 1922, of Fred Oesterreich, Milwaukee garment manufacterer.

The statute of limitations had expired, so he was freed. His whereabouts since have been a mystery.

Riot Broken Up

About 100 demonstrators shouting "Cuba yes, Yankees no" tried to reach the ministry of education but were blocked by police detachments.

Brown Vows Anti-Bias Efforts

Brown said today he will try to "put the full power of government behind the effort to eliminate discrimination in the field of housing."

In a speech prepared for delivery to a statewide conference called by the California Committee for Fair Practices, Brown said:

TO PUBLICIZE BILL

The conference, with 350 delegates expected, was called to publicize a bill pending in the legislature which would prohibit refusal to sell or rent housing solely on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry.

The bill, by Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Los Angeles), would ban discrimination in "publicly assisted" housing.

The new measure would extend the ban to all housing, except single residences occupied by the owner, and give inforcement powers to the State Fair Employment Practices Commission, also established in 1959.

OUTLINES PENALTIES

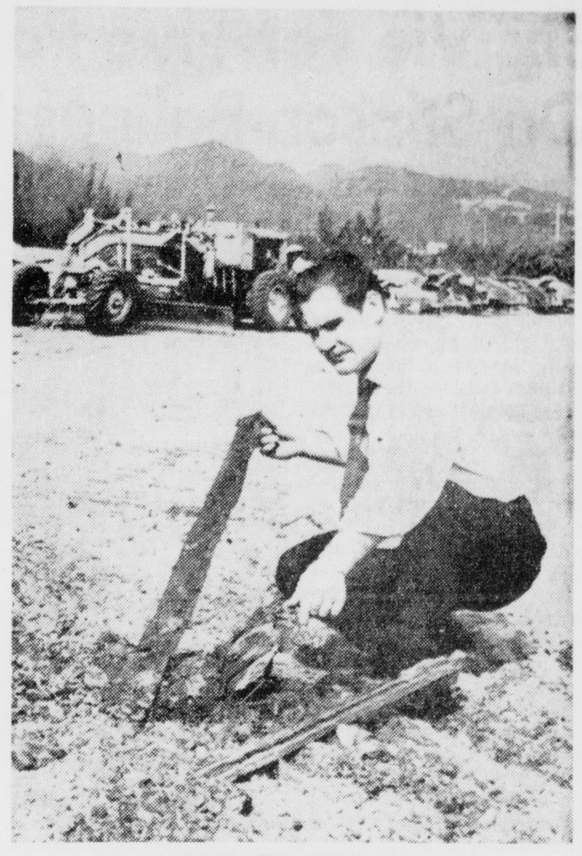
It would provide penalties, upon conviction in court, of up to six months in jail and a $500 fine, but would try to prevent or eliminate violations without the necessity of court action.

Brown said he endorses Hawkin's bill "in principle."

"I cannot speak for the legislature and tell you the exact form this bill will finally take. There may be revisions . . .

"I will accept reasonable compromises in form. None in principle."

The bill has cleared the Assembly Governmental Efficiency Committee, and is scheduled to be heard by the Ways and Means Committee Monday night.



END OF LEHI IV

Adventurer DeVere Baker sifts through the ashes of his historic eight-ton raft Lehi IV in Honolulu. He sailed the raft from California to Hawaii in 1958 in an attempt to prove a theory of his that the Polynesians originated in South America and drifted on rafts to the South Pacific. Baker had gone recently to Hawaii to claim the raft as a museum piece but all he found were ashes and charred boards. (AP Wirephoto).

Million-Dollar Electric Line Work Under Way

Work has started on construction of a new 9.6-mile, high-voltage electrical transmission line between Ignacio and San Rafael substations of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., it was announced today by electrical superintendent Leonard O. Robertson.

A contractor has started pile driving in the section of the line between San Quentin Road and Point San Pedro Road, an area of unstable soil where piles must be used, capped with concrete.

Materials are being delivered for the company's own "footing crews" to start pouring concrete in areas where this can be done without need for piles.

The new line is to be in operation by next Oct. 31, according to Robertson.

"We're giving Marin County the best quality electricity we can right now, but this line will provide more of it," quipped Robertson.

Costing $1,058,000, the new steel towers will add a 110,000-volt line to the already existing line which it will parallel which already carries two 60,000-vote circuits. The new towers will have capacity for another 110,000-volt line to be added later as demand rises.

Result of the new line will be to provide additional power for Marin from Sierra Nevada powerhouses and Bay Area steam generating plants.

Six Vie For Five Positions On Stinson-Bolinas Board

Five Incumbents Of Old Trustees Units On Ballot

(This is the last of a series of stories introducing candidates for school boards in districts where there are contests for board membership on the Tuesday ballot.)

A brand new school district, Bolinas-Stinson Beach Elementary School District, finds six candidates for the five positions on its first board in Tuesday's election.

Five of the six are incumbents of either the Bolinas or the Stinson Beach board. The two boards, which have been working jointly, go out of existence after the election as the two districts have combined into one.

Also on the ballot in the new district is a $1.20 general purpose tax limit. Former rates were $1.01 in Bolinas and $1.19 in Stinson Beach. Override tax of six to eight cents for retirement, etc., is additional to the proposed limit.

The six candidates for the new board are Mrs. Roberta E. Shockey, Mrs. Blanche Eustis, Arthur E. Carpenter, Mrs. Joyce Huntley, Henry B. Lacaze and Rolland M. McCready. All except McCready have been serving on one or the other of the former boards.

Here is a rundown on the candidates:

ARTHUR E. CARPENTER

ARTHUR E. CARPENTER, 41, of Lower County Road, Bolinas, is a designer and maker of furniture. He has served three years on the Bolinas School District board.

Carpenter and his wife, Joan, have a daughter and son in school.

He was born in New York City, has a B.A. degree from Dartmouth University, and took post-graduate work at Columbia University. He was a lieutenant in Navy intelligence in World War II, serving in the South Pacific and acquiring four battle stars.

He says his platform is to retain teachers of stature in the new district and insure them an environment that will enable them to work to capacity.

BLANCHE EUSTIS, 67, is the wife of Alvin A. Eustis Sr. of Stinson Beach. She taught school in Oakland until her retirement in 1957, and at one time was a county schools superintendent in Washington. Two sons live in Berkeley and Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Eustis is a member of Stinson Beach Allied Arts, Progressive Club of Stinson Beach and the Order of Eastern Star.

She was born in Elliott, Iowa, attended Eastern Washington College and received her A.B. degree from Washington State University.

Mrs. Eustis has served three years on the Stinson Beach School Board, being clerk throughout her service. "We are proud of the unionization of the Bolinas and Stinson Beach Schools. We hope to keep the unionization running smoothly and efficiently. Therefore I hope to be elected to serve on the union board," she says.

BLANCHE EUSTIS

JOYCE HUNTLEY, an incumbent of the Bolinas board, is the wife of Boyd Huntley and the mother of four children, three of whom are in school.

Mrs. Huntley is a graduate of University of California and is working for a teacher's credential at San Francisco State College.

HENRY B. LACAZE, 45, of Willow Avenue, Stinson Beach, is a plumbing contractor and operates the Stinson Beach garbage service. He has been a member of the Stinson Beach School District board for eight years.

Lacaze and his wife, June, have two sons in school. Lacaze is a member of the Stinson Beach Progressive Club, Stinson Beach Community Center, Volunteer Fire Department and Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce.

He was born in Napa and graduated from Napa High School. He and Mrs. Lacaze have been Stinson Beach co-chairmen of the March of Dimes for 15 years.

ROBERTA E. SHOCKEY is the wife of Kenneth Shockey of Stinson Beach and has served eight years on the Stinson Beach School District board. The Shockeys have two sons attending Tamalpais High School and one attending Stinson Beach School.

Mrs. Shockey is a member of the Progressive Club, Stinson Beach Allied Arts and Parent-Teacher Club. She is one of the producers of the annual Stinson Beach Wild Flower Show.

ROLLAND M. McCREADY, 45, of Stinson Beach is a chemist in sugar beet research at the Western Regional Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Albany, Contra Costa County. He and his family have resided in Stinson Beach for five years. Mr. and Mrs. McCready have three children in school.

McCready was born in Malta, Mont. He has a Ph.D. degree from University of California, from which he also received his A. B. His parents and a sister were school teachers.

Yowling Cat Eludes San Rafael Police

San Rafael police may yet have to organize a safari to capture an elusive animal on San Rafael hill.

They spent about a half hour yesterday around noon time tramping through grass and woods near Curtis Avenue after a woman reported she saw a big cat with a long tail with rings on it.

Mrs. R. F. Bjorn of 47 Curtis Avenue said the animal was yowling. She saw it run through the grass down the hill

On Thursday night Martha Babin of 40 Curtis Avenue told police she saw a large animal balance itself on a tree limb, then walk along a rail down the hill. She described it as yellowish color with darker stripes.

Police said the description was definitely not that of a mountain lion. They found nothing on the hill except an alley cat, they said.

Baseball Season Under Way—Four Injured

Four Marin boys proved baseball season is under way—even in Marin County—as they suffered minor injuries in three accidents Thursday.

Eugene Sapporetti of 2021 Hatch Road, Novato, and Barry Schwartzburg, of 20 Gertrude Lane, Novato, both 12-year-olds, collided as they were trying to haul in the same fly ball during a noon baseball game at the Hill School in Novato. Eugene was treated in Novato General Hospital for a cut on his lip and Barry went to the same hospital with a tooth missing.

Ronald Lindermann, of 13 Cypress Avenue, Kentfield, 8-year-old student at the Wolfe Grade School in Kentfield was accidentally struck on the head with a baseball bat during a ball game at the school. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises on his forehead and nose.

Stephen Purcell of 28 El Cerrito Avenue, San Anselmo, a student at Sir Francis Drake High School, was treated in Marin General Hospital for a bruised right leg after he was struck with a baseball at the high school.

Jewish Humor To Be Discussed

Jewish humor will be discussed by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Freehof at a special program tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael.

The Freehofs will analyze Jewish humor throughout history, and will present a variety of readings in English, from Jewish literature. Freehof is the director of Sinai Memorial Chapel in San Francisco, and Mrs. Freehof is an instructor at the institute for Jewish Studies.

There is no admission charge to center members for this event, which is open to the public.

Castro intelligence officer.

"I alerted the other two and we decided that the coward had betrayed us. We decided to take action at once," the pilot said.

He said it was because of this "treachery" that he and the others decided to "give him a lesson" with a strafing and bombing run over air base installations on their way to freedom. He said he struck at his own base—San Antonio de los Banos—and the other pilots hit other bases.

"I circled the field and dropped my load of bombs on it," the flier said. Later, in his statement to immigration authorities, he mentioned only strafing.

He said as he twisted his plane through small arms and anti-aircraft fire, "I heard explosions and saw flames."

The first of the bombers landed at Boca Chica. The pilot was taken into custody by U.S. Navy and boarder patrol officers.

Ahrens said a second man may have been aboard in the landing in Key West.

Have A Nice Weekend —After Deductions

This may spoil your weekend, but Uncle Sam and Cousin California are both looking for your income tax returns by Monday at the latest.

Federal and state income tax returns must be mailed with the postmark not later than midnight Monday. Penalties will be imposed after that.

Jury Trial Set For Woman Who Kicked Out Glass

A Mill Valley housewife, accused of kicking out a pane of glass and attacking a deputy sheriff at Sabella's Restaurant Thursday morning, faces a jury trial next month.

She appeared before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court yesterday and pleaded innocent to charges of malicious mischief and battery against Deputy Sheriff Boyd Burnham.

The judge set the jury trial for May 29 and May 31.

Deputy Burnham said he was questioning Mrs. Patricia M. Jackson, 35, of 61 Linden Lane, Mill Valley, about the broken door pane at the restaurant when she suddenly started hitting him on the head with her fists.

Students Plan Bond Statements

Redwood High School students will have a chance for rebuttal of statements made during a radio station KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" broadcast on the Tamalpais Union High School District bond issue yesterday.

Following the broadcast, several Redwood students called the station to object to statements made by some of the panel members.

Kitty Oppenheimer has announced that Donald Deane, student body vice president, and Michael Spencer, student commissioner of public relations, will be given a chance to air their own versions of the bond issue on "Kitty Oppenheimer's Open House" over the station at 11 a.m. Monday.

Mother Given Custody Right

Corte Madera attorney J. W. Ehrlich's daughter, Dora Jane Ehrlich Cherney has been given temporary custody of her two sons in Superior Court in San Francisco.

Her husband, singer Guy Cherney, whom she sued for divorce last January, has had temporary custody of the boys. In the bitter court fight yesterday he charged his wife was an "unfit mother."

Attorney Ehrlich has agreed to pay the $800 cost of summer camp for his grandsons, Joseph 13, and David, 10, and the cost of attending San Rafael Military Academy. They will enter the school in September.

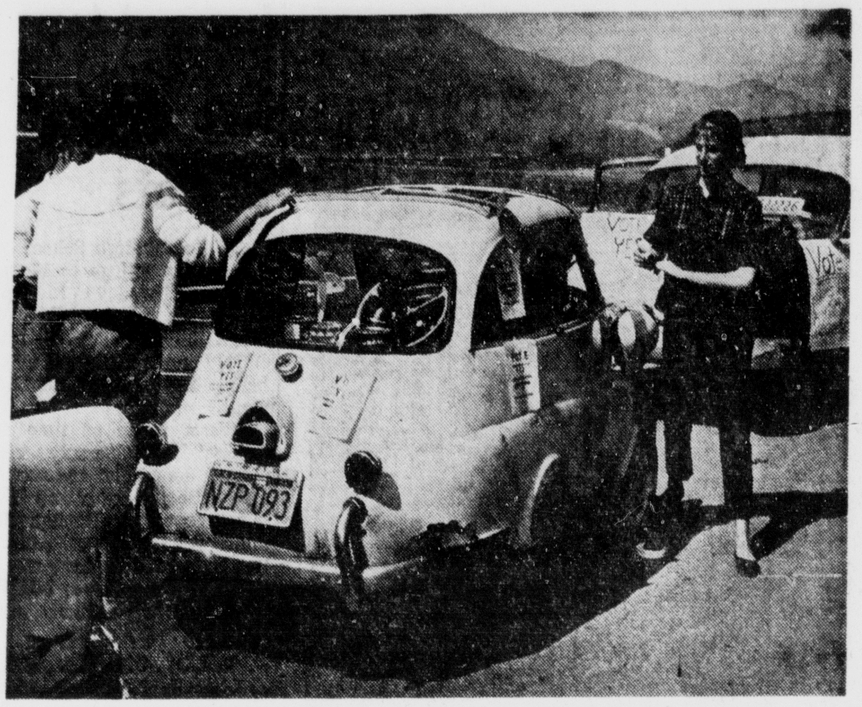
Groundbreaking Rites Scheduled By Church

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a new $69,000 education unit addition to the Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda will be held tomorrow after the 10:30 a.m. worship service, announced Charles Convis, building committee chairman.

The six class-room structure is to be completed this summer. Participating at the groundbreaking will be Howard Robie, director of New Work for the North Coastal Area of the Synod of California, United Presbyterian Church in the USA, Pastor Upshaw and members of the congregation.



MOTORCADE PLUGS FOR BONDS

Youngsters of the Tamalpais High School District plastered their jalopies with banners and signs this morning to whoop it up for the $3 million bond issue that is up for election next Tuesday. The car parade started from Greenbrae Lanes and wound through Ross Valley and South Marin. Getting her little "bug" ready for the motorcade is driver Nancy Prather of Drake High (back to camera). Helping her are Maxine Biedron of Lagunitas School and Margaret Prather of Drake. (Independent-Journal photo.)

Railroad Worker Acquitted Of Robbing Airman

A Marin Superior Court jury of five men and seven women deliberated for almost six hours yesterday and acquitted a railroad worker from San Francisco of a robbery charge.

R. D. Henderson, 39, of San Francisco was accused of hitting an airman over the head and robbing him of $30 north of Novato last Oct. 24. Airman 2/c Jerry A. Worthen told the jury that Henderson gave him a ride from San Francisco.

Instead of stopping at Hamilton, Worthen said Henderson drove north, beat him up, and took his watch and $30 in cash.

Henderson, defended by Carl Sharpiro, contended that the airman was asleep in his car until they were near Novato, then woke up and wanted to go back to Hamilton Field. Henderson said he was in a hurry and dropped the airman off north of Novato.

Nursery Manager Is Found Guilty

James E. Lewis of 206 Solano Avenue, San Rafael, was convicted after a trial before Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating. Lewis' attorney, Richard Gladstein, said he would ask for a new trial. The judge set 12 noon of next Tuesday as the time to hear the motion for a new trial or for judgement.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Hadden W. Roth presented witnesses to show that Lewis had committed lewd and lascivious acts against three girls, two 3 years old, and the other age 12. Lewis denied this.

Bach, Mozart Music Scheduled Tomorrow

Music of Bach, Marcello and Mozart will be presented in the third of a series of four Baroque concerts to be presented at Angelica Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael at 8 p.m. tomorrow by the San Rafael Baroque Orchestra. The program is sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation Department, the Dominican College Department of Music, and the Symphony Guild of Marin.

Soloists include Jean Marie Maguire, cellist; Faith France, pianist; Everett O'Bannon, violinist; and Frank Barbaria, clarinetist.

CONTRACT DUE APRIL 25

Education Board Opens Laurell Dell School Bids

Robert S. Miller of San Rafael submitted the low bid of $191,777 last night for construction of the new Laurel Dell Intermediate School at Lovell and Bond Streets in San Rafael.

The Board of Education opened eight bids received on the project last night, but postponed awarding a contract until after the bonds are sold April 25. The award will be made at a board meeting that night.

The bids ranged as high as $210,000 from Inland Pacific Construction Co. of San Francisco. The others were between the low bid and $204,000.

The architect's estimate for the school was $190,000—$208,000. The building will have nine classrooms, library and administrative offices.

The board hopes for completion by September, or soon after. Albert Siemer was appointed inspector for the project.

In another matter, the board appointed assistant superintendent Raymond Simpson acting secretary for its organizational meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the board office.

The board, including the new members elected Tuesday, will meet to elect officers, appoint a secretary and set meeting dates.

The new members will be sworn in before the meeting at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Forest Knolls Man Arrested On Checks Charge

Raymond Robert Tokarz, 35, unemployed, was arrested last night at his Forest Knolls home on suspicion of passing a series of bad checks at various grocery stores during the past month.

Assistant Chief Sam N. Serio of San Anselmo said he has five checks passed by Tokarz, drawn on the Fairfax branch of Bank of America. The checks range from $10 to $15 each. Sheriff's Deputies Robert Bertram and Ray Von Savoye, and Serio arrested Tokarz at his home on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Boy 'Shoots' Self With Bullet, Hammer

A 15-year-old boy at St. Vincent's School for Boys "shot" himself in the right leg without a gun Thursday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

William Edward Boyle, a student at the school, hit a .22 caliber bullet with a hammer, according to Deputy Arthur Wiggins. The bullet exploded, and a fragment hit the boy's lower right leg, inflicting a minor wound. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

Tam Juniors Will Attend Boys State

Two juniors from Tamalpais High School were chosen last night to attend California Boys State in Sacramento from June 17 through 24 this year.

They are Lawrence Hamilton, 17, chosen by Mill Valley American Legion Post 284, and Allan Putney, 17, picked by Bolinas Post 529. The two will get an all-expenses-paid trip to Boys State.

Two alternates picked by the American Legion posts are Robert Scott and John Meacham.

Israel Military Aide Arrested As Spy

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Col. Israel Baer, one of Israel's top military experts, has been arrested on charges of spying for the Communists, the government announced tonight.

Officials said American and NATO intelligence services turned up the information that led to Baer's arrest.

Clifford K. Badger, Chairman; Dr. Ellen Binckley, Vice-Chairman

Increased Cost Seen If School Bonds Delayed

Postponement of the purchase of additional high school sites for the Tamalpais Union High School District—an item included in the proposed three million dollar bond issue on Tuesday's ballot could cost people of the district about $40,000 per year.

This was the warning issued today by Edward W. Colthurst, Corte Madera mayor and chairman of the campaign committee for the bonds.

The proposed bond issue, which goes before the voters Tuesday, includes $604,100 for the acquisition of two sites for future use.

Colthurst said the district bond committee made a recent survey of rising real estate values. It determined that an average 6½ per cent rise in property costs is indicated by experience over the past 10 years.

This would mean the people of the district will have to pay about $40,000 per year "for the privilege of postponing the obtaining of these sites," Colthurst said.

The campaign chairman pointed to the steadily rising costs in Marin County, of labor, materials, and land acquisition.

With the tremendous growth in Marin," acquiring prime or preferred sites becomes increasingly more difficult.

"The fact that these sites are necessary is reasonable and unrefutable . . . ," Colthurst said.

He noted that at the last bond election 60 per cent of the voters approved the issue, but the 40 per cent who turned it down "cost the citizens of this district a total of $40,000." A two-thirds vote is necessary for passage of the bond issue.

"The large property owners of Marin County who understand this situation and who, because of their holdings pay the largest share of the taxes, are unanimous in hoping that this will not be done again," he concluded.

Police Officers Get Diplomas

Michael Berney, Robert Alberigi and Theodore Zink, Sausalito police officers all hired in November of last year, were graduated from the academy.

Officer James Goodwin, hired about a year ago on the Fairfax Police Department, was also graduated from the 14-week police course.

Attempted Murder Charge Dismissed

Charges of attempted murder against Warner Hermann Hauffe, 31, were dropped by Marin Municipal Court Judge Joseph Wilson upon recommendation of Deputy District Attorney Charles Convis, because the complaining witness has disappeared.

Hauffe was accused of attempting to murder William Eagle, 31, of Forrest Terrace, Fairfax, on March 26, with a machete. Hauffe pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court on March 27. The preliminary hearing had been set for yesterday.

PROMOTED—Abel DeHaan Jr. of 701 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, was elected vice president of Tracerlab Corp., President S. S. Auchincloss announced today. DeHaan will continue his responsibilities as general manager of the company's Reactor Monitoring Center in Richmond.

Electronic Engineers Advise College Faculty

Seven electronics engineers from private industry met this week as an advisory committee to College of Marin engineering faculty to determine the needs of the community for trained electronic engineering technicians.

They are Ray E. Brown, Fairchild Semiconductor Corp., San Rafael; William E. Thiele, RCA Communications Inc., Point Reyes; P. W. Peterson, Hughes Aircraft, Hamilton Air Force Base; M. J. Lamperti, Star Delta Electrical Co., San Francisco; John Kaufman, Lewis and Kaufman, San Carlos and Charles Walsh, TV Center, San Rafael.

According to Carlton Cherry, chairman of the engineering, mathematics and science division at the college, the electronics industry will soon need three electronic technicians for every electronic engineer.

"There are immediate openings at excellent starting salaries for well trained technicians," Cherry said. "We think more students should be aware of the fine opportunities in this field."

The college offers a two-year program in electronic engineering technology. Equipment for the student laboratory is being given to the college by Fairchild, RCA and Lewis and Kaufman firms.

The committee will meet again in May to discuss methods of encouraging students in the program.

New Montecito Center Building Slated For July

A single-story commercial building now under construction on Mary Street near Third Street across from the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, is expected to be completed by the end of July.

Owner George E. Lefevre, proprietor of George's San Rafael Recreation Parlor, said the structure will be L-shaped with approximately 3,500 square feet of space, partitioned for two stores and two offices. It will be built of Haydite blocks and steel. Off-street parking will be provided for 10 or 12 cars. The building is being constructed by San Rafael contractor Earl L. Ward Jr.

Camera Toll Taker At Bridge?

A Mill Valley man told the Golden Gate Bridge Board yesterday they should consider using a camera instead of a toll taker to collect fares across the bridge.

H. C. Brown, in a letter to Marin director Leland S. Murphy, proposed one lane be kept open in each direction for out of state cars to pay a cash toll, one lane be kept open for trucks, and all other lanes be equipped with cameras which would photograph the rear end of every car passing through the toll lanes.

A bridge employee would then scan the photos, and send a bill to the owner of the car each month.

He said the bridge tolls would be paid much the way a householder pays his utility bills.

The directors laughingly referred the prosposal to the finance committee.

Anderson Slates Marin Visit

Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson will visit Marin Tuesday to speak informally at a joint meeting of the Tiburon Peninsula Democratic Club and the Sausalito Democratic Club.

The meeting will be held in the banquet room at Zack's Restaurant, Bridgeway and Turney, Sausalito at 8:15 p.m.

Anderson will discuss the State Administration's legislative program, the election outlook for 1962, and politics in general.

High School Students Doing Average Work At College

Of 21 Marin County high school students taking regular credit courses at College of Marin, 80 per cent are doing C work or better, midterm reports revealed today.

These students are considered by their high school instructors and counselors as "capable of doing college level work." The program, initiated during the current school year, allows these selected students to take college work in addition to their high school courses.

The students took a total of 27 subjects including mathematics, history, English, French, geology, chemistry, and health education.

THERE'S A CLUB FOR YOU

You May Be Fat And Jolly But Do You Eat Too Much?

Fat men, step forward. You're wanted.

You are, that is, if you'd like to get thin.

Overeaters Anonymous, which last year organized an all-female chapter in Marin as result of a story in the Independent-Journal, would like to become co-educational.

Its San Francisco president, who styles himself only "Robert G." in accord with the overeaters' anonymity, today wrote the I-J:

"I am wondering if there may not also be some men in Marin County who also have a compulsive eating problem serious enough to affect their health. Excessive weight is a bigger killer of men than women; also I believe men are just as concerned about their appearance as women are of theirs. We are not just talking about people suffering from massive overweight problems exclusively, but also those who are only 10 to 15 per cent over their 'fighting weight.'

"I would welcome an inquiry from any man living in Marin County who wants to alter his eating habits in order to lose weight, but has found it difficult if not impossible to accomplish this alone."

The address is Overeaters Anonymous, Room 207, 228 McAllister Street, San Francisco 2.

If enough beefy Marin men sign up, presumably they might pair up with the 12 to 15 Marin women in Overeaters Anonymous who now get together each Monday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael. Together they could enjoy the pleasure of not overeating.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, April 15, the 105th day of the year with 260 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1843, Henry James, American and British novelist, essayist and critic was born.

In 1861, President Lincoln sent Congress a message recognizing a state of civil war.

In 1912, the luxury liner Titanic, making its maiden voyage from England to New York, hit an iceberg and sank. A total of 1,517 persons were killed.

Mac Saved By Another 'Bad Pitch'

Mike McCormick has thrown two bad pitches this season. One stuck him with the San Francisco Giants' only loss this year. The other helped him beat the Philadelphia Phils 2-0 last night at Candlestick Park.

Mahaffey ran into trouble early, walking three Giants, including leadoff man Felipe Alou, in the first inning. Alou scored on Mahaffey's only wild pitch.

McCormick didn't allow a hit until Ruben Amaro singled in the sixth. He didn't run into difficulty, however, until the seventh when Tony Taylor and Bobby Gene Smith singled. Ken Walters moved them along with a sacrifice and Pancho Herrera drew an intentional walk, loading the bases.

That's when McCormick got his big break.

Cal Neeman, backing away from a high inside pitch, tapped the ball to McCormick for an inning-ending double play.

"It was a fast ball and a bad pitch," McCormick said later. "I think he was trying to get out of the way of the ball and his bat hit it just enough."

Neeman nodded in the Phils' dressing room.

"I wasn't trying to hit that pitch," he said.

McCormick didn't give up another hit.

He lost the only game the Giants have lost this season on what he calls "one of the lousiest pitches I ever threw." That was when he served up a three-run home run pitch to Bill Virdon of Pittsburgh on opening day.

His "bad" pitch last night evened his record at 1-1.

There was virtually no wind at all in Candlestick Park and the 19,989 fans enjoyed the tense duel.

"That was the nicest weather I've ever played a night game in at this park," McCormick said.

Mahaffey lost a heartbreaker. He gave up just two scratch singles—to Alou and to Ed Bressoud—before Willie Mays scored the insurance run in the eighth inning. Willie belted a 380-foot homer to left field, his first four-bagger of the season.

Manager Alvin Dark credited Willie McCovey with "the best play of the game." It came on Amaro in the eighth. Bressoud's throw was high and wide of first base and McCovey made a fine grab and sweeping tag to nab Amaro.

Triplets Sparkle As Twins Triumph

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

What's in a name? They're the old Washington Senators but they've been re-named the Minnesota Twins and it might be more appropriate to call 'em the Cuban Triplets.

It's mighty confusing to baseball fans but no more than to American League rivals who have seen the Twins score victories over the two top-rated teams in the circuit for a 2-0 slate that has earned them a grip on first place.

The Twins, who opened their season with a 5-0 victory over the New York Yankees last Tuesday, made it two straight last night when they scored a 3-2 decision over the Baltimore Orioles. It was Pedro Ramos who tamed the Yankees and last night it was the combination of Camilo Pascual and Zorro Versalles that topped the Orioles.

Pascual sizzled with a 12-strikeout, five-hit performance while Versalles scored the Twins' first run after hitting a double and singled with two out in the seventh inning to drive in the decisive run. The Twins had tied the score in the sixth inning on singles by Lenny Green and Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison's sacrifice fly.

NEAR NO-HITTER

Frank Lary, missing the season's first no-hitter on Jim Lanis' scratch single, pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 7-0 win over the Chicago White Sox and rookie Joe McClain's seven-hitter enabled the new Washington Senators to down the Cleveland Indians, 3-2, in other American League games.

In the National League, a ninth-inning rally gave the Cincinnati Reds a 7-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals and their third straight victory of the season, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-0, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-3, and the Chicago Cubs defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2.

Eddie Kasko singled home the tie-breaking run and Vada Pinson followed with a two-run double for the big blows in a five-run ninth-inning uprising that carried the Reds to their third straight win. Jim Brosnan finished for the Reds but the triumph went to Bill Henry who pitched the seventh and eighth innings. Wally Post homered for the Reds and Stan Musial connected for the Cardinals.

GROAT'S BIG BLOW

Dick Groat's double was the big blow of a four-run third-inning rally which sparked the Pirates to their second win in four games. Joe Gibbon shut out the Dodgers until the eighth inning when Tommy Davis homered. Davis also singled home two runs in the ninth before Clem Labine retired the side. Groat, Roberto Clemente, Dick Stuart and Gino Cimoli each had two hits for the world champions.

Sammy Taylor's two-run ninth-inning homer gave the Cubs' Don Elston his first win of the year and dealt Milwaukee's Bob Buhl the defeat. The Braves had carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth on the strength of homers by Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron.

Boccabella's Homers Win For Santa Clara

SANTA CLARA (UPI)—Santa Clara and UCLA went 14 innings yesterday before the Broncs' John Boccabella ended the proceedings with a three-run homer.

The final score of the 4-hour 40 minute contest was 10-7. The loss knocked UCLA out of the CIBA lead.

Boccabella had a fabulous day at the plate with two homers, a double and single in six at-bats.

EX-HAMILTON GRIDDER HURT IN EXPLOSION

Franklin "Pepper" Rodgers, 29, backfield coach for the University of Florida and a former football star at Hamilton Air Force Base, was seriously injured yesterday in an ill-fated fishing expedition off St. Petersburg, Fla.

He, along with four other Florida coaches, a television executive and the skipper of the yacht "Hi-Way" suffered various degrees of burns and injuries when an explosion rocked the $42,000 vessel and set it afire. The yacht sank in 40 feet of water.

Rodgers was among the more seriously injured, suffering first, second and third degree burns. Last night the hospital report said his condition was "satisfactory."

Hospitalized with him were fellow coach Jim Powell, 39, and TV executive Ray Ellis, 56.

Less seriously injured were coaches Jimmy Dunn, John Donaldson and Jack Green and Capt. W. M. Black of Tampa, skipper of the boat.

MARIN LEAGUE

Novato, Tam, S.R. Win Track Meets

Novato, Tamalpais and San Rafael high schools' track and field squads ran, jumped and threw their talents to victories over Marin Athletic League opponents in dual meets yesterday.

Tam won two of three divisions with Drake, 65-48 in varsity and 64½-48½ in Class B, but Drake won Class C 43-33.

San Rafael swept all three divisions over Marin Catholic, 82-32 in A, 90-23 in B and 50-25 in C.

Jim Sewell once again paced Coach Ken Ruff's Novato varsity as he won the shot put with 45 feet, 2¼ inches and the high jump at 5-feet-8. He was the meet's only double winner.

High scoring honors of the afternoon went to Tam's Jim Mitchelle with three victories—120 high hurdles, 16.1 seconds; 180 low timber, 21.1 and the broad jump at 21 feet 6 inches.

Mitchelle's teammate, Lon Carter, won both the 100 and 220 sprints. He zipped across the century in 10.1 and the 220 in 22.1.

The meet's only other double winner was Drake's Lou Galetti. He high jumped 5-8 and pole vaulted 10 feet, spending most of the afternoon in the air.

The Class B meet had an interesting sprint dual between Drake's Fred Krug and Tam's Ellis Williams. Krug won the 75 in 8 seconds flat while Williams got some revenge with a beautiful 15.3 clocking in the 150. Fred Harris of Tam high jumped 5-7.

In Class C Drake's triumph was paced by Pete Metz' victories in the 75 (8.4) and the 150 (16.5).

San Rafael's triumph over Marin was paced by Jack Haney who won both sprints, but individual honors once again went to Marin's one-man gang, Rich Ongaro.

Ongaro won both hurdles, 15.9 over the highs and 20.7 over the lows, and tied in the high jump at 5-6.

Haney won the century in 10.6 and the 220 in 23.2.

NOVATO-REDWOOD

Varsity first places—120 H.H., Klapperich (N), 15.8 (stadium record); 880, French (N), 2:05.3; 100, Alesio (R), 10.6; 440, MacLaury (R), 55.; 180 L.H., Piere (N), 21.5 (stadium record); 220, Henderson (N), 23.6; Mile, Kennon (N), 5:02.3; 880 Relay, Novato, 1:37.1; Shot, Sewell (N), 45-2½; Disc, Cook (N), 116.5; High Jump, Sewell (N), 5-4; Broad Jump, Gossing (R), 19-4; Pole Vault, tie—McElroy (N), Kruezberger (R), Frater (R), 9-6.

The Novato Bs and Cs also left their respective Redwood opponents in the cinder dust. The Hornet B team led by Craig Bond beat Redwood, 62 to 42, while the C team put the Giants down 52-21. Bond, for the Bs, set a new stadium record with his running of the high hurdles in 10 seconds. He also tied Rick Basco of Redwood in the low hurdles with 14.8 seconds on the clock for another stadium record.

For the Novato Cs, the stars of the day were Jerry Foster and George Van Dyke. Foster was clocked with a winning 8.6 seconds in the 75-yard dash; 16.8 seconds in the 150-yard dash; and he managed a 16-foot, 5-inch leap in the broad jump.

TAM-DRAKE

Varsity first-place winners: 120 H. H., Mitchelle (T), 16.1; 100, Carter (T), 10.1; 440, Sullivan (D), 52.7; 880, Miller (D), 2:11.1; 180 L.H., Mitchelle (T), 21.1; 220, Carter (T), 22.1; Mile, Ketron (D), 4:57.0; 880 Relay, Tam, 1:36.6; High Jump, Galetti (D), 5-8; Broad Jump, Mitchelle (T), 21-6; Shot, Collins (D), 44-3; Discus, Powell (D), 130-9; Pole Vault, Galetti (D), 10-0.

SAN RAFAEL-MARIN

Varsity first places—120 H.H., Ongaro (M), 15.9; 880, Lathrop (SR), 2:05.6; 110, Haney (SR), 10.6; 440, Henderson (SR), 55.7; 180 L.H., Ongaro (M), 20.7; 220, Haney (SR), 23.2; Mile, Rhoades (SR), 10-7; High Jump, tie—Ongaro (M), McPhail (SR), 5-6; Shot Put, Nickel (SR), 44-8¾; Disc, McTavish (SR), 127-6; Broad Jump, Wilson (SR), 20-11; 880 Relay, San Rafael, 1:37.6.

The San Rafael Bs whipped Marin Catholic Bs by a huge 90 to 23 margin. Bob Goldstein had a lot to do with amassing points for the Bulldogs as he ran first in the 70-yard high hurdles with 10.2 seconds time; first in the 120-yard low hurdles with 14.7 seconds recorded, and won the high jump by sailing over at 5 feet, 4 inches.

Bob Olsen sparked the Bulldog C club to a 50 to 25 stamping of the Marin C team. The versatile Bulldog won the 75-yard dash in 8.5 seconds and the 150 sprint in 16.2 seconds. Then he walked out to the sandy pit and broad jumped 17 feet, 2 inches for another San Rafael win.

Drake Defeats Marin 2-1 On Malcom's HR

Lee Malcolm's two-run homer and southpaw Dave LeBeck's four-hit pitching yesterday carried the Drake High Pirates to a 2-1 victory over Marin Catholic in their final practice game of the season at Drake.

Malcolm's big blow came in the fourth inning with Larry Kline aboard on an error and gave Drake its seventh victory of the practice season against four losses. LeBeck, who went the distance, improved his personal record to three wins and only one loss as the Pirates look ahead to the opening of the Marin Athletic League round-robin schedule next Tuesday against San Rafael.

Marin's lone run yesterday came when John Odetto was hit by a pitched ball and Ken Bowerman slashed a single to drive him home.

NOVATO LOSES

In another practice game yesterday, the Napa Indians exploded for four runs in the seventh inning to defeat the tough luck Novato Hornets 6-2 at Novato.

Novato got its runs in the fifth inning when Joe Jones singled and Larry Hale homered.

Novato used four pitchers—Sam Young, Ron Grayson, Lu Haas and Don Scribner. Haas was the loser. Novato opens its league schedule Tuesday at Marin Catholic.

The other league opener sends Redwood against Tam at Tam. All games will start at 4 o'clock.

Spider Tries Comeback On TV Tonight

Tiger, 31, British Empire champion, is a 7-5 favorite although he was outpointed by Webb in London three years ago. The reason is obvious. While Spider, 29, has been gathering rust on his layoff, Tiger has been fighting, winning and improving.

In his last two starts, the muscular Nigerian flattened Wilfie Greaves in nine rounds to regain the empire 160-pound crown and stiffened Ace Armstrong in nine. It was Tiger's third straight victory over Armstrong and the first time the Ace was stopped. No one else has beaten Armstrong. Tiger is ranked third by Ring and No. 5 by the NBA.

Tiger's record is 39-11-2, including 11 kayos. Webb's record is 34-5, including 11 kayos. Neither has been stopped.

Meadow Club Tourney

Class A—Mrs. Ed Vest, 69-10—59; Mrs. John Lesoine, 70-10—60; Mrs. E. M. Brown, 71-10⅔—60⅓; Mrs. Clifford Morrill, 73-12⅔—60⅓.

Class C—Tie Mrs. L. J. Kerlin, 86-19⅓—66⅔; Mrs. F. M. McMurray, 89-22⅔—66⅓; Mrs. R. Dell Osso, 89-22—67; Mrs. Jack Cooper, 87-20—67.

Fairfax Woman Wins $150 Prize For Hole-In-One

Mrs. Ted Weitzel of Fairfax will receive a $150 merchandise order for her heroics on the Meadow Club golf course yesterday.

Mrs. Weitzel scored a hole-in-one on the 150-yard 11th hole at the Fairfax course, using a No. 5 iron. The feat was witnessed by Mrs. Paul Hartman Sr.

The merchandise order is a reward from the company that manufactures the ball she was using.

Stilt Tallies 51 In Marin Cage Feature

Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain showed off his amazing bag of tricks last night for the first time before a Marin County audience and led his barnstorming All-Stars to a 112-107 victory over the San Francisco 49er footballers-turned-basketballers in an exhibition game.

The game featuring the Philadelphia Warriors' great 7-foot-2 scoring champ was played at the Redwood High School gymnasium before a crowd of approximately 1,300 fans. About 600 seats were vacant.

Chamberlain was all the fans had heard of him as he scored 51 points, including many on hook shots that swished through from far outside. He treated the crowd to some fancy backwards stuffs and on defense frustrated the 49ers by blocking several shots.

49ER SCORERS

The 49ers made it a close game all the way, and trailed by only 48-52 at halftime. John Thomas, the former College of Pacific star, tallied 30 points for the gridders. Others on the 49er lineup and their scoring were Gordy Soltau 22, R. C. Owens 19, Bob St. Clair 17, Clyde Conner 15, Ed Henke 2, Y. A. Tittle 2. Matt Hazeltine didn't score.

The evening turned out to be an autograph collector's paradise. Besides the "name" athletes who played in the game, two spectators were kept busy signing their names—Jim Brown, the Cleveland Browns' great fullback, and Abe Woodson of the 49ers, a resident of Terra Linda.

Tam, Redwood Swim Teams Defeat League Opponents

Jeff McCreary won two first places, setting a school record in the process, to pace the Tamalpais High School swim team to a 61 - 34 victory over the Drake Pirates yesterday in their Marin League dual meet at Tam's pool.

McCreary churned through the water in the 50-yard freestyle in 24.1 seconds, beating by three-tenths of a second the school record set in 1959 by Gary Dahl. Jeff also picked up a first in the 100 back in 1:04.9.

In Class B competition, Drake's Terry Politi smashed two pool records with great performances in the 100 back and individual medley in times of 1:05.2 and 1:06.3, respectively.

Bill Kelsey of Drake won the 50 and 100 free as the little Pirates prevailed, 49-37.

REDWOOD WINS

The Redwood Giants, meanwhile, were getting on the victory scoreboard with a 67-27 decision over San Rafael, paced by Dick Chambers' victories in the 200 free, 2:08.4, and the 200 individual medley, 2:21.9.

The meet's only other double winner was San Rafael's Lou Yuvan with times of 1:08 in the 100 back and 24.6 in the 50 free.

Shillinger Named Ski Club Prexy

Danil Shillinger of San Anselmo this week was elected president of the Marin Ski Club at its annual election of officers meeting at Brookside School in San Anselmo.

Others elected to the slate were Barry Evergettis of San Anselmo, first vice president; Kick Kure, San Anselmo, second vice president; Cathy Massavelli, San Anselmo, recording secretary; Bobbie Rogers, San Anselmo, corresponding secretary; Joy Best, Kentfield, treasurer; Ron Foster, Novato, housing chairman.

Another highlight of the meeting was the presentation of trophies for the club's recent annual race at Sugar Bowl. Alan Best of Kentfield won first award for men, followed by Scott Watterworth, second, and Ron Foster, third.

For the women, Joy Best was first, Millie Culbertson and Millie Dunshee tied for second and Claire Gannon third.

Archdiocese Teen Mission Set For Marin

It Will Be First For Teenagers CYO Has Held In County

It is for teenagers only and it is the first time it has ever been held in Marin County.

That is how the Catholic Youth Organization describes its Teen Mission to begin tomorrow for Marinites at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael and in other Bay Area cities. The mission in San Rafael will be held from 8 to 9:15 p.m. daily through next Friday.

It will be conducted by Fathers Eugene Zimmers, S.J., and Eugene Schallert, S.J., of the University of San Francisco and will be highlighted by a series of talks each evening on the spiritual and social life of teenagers.

"Do you have trouble getting along with your teachers and classmates? What about your dating life? Have you forgotten about God? Do you sometimes wonder what it really means to be a Catholic? These are some of the questions stated in the announcement of the mission that will be answered and discussed.

Transportation for teenagers from the other parishes of the county to St. Raphael's Church will be provided by the members of the National Council of Catholic Women under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Rasella, 81 Montford Avenue, Mill Valley.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

Registration Still Open For Laymen's School

The first Marin County classes of the Bay Area Laymen's School of Religion were held this week, but it is still not too late to register, said Mrs. Richard S. Harding, a student and resident of 107 Helen's Lane, Mill Valley.

The classes, taught by leading professors in Bay Area seminaries, will be held for Marinites at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo every Monday through May 18.

From 1 to 3 p.m. in Alexander Hall, a class on the "Synoptic Gospels and Jesus" is taught by Dr. Neill Q. Hamilton, professor of New Testament at the host seminary. The class is a study of Matthew, Mark and Luke "as they contribute to understanding the ministry and proclamation of Jesus," states the bulletin.

A 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. class on the "Personal Ministry of the Laity" is taught by Dr. Lyn Elder, professor at Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in Mill Valley. It will be held in Geneva Hall, Room 2, and is described as "a consideration of how the Christian layman can minister to the needs of persons whom he meets in his daily life."

The purpose of the Laymen's School of Religion says Dean Muriel James of Berkeley, is to provide "a systematic comprehensive theological education for laymen." Classes may be audited or taken for credit. Students may register at the class meeting. The tuition fee is $12, states the bulletin. Further information may be obtained by contacting Dean James through the school's Post Office Box 655, Berkeley.

"The Church believes in the 'Priesthood of All Believers,'" said Rev. James. "It challenges Christians to minister to each other and to the world. It implies that they are called to study the Christian faith. With this study the layman will be able to witness more effectively in the Church and in the world."

Arizona Missionaries Will Address Baptists

Rev. and Mrs. Perry Jackson of Cottonwood, Ariz., will be speakers for the missionary emphasis night at the First Baptist Church in Corte Madera tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The Jacksons are missionaries to the Yavapai, Supai, Walapai and Apache Indians in the area.

At 9 p.m., following this service, the West Bay Assn. of the Baptist Youth Fellowship will meet in the church with Rev. J. Bryant Wright, Director of Christian Education and Camping for the American Baptist Union.

CHURCH WILL MARK 5TH YEAR WITH BANQUET

The Fifth Anniversary of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novato will be celebrated at a 7 p.m. banquet tonight at Rickey's Rancho Raphael in Nicasio.

Guest speaker at the affair will be Rev. Walter Hellman, executive vice president of the South Pacific District of the American Lutheran Church. He will also speak at the church's only worship service at 11 a.m. tomorrow, said Pastor Ole Winter.

A year after organizing, the congregation moved into a new $40,000 sanctuary on South Novato Boulevard, south of Midway Street. Originally the members met at Druids Hall in Novato.

Mormon Heads Will Address Stake Meeting

Elder Delbert L. Stapley, a member of the Council of the Twelve Apostles, and Elder Mark B. Garff, a member of the General Welfare Committee, of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) in Salt Lake City, will be the featured speakers tonight and tomorrow at a conference of the church's Santa Rosa Stake.

Conducting the conference will be stake president Weston Lawrence Roe of 278 Alameda De La Loma, Novato.

Sunday's general sessions, to which the public is invited, will be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Veteran's Memorial Hall in Petaluma, announced president Roe.

Saturday, special meetings will be held for priesthood leaders, and local officials of the welfare program at 8 p.m.

Prayer's Power Will Be Lecturer's Topic

The practical power of prayer, base don spiritual understanding of God, will be the topic of a public lecture on Christian Science to be given in Sausalito Thursday by Elbert R. Slaughter of Dallas, Texas.

On nationwide tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Slaughter will speak in the gate Playhouse, 668 Bridgeway, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Sausalito, announced Mrs. Earl James, publicity chairman. His subject will be "Christian Science: Its explanation of the business of living."

Counselor To Speak

Glen Dale Hofstetter, assistant in counseling at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael will be the congregations guest speaker at both tomorrow's 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services, announced Pastor Wesley C. Baker. Hofstetter, who is a senior at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, will speak on "Confidence in Faith and Doubt."

Bartenders Out Front

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Census Bureau figures reveal that the nation has 193,467 bartenders and 167,471 clergymen.

Psychologist Will Lecture

Dr. Aaron John Ungersma will be the guest speaker at the family dinner program at Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church, 100 Tarry Road, San Anselmo, tomorrow at 5 p.m.

Doctor Ungersma is professor of pastoral psychology at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. He did post-doctoral research at Purdue University and at Vienna and from 1944-46 was a navy chaplain in the Seventh Fleet.

Arrangements for the pot luck dinner are being made by Mrs. John Morrison, 11 Van Winkle, San Anselmo.

Around The World

Miss Carol Cleminshaw, a graduate student at San Francisco State, will speak at the Sausalito Presbyterian Church tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Her talk is entitled "Around the World With a Rucksack or Ten Months Abroad on $2,000," announced a church spokesman.

Burglars Break Into Stations

Deputy William Johansen, on patrol about 3:30 a.m. yesterday, noticed a padlock broken on the lubrication room of Wilshire Service Station on Highway 101 near Smith Brothers Ranch. Nothing appeared to be disturbed inside.

However, when owner Gerald Turover investigated this morning, he found four tires gone. They were worth $60.

Joe Horich of Associated Service Station at Point Reyes Station reported that his station was also entered last night. The extent of loss was not immediately known.

Fort Baker Open House

Photographic displays and historical material concerning all units stationed at Fort Baker since its founding will be featured at an open house of the Fort Baker Service Club from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow. A conducted tour of the fort and a boat ride to Angel Island will start at 2 p.m.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Gagarin's Flight May Be Start Of Something Great

Not since Charles Lindbergh's historic flight across the Atlantic Ocean has a voyage of discovery so electrified the people of the world as that of Major Yuri A. Gagarin, Soviet cosmonaut.

There have been many firsts since that time—first around the world, first around the world non-stop, endurance records, altitude records, and many more.

But Gagarin will join Lindbergh in the select group who broke a major barrier; something more than a new record, the opening of a new field of endeavor.

Of course we are sorry that an American was not the first in space. Yet Gagarin may have made another break through—which ultimately may become even more important than his scientific achievement.

Gagarin may well be the first real Soviet Russian hero who is not a man of war. There have been some others of lesser stature, scientific or political "heroes", or some, like Boris Pasternak, who were not allowed to receive the plaudits of their own people.

But Gagarin is the first to really catch the imagination of the Russian people other than on the battlefield. He was received in Moscow with the enthusiasm of a New York reception — obviously without the ticker tape shower. He was given the nation's highest decoration and, something more — a title.

We are not overlooking the possible disastrous military results for the free world in his exploits. A manned space station which could see the whole world every hour or so, could guide missiles directly to their targets, and keep close tab on major activity any where on the globe, is of inestimable military importance.

They, like we, have much more to lose now. People with something to lose are more conservative.

Gagarin's flight may be more than the beginning of the space age; it could be a small start toward a more secure peace.

GREATEST WELCOME SIGN

Bouquets And Brickbats

BOUQUETS to Angelo Turrini and Mrs. Turrini on the 25th anniversary of the United Ambulance Service. The Turrinis started the service and carried it on for years as a one man-one woman operation around the clock; now it had grown into a major service of which they and Marin can be proud.

A BELATED BRICKBAT to the State Division of Highways (and the County Planning Commission for letting them do it) for destroying the parking lot near Marin Joe's at Corte Madera in the highway widening program, forcing parking on both sides of narrow Meadowsweet Drive, which becomes almost impassable.

A BOUQUET to Mrs. Edna Hammond, retiring as two-term president of the Marin County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, on her national award for service as patient aid chairman for seven years, even while president. It's the first award of its type ever given by the national organization in Northern California. She's still got the job, too.

BRICKBATS to motorists who pause to gawk at others' misfortunes, as when last Wednesday they created a Waldo-to-Alto traffic jam southbound because of accidents in northbound lanes.

A BOUQUET to Assemblyman Bill Bagley for his NO vote against Assembly Bill 289, the Sunday "blue law" which would make it illegal for auto dealers to sell cars on the Sabbath. The measure passed the Assembly without an extra vote to spare. Too bad we have only one Bagley who can vote in the legislature.

A BOUQUET to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on the start of construction of their new $2,400,000 toll center building in San Rafael.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

MORE TO LEARNING THAN MARKS

The scramble for a higher education is becoming so challenging these days that academic achievement alone is no guarantee of admission to college.

This fact was brought out by a spokesman for Columbia College, where four out of every five applicants have no problem meeting the scholastic requirements.

"We shall be seeking students," he said, "who have evidenced a readiness to work hard, to be restlessly curious, to be responsible and to contribute to their school and local community activities."

It is significant that such stress should be placed on hard work, personal responsibility and service to others. They provide the stuff of which any intellectual formation is made.

Add to these the indispensable ingredient of a mature spiritual development, and you have students who will be well fitted for the struggles of life.

Do your part to improve education, as well as seeing that it maintains a spiritual dimension.

"Take hold on instruction, leave it not . . . keep it, because it is thy life."
(Proverbs 4:13)

Help me, O Holy Spirit, to guide young people in their education both for time and for eternity.

END OF DELAYS?

Solons, Kennedy Look Into Regulatory Units

By Congressional Quarterly

Their aim: legislation to end the interminable delays in agency decisions and to stop undue outside interference with agency decisions.

A pastel mink coat given to a White House secretary became the symbol of influence peddling and agency favoritism in the 1952 presidential campaign. A vicuna coat given to former presidential assistant Sherman Adams likewise became a symbol of meddling in agency decisions in the 1960 presidential campaign.

Now the time has come for action to try to curb some of these abuses, according to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

ACTION IS IMMINENT on these fronts:

Harris's newly constituted Subcommittee on Regulatory Agencies will launch a series of technical studies to determine how agency operations and procedures can be improved and speeded up. These studies will be done agency-by-agency, Harris said.

The Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure of the Senate Judiciary Committee will make nine legislative recommendations designed to speed up and improve the work of the agencies.

President Kennedy will send a message to Congress on his recommendations to reorganize and streamline the administrative agencies and to submit a code of ethics for federal employees He promised to take such action during the 1960 campaign at a speech before Wittenberg College in Ohio on Oct. 17, 1960.

THE KENNEDY message was originally scheduled to be sent to Congress April 3. But Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.), chairman of the Senate Subcommittee, met with the President March 25 to ask Kennedy to delay the White House message pending publication of the Subcommittee report.

The regulatory agencies are vitally important to the nation's industrial life. For example, the Interstate Commerce Commission regulates the railroads. The Federal Communications Commission licenses radio and television stations. The Civil Aeronautics Board licenses air carriers. The Federal Power Commission licenses hydroelectric projects and regulates the interstate transportation and sale of natural gas.

Other regulatory agencies oversee atomic energy and industrial labor relations, police trade and business practices and the securities exchanges

THE DEMOCRATIC majority of the Senate subcommittee will make nine recommendations to Congress. It would provide penalties for violation of a presidential code of ethics and for the use of improper influence to affect agency decisions. It would set up a White House Office of Administration and Reorganization to keep an eye on the agencies' day-to-day operations. It would provide uniform 10-year terms for members of the agencies, plus increased salaries and pension benefits to attract top men to these posts. It would increase the authority and compensation of hearing examiners to expedite agency decisions. It would protect the public from costly delays in the decisions of rate cases before the FPC. It would expedite the judicial review of agency decisions and make the Conference on Administrative Procedure a continuing body to assure judicial oversight over the agencies.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the ranking Republican on the subcommittee, will recommend 15-year terms for members of the agencies with no rights to reappointment. This recommendation, if enacted into law, would materially increase the independence of the agencies.

World Federalists To Dine, Listen, Dance

By CHAPIN A. DAY

CHIP DAY

A goodly contingent of Marin's chapter of United World Federalists, one of the strongest in the Bay Area, is going to San Francisco next Friday night for the U.W.F.'s 15th anniversary party in the Fairmont Hotel.

It's going to be a dinner-dance affair with a speaker, rather an unusual combination. Cocktails before, of course.

The speaker will be William L. Shirer, a dean of the foreign correspondents and author of the recent successful book on Hitler. His topic will be "Prospects For A Permanent Peace."

The dancing will follow the speech so we must assume that there are prospects.

CONGRESSIONAL Quarterly, the Washington nonpartisan reference agency, has just come up with some interesting figures on how congressional candidates ran as compared with their party's presidential candidate.

Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera was one of the 13 Democrats and eight Republicans who ran 5 or more percentage points ahead of his party's candidate.

Miller had the lowest of all 21 congressmen. While Miller was winning re-election by 51.6 per cent of the vote, Kennedy lost the district by 46.4 per cent, giving Miller a 5.2 per cent bulge.

Best record was by Democrat Harry R. Sheppard of San Bernardino County who, in a county Kennedy lost with 47.5 per cent, won with 66.8 per cent of the vote.

Best Republican was Craig Hosmer of Long Beach who won by 70 per cent while Nixon was winning the district by 53.4. William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, won by 65.3 per cent while Nixon was losing 48.6 per cent.

"Of course I would appreciate it if you'd donate this to the Republican campaign fund," he declared, "but don't you do it. Buy a new hat instead."

Notoriously hatless Jean, was shaken. She was wearing the first new hat she'd purchased in six years.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS are planning a big "Vaudeville Night" at the Sausalito Woman's Club on May 13. There will be eight acts, mostly professional, but David Winslow, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee is on the billboard for "Politics As Seen Through a Tin Whistle," and Gordon Ness, YR president, is billed for "Magic." Coffee, draft beer and pretzels are included in the admission price.

S. F. ASSEMBLYMAN John A. Busterud, mentioned more than casually by Nixon as a man "who ought to be representing you (Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties) in some way or another," could hardly wait to get away from the Nixon reception last Saturday.

He had an appointment with a real estate man to look at a couple houses in San Rafael.

AN ERA ENDED for me this week when Governor Brown signed AB 934 by John M. Kennick (D, Long Beach) into law. It "prohibts persons from riding on a flat bed truck with their legs extending over the sides or rear of the truck bed."

A Candidate Appreciates Help

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Although I was unsuccessful in my recent bid for the San Rafael Board of Education, I should like to express my appreciation for the equitable news coverage your newspaper gave me.

While I didn't gain a seat on the board, I do, nonetheless, appreciate the many friends made during the course of my campaign, and it was most gratifying to learn that so many of our citizens are interested in this vital activity.

It should be remembered that the management of our schools is everyone's business and that school board meetings are open to the public for their suggestions and criticisms.

I can assure you that my interest in the affairs of our public schools will not terminate as a result of the recent election. It is my intention to do whatever I can towards the improvement of our school system, and I would hope that those who voted for me will join me in this endeavor.

Hopes Beach Won't Be Closed

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I want to thank you for the recent article in the Marin Magazine concerning my work in marine biology. I find great pleasure in going to the seashore with my students.

Also, I have been very aware of the situation concerning the Point Reyes National Park. I certainly hope that it will be a U. S. National Park.

However, I also hope that they will not place a complete quarantine on all of the flora and fauna of the area. There are some U. S. seashore parks in California that have such a complete quarantine, that is where no biological life can be removed. I don't think this will happen to Point Reyes.

Very soon I plan to write a booklet about the seashore life in Marin County with an emphasis on the Point Reyes area. I plan to finish this draft after this summer, find a publisher and then await to see how the Marin residents will utilize the information. I will keep in contact with Ed Neumeier and your newspaper.

Your highlights of "A Century of Service" was very stimulating—keep up the fine work.

Don't Let Senator Sabotage Park

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Please don't let Sen. McCarthy sabotage the Point Reyes park plan. His alternate "for free" park near the bridge idea is excellent. Let's have both.

One has only to read the population statistics and to drive along Highway 1 south of the city to know what can and will happen to our beautiful Marin coast if we do not move to save open land for the benefit of us all, now.

Giant Fans Were Made Happy By Losing That Opener?

In past years, the Giants have won their openers, then toward the end of the season lost all their steam. But this year, they figure all is well. Their reasoning: The Giants may be reversing past trends. Let 'em blow a few of the early games, then gather up steam midway and come roaring in strong down the home stretch.

It's definitely spring now. Even the well-timed Soviet space flight failed to knock baseball completely off the front pages, although the feat did as well as any single event will ever do to overshadow the opening of the baseball season.

IT'S JUST ABOUT the time of year again when we have to start worrying about turning our clocks ahead an hour.

But don't lose any sleep over it yet. Because daylight saving time won't be coming until the last Sunday in April. That's two weeks off yet.

ELECTION RESULTS in San Rafael this week really fooled a lot of the experts. But one thing is certain. Voters in town really know how to elect a balanced team.

For example in the school board contest, their first choice was a man who campaigned on the premise that the present schools were in excellent shape.

So, to get some variety on the board, they figured their second choice should be a woman attorney who has been one of the severest critics of the present school setup. Sort of balances things, you know.

YOU'VE ALL heard of the John Birch Society. But have you heard of a new group whose name has been springing up in the best coffee houses in town.

It's called the John Buresh Society. Buresh, well known San Rafael lawyer, had this to say when we approached him the other day:

"Our only purpose is to collect dues, and I'm the treasurer. You wanna join?"

TOP AWARD to the jury with the best audience-participation rating this month goes to the one that heard the bigamy case.

Jurors not only were attentive throughout; they raised their hands, quizzed the witnesses, and even had the prosecutor and defense attorneys on the run with final arguments of their own. Better than any TV show we've seen.

That was the conclusion reached by a local laundry machine owner when he opened up one of his machines to gather up his week's receipts.

Out dropped dozens of two-centavo coins, about the size of quarters.

A MOTORIST must have been in an awful hurry on Fourth Street the other night. He called police to report a drunk draped over the hood of his car.

When police arrived, the car was gone, but the drunk was happily wrapped over the parking meter.

Officers reasoned that the driver had undraped the man from his car and carefully deposited him against the meter so as not to awaken him.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

The wife of a rather stingy manufacturer was constantly griping about her ailments, so when a famous French physician came to America for a visit, the manufacturer reluctantly allowed her to put herself under the Frenchman's care.

He cured her, too—or at least so she claimed—but then he rendered a bill that sent the manufacturer howling piteously into the night. "This bill," he accused the physician, "is bigger than the total cost of D-Day!"

Fighting Hub Fires Has Been His Life

Nello Marcucci Still Thrills To The Clang Of Engines

By WAT TAKESHITA

Most boys thrill to the sound of clanging fire engines and helmeted firefighters racing to a blaze.

Nello Marcucci of San Anselmo was no exception. But, where it is just a passing fancy for most, Nello made it a career.

Now at age 62, Fire Chief Marcucci is goin into his 44th year as fireman for the Hub City, and his 31st year as its chief.

"Firefighting has been my whole life," says Marcucci simply "That's all I know."

He is a man of few words, but the record speaks for him. When he took over the department in 1930, San Anselmo was an eighth class community in the eyes of the fire underwriters. About 10 years later, San Anselmo's fire rating was up to third class, the first fire department in Northern California to be given that rating.

HIS EARLY training as electrician came in handy during those uphill years. Marcucci and his men built their own fire alarm system and alarm board and improved the water system.

Disasters by fire have been few and far between. During World War II, a shack with tarpaper insulation caught fire, taking a shipyard worker and his family. A woman suffocated from fumes one night in a small fire that was confined to her room on Rosemont Avenue.

Potentially the most dangerous was the fire that gutted a heating and sheet metal firm at the Hub intersection about 10 years ago. No lives were lost, but it was touch and go all the way as firemen battled to keep flames from igniting service stations and a garage that surrounded the burning building.

In the 1920s, Sunny Hills orphanage was plagued with a series of fires, sometimes two or three times a day. Eventually the boys' dormitory and the main building were destroyed by flames, but all occupants got out safely. A man in charge of the dormitory was believed to be the firebug who set the fires. He was never convicted, but Chief Marcucci personally saw to it that he got on the ferry at Sausalito never to return.

Otherwise, San Anselmo has been a relatively fire-free city since the horse and buggy days of 1917, when Marcucci first joined as volunteer.

Born in Italy in 1898, Marcucci moved to San Francisco when he was 2 years old. His father was a rancher, but Nello's first love, ever since he can recall, was tagging along with the firemen.

IN 1916, he moved with several buddies to a rented home next to his present residence at 160 San Francisco Boulevard.

In those days San Anselmo had a two-horsepower wagon, drawn by two horses called Major and Colonel. The Major knew each of the 13 alarms by ear. As soon as an alarm rang, the Major would head straight for that particular alarm box.

Trouble was, Major knew the 5 o'clock whistle just as well. Marcucci recalls he was working with a street crew repairing a culvert. They were working away as the 5 p.m. whistle blew. When they looked up, Major was already headed down the street toward the firehouse.

In 1916, the growing city went motorized with a White truck known as a "hose and chemical wagon."

In 1923, Marcucci became assistant chief under the late Chief Charles Cartwright. When the chief became semi-retired in 1930, Marcucci had a choice of becoming police chief or fire chief. He stuck with fire, and Donald T. Wood came in as police chief.

As a one-man fire department, supported by volunteers, Chief Marcucci recalls working round the clock for six months straight without a day off. Then he eased up to a six-day week.

Marcucci married a San Anselmo girl, Helen Locati, in 1926. They have lived in their present home ever since.

Eldest son, Robert, 22, is already carrying on the firefighting tradition started by his father. Robert is a San Rafael fireman. The other other boy, Marty, 21, is attending College of Marin. He, too, wants to be a fireman, probably in some other department.

Both sons already have long experience in fire fighting. As toddlers, Bob and Marty would jump in the father's car to give him moral support at every fire. One day, Chief Marcucci laid down the law. They must not ride with him. "Okay," said the boys.

But at the next fire call, Marcucci noticed both boys were at the scene just about the time he got there. He couldn't understand how they made it so fast. Finally dad caught on. The boys were jumping into the back seat and lying low until the chief reached the scene and got out. Then they'd scamper out the other door.

For the last 20 years Marcucci has hammered away for a second firehouse at the west end of town. Today, about two years away from mandatory retirement, Chief Marcucci has seen his dream come true.

Marcucci's department now consists of 16 firemen and Assistant Chief Frank Souza. The two horsepower unit in the days of Major and Colonel has grown to a six-unit department. The city has a 750-gallon pumper, a 600-gallon pumper, one rescue truck, a four-wheel drive power wagon, an International pickup, and a 1,000-gallon pumper which belongs to State Civil Defense.

AT HIS DESK in his office in San Anselmo's main fire station, Nello Marcucci, the Hub City fire chief since 1930 and a member of the fire department for 43 years, checks over some departmental reports. San Anselmo's fire insurance rating climbed from eighth class to third class during the first 10 years of his leadership, and he has continued to work for better fire protection for the citizens of his city. (Independent-Journal photo)

The veteran fire fighter does not seem to relish the idea of retirement. He'll become 65 in June of 1963. "Just two years and three months," he says a little wistfully. "I have to retire, you know."

A man of few hobbies, Chief Marcucci explains he just did not have time for avocations. He used to play sandlot baseball, but beyond that, his whole life was fire fighting.

But as he nears retirement age, Chief Marcucci has bought himself a 32-foot cruiser docked at San Rafael Yacht Harbor on Francisco Boulevard. "It needs a lot of work on it yet," he points out. Some of his spare time is now spent on the boat. But he seems to be in no hurry to get the work done.

After all, it won't be easy to swap his fireman's hat for a skipper's cap after nearly a half century of firefighting.

WHEN NELLO MARCUCCI first came to the Hub City in 1916, this was San Anselmo's sole protection against fires. Chief Charles Cartwright and his volunteers rode a carriage behind two thundering "horsepowers," Major and Colonel. It was shortly after this picture was taken that Marcucci joined the department as a volunteer.

BACK IN 1925 Nello Marcucci was not only San Anselmo's assistant fire chief, but he worked for the police and street departments and the city clerk's office as well. "I was also the dogcatcher," he recalls. This photo shows him at one of his roles at that time—that of a mounted patrolman.

MORALE WAS HIGH and the uniforms natty back in the early 1930s when this photograph was taken. All the firemen were volunteers, but they showed up in full force on fire calls and for parades. Here the uniformed firemen posed with their mascot who had pulled the model fire engine in a parade in which he had just participated with the volunteers. Nello Marcucci is second from the left in the back row. To his right is the late Chief Charles Cartwright.

THINGS WERE REALLY rolling in 1916 when the San Anselmo fire department advanced from hooves to wheels with the purchase of the first fire truck. There was no flat tire problem. The tires were solid rubber. The city's fire department has since grown to six modern moving units and two fire stations.

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

Last week's article explained the crystal and ceramic microphonts. The ceramic, although it has the same characteristics as the crystal, is not affected by temperature and humidity and is therefore preferrable in hot humid areas.

The second type is the Ribbon microphone. The ribbon microphone is made up of an extremely light metallic ribbon suspended between the ends of a magnet. The sound waves striking the ribbon cause it to vibrate. The vibrations effect the magnetic field in such a way that voltage is produced in coils wound around the magnet. This type of microphone is bi-directional; that is, it picks up sounds from the front and rear of the mike and is less sensitive from the sides. The disadvantages are that it is extremely sensitive to shocks such as touching the mike, it is sensitive to wind noise when outdoors, and it has a barrel-like quality when one speaks too closely to the mike. The ribbon microphone produces a very smooth life-like quality. Because of the disadvantages mentioned, the ribbon mike does not lend itself for general work and is therefore not commonly used.

The third type is the Condenser microphone. The Condenser mike uses two thin metallic plates very close together, but not touching each other, as the pickup unit. The sound waves striking one of the plates causes it to swing closer and farther away from the second plate. This action changes an electrical characteristic called capacitance. The capacitance change is converted to electrical energy by means of electronic equipment built into the microphone head.

Next week I will continue with the characteristics of the Condenser microphone.

Weapons Are His Hobby

Antiques and antique collecting are currently in the limelight in Marin, what with the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale scheduled to open for four days Thursday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

The collectors preparing for the event are to be found in all the communities of Marin, in all its professions and in all age groups.

His collection of antique guns began with a weapon given him on Christmas in 1957. His parents, having seen advertised for sale a collection of guns used in movie-making, wrapped one up for Peter and the collection fever started. It was an Austrian army rifle, made around 1881, and is a heavy caliber single-shot longarm.

VISITING Peter in the Behr Mill Valley home, we found him a self-possessed eighth grader (he attends Marin Country Day School), articulate and enthusiastic about his hobby.

"The most valuable—and my favorite—weapon is this percussion plains rifle." He took it down from the rack and displayed its features with pride.

"It's a real work of art. A .45 caliber counterpart of the long graceful Kentuckies. It was made between 1845 and 1850 by Blairdow."

Knowledgeably, he added, "These are the finest examples of the gunsmith's art in the West. This particular one doesn't have one place on its 54 and 3/16-inch barrel where it's not artistically done."

Other statistics about this favored weapon are that its 36 and 11/16-inch barrel can be detached by removing the barrel bands and moving it upward. It's complete with a bullet mold, a powder pouch, bullet pouch and a belt for holding all these accoutrements.

A SUMMER trip to Europe furthered his collection. While the Behrs were in London, he picked up a tiny eight-inch saluting cannon, made in 1810, at the Caledonia Market (formerly the Thieves Market). One has the feeling that Peter allows its current use as a decorative piece in the Behr living room (away from his collection) only because it is not a legitimate weapon. "It's in firing condition," he admits, however.

Another acquisition while abroad was the rare folding-trigger percussion pistol. Its trigger folds down under the gun, explains its owner, so that it will not become entanged with the clothing while being withdrawn from the wearer's pocket. It bears Belgian proof marks.

Also Belgian is another percussion pocket pistol with a .50 caliber muzzle-loading percussion cap. It has silver inlay on the back of the grip and a 3 and 1/16-inch octagonal barrel.

"Here are two single-shot rifles," pointed out our young collector. "One is a Remington Rolling Block Saddle Carbine, made in 1867, and a Russian Berdan II, made in 1880. And this one," indicating a Swiss Veller II, "has the distinction of being the first repeating rifle to be officially adopted for military use. It's a 10 and a fourth-pound rim-fire weapon."

THREE SWORDS hang from his bedroom wall. They are a French sailor's cutlass of the Revolutionary War period, a French dueling sword with a solid gold hilt (this one has undoubtedly seen much action, Peter informed us) that is profusely engraved and a Spanish calvalry sword, made in 1881.

Able to take his weapons apart and put them back in the intended order, Peter has learned, along with this mechanical instruction, a real appreciation for history. "It certainly makes studying history far more interesting," he said.

AS RECENTLY AS 1954 when this photograph was taken by John A. Starkweather, the Dixie School District was a one-school district. The original Dixie School at 4775 Redwood Highway housed 23 pupils. Mrs. Josephine Leary, the teacher at the time, stands at the entrance. She now teaches at Santa Margarita School in Terra Linda, one of five schools now in operation in the Dixie district. The building seen here is still in use, housing administrative offices and the school board meeting room.

THE DIXIE DISTRICT AND HOW IT GREW

Certainly Marin County's fastest growing school district and very possibly the fastest growing in all of Northern California is the Dixie School District covering the Santa Venetia-Marinwood area.

Back in 1954 it had only a single schoolhouse, and that a one-room frame building. Today it has five modern school plants with construction to start soon on a sixth. And with the population continuing to soar, the end is not in sight.

Next Tuesday the voters of the Dixie District will be asked to approve at the polls acceptance of a four million dollar state loan so that their school system can continue to keep pace with its enrollment growth.

Part of that loan, if it is approved by the voters, will go toward financing additions to existing schools.

But a large slice of the monies would be earmarked for three more new schools, the need for which is already apparent. One will go up in Terra Linda Valley on property already owned by the district. Another is proposed for seventh and eighth graders in Marinwood. And yet another will be needed in Lucas Valley on a site yet to be acquired.

But even that is not the end.

The district expects to use still more of the money to acquire sites for two more future schools in addition to the five now in use, the one soon to be under construction, and the three future buildings which would be financed under the state loan.

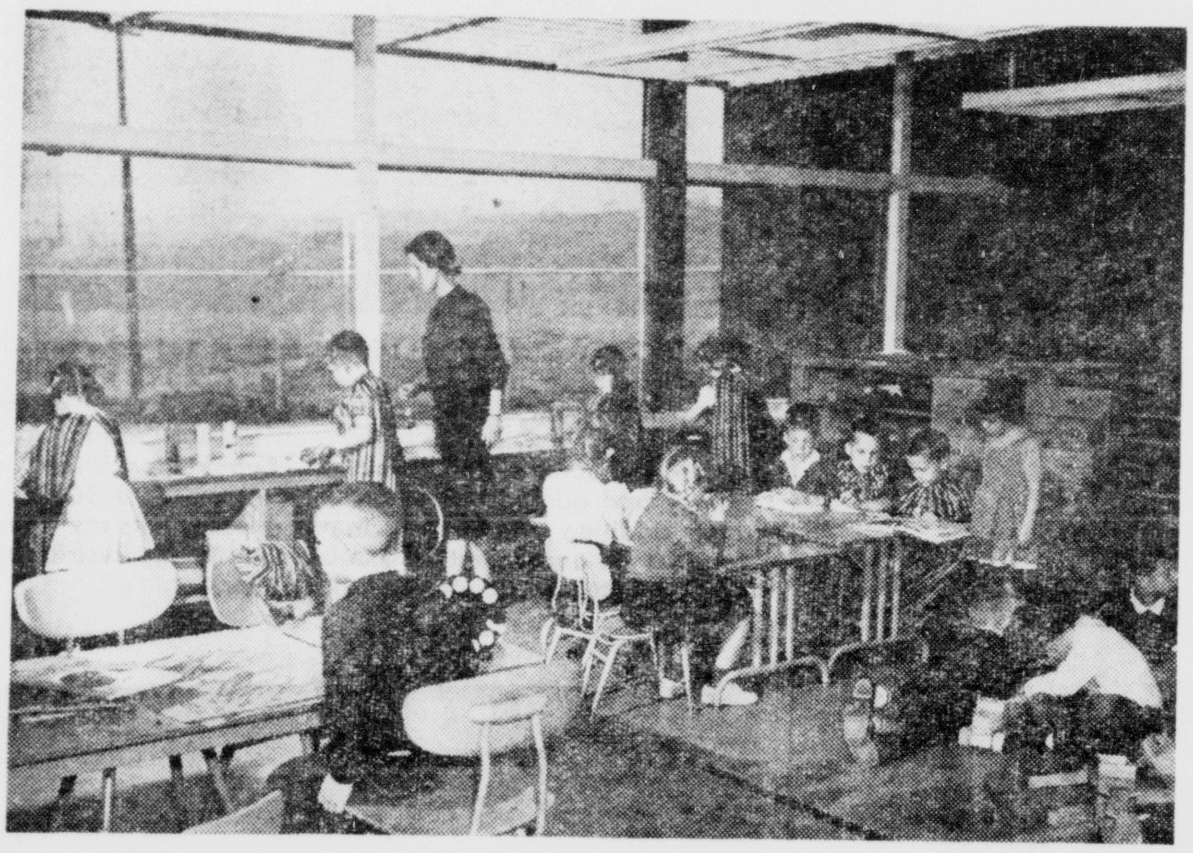
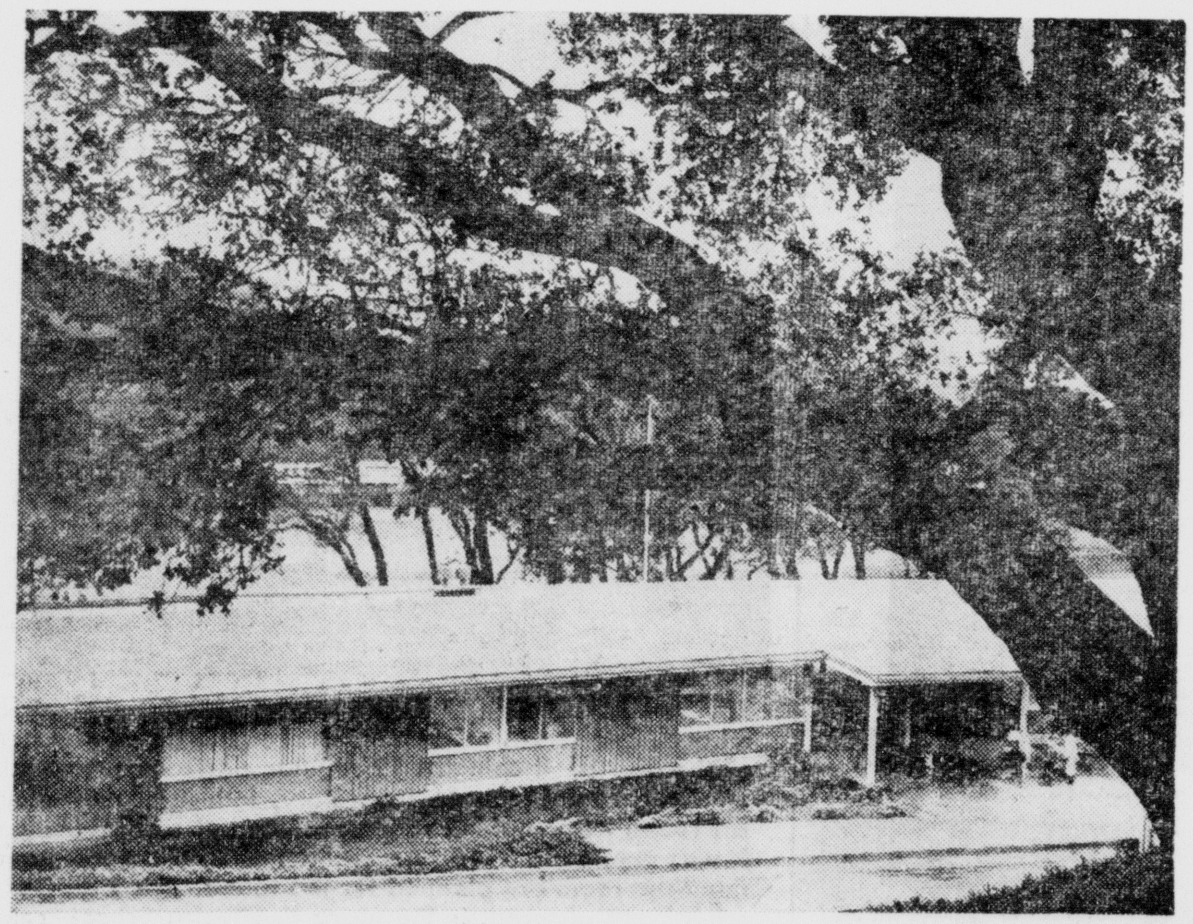
THE BERNARD HOFFMAN Elementary School in Terra Linda was the first school to be built in the Dixie District following the original one-room schoolhouse. The Hoffman School opened in October of 1955. Additions were made in 1956 and 1959. It now contains 15 regular classrooms, two kindergartens, a library, a multi-purpose room and administration offices. Here we see the sixth grade classroom taught by Victor Piltch.



SANTA MARGARITA School in Terra Linda opened its doors to pupils in February of 1958, and additions were built later that year and in 1959. It now contains 12 regular classrooms ,two kindergartens (one of which is shown here), and an administration area. Six additional classrooms and a library are now under construction. Connie Davis is the teacher of this kindergarten class.



LUCAS VALLEY Elementary School was put into use in September of 1959, and the building was enlarged in 1960. It contains 10 regular classrooms, one kindergarten and an administration office. Plans are to add eight regular classrooms and two kindergartens, with the space now used for kindergarten to become a library.

THE FACULTY of the Dixie District schools has now grown to 93 teachers. They presently instruct 2,240 pupils in the five schools built during the last six years. A sixth school —Don Timoteo—will be under construction soon. Originally to house eight classrooms, two kindergartens, a library and administrative facilities, plans for a 16-classroom addition are already in the works. Surveys have forecast an enrollment of 5,350 pupils in the district by 1965. (Photos by John A. Starkweather)

THE VALLECITO SCHOOL is the newest of the Dixie District schools, and serves the seventh and eighth grade children of the district. It contains 12 regular classrooms, two science classrooms, science laboratory, industrial arts shop, art room, homemaking room, library and administration. It was opened in 1960. An additional 10 classrooms and multi-use room are planned for the future. The fifth Dixie school, not pictured, is the Mary E. Silveira School, completed in 1956, and enlarged in 1957. It contains 16 regular classrooms, two kindergartens, a library and administration offices with a multi-use room planned for the future.

In Japan, The Key Word Is 'Shibui'

By DOLLY ANDERSEN

The history of Japanese gardening may be traced through the cultural and aesthetic development of the life of the Japanese. As long as 1,500 years ago Japanese civilization was first affected by the older civilizations introduced from Korea and China, whose architecture and gardening were highly developed arts. The philosophy of Zen Buddhism and the tea ceremony also contributed

During the Chinese influence designs varied. Generally they represented field and coast. Rigid restrictions were observed in the shape and size of stones, their aspect, and the direction of the stream. A stream was not considered good unless it flowed from east to west, or from north to south. It was believed that east was the source of purity, and west the outlet of all impurities.

The philosophy of the positive and the negative had its influence in fixing the details of garden design. This influence has been carried down to recent times. In flat gardens only stones and trees are used, also white sand. This idea was apparently borrowed from the art of bonseki (tray landscape) which was popular among the nobles.

GARDENING progressed through 1392 to 1615 when the grand scale of architecture was introduced and the general tone of gardens was transformed from repose (characteristic of Zen Buddhism) to color and vigor. Huge stones and bold plants were used. The tea ceremony was introduced in gardens of unadorned simplicity, with elegance refinement and a certain repose. In response to the requirements of the tea ceremony, the stone lantern, the water-basin, stepping stones and steps became the leading features in garden making. These original practical features gradually found their way into ordinary gardens as ornaments.

In 1603 in the Edo period, the "stroll" garden was introduced because of the necessity of coordinating the various structures used for the tea ceremony. In the making of paths the selection and arrangement of stepping stones or pavement was made to suit the location and to present an equally appealing effect from any vantage point.

No gardens in the world can surpass those in Japan. Their charming serenity is highly condusive to peaceful relaxation. There is beauty everywhere in Japan, even in the commonplace. Beauty, in its many forms, has preoccupied the Japanese people to a degree unmatched in history. So it is only reasonable that they should have arrived at a deeper grasp and penetration of what comprises beauty than has been achieved by other cultures less dedicated. An exacting standard of perfection has prevailed for at least 10 centuries. This is the most valuable lesson to be learned from Japan. If we can look at beauty as they look at it, we can enlarge our own understanding enormously.

THE KEY WORD is shibui, an adjective that denotes the ultimate in beauty. The first element is simplicity, the second depth, the third modesty or humility, the fourth silence, the fifth naturalness, the sixth normalcy, and the seventh emanating from normalcy is coarseness or roughness (without a gaudy covering).

Both Japanese and Western gardens use the fundamental elements of natural beauty in their landscape design. Western gardens are usually characterized by the use of lawns and flower beds, while the Japanese garden is actually a re-creation of nature in exaggerated form on a reduced scale, similar to the manner in which a painter interprets an extensive view on his canvas.

It may prove interesting to discover that the divisions and features of Japanese gardens, such as the shape and color of the trees, stones, water, hills,

That garden is now well established.

The designer was Sakari, a Japanese philosopher, who used native Japanese plantings as well as Ishi toro (Japanese ornaments and stones). Each stone and ornament has a special meaning, according to the Japanese philosopher.

What he designed is a serene landscaped garden where a visitor may stroll amid placid pools, shady pools, shady groves and ancient pagodas—a true sylvan retreat.

The garden has a lovely waterfall, water for which is provided by a natural well on the estate. The large pool into which it empties provides a home for rainbow trout.

There are a number of interesting focal points in this beautiful Japanese garden, in-

Flowering cherry trees are used and some of the native plants have been trained to lend themselves to the Japanese atmosphere.

Bamboo has been tastefully introduced at strategic points, in the Japanese manner, and there are several bridges, a tiny bamboo fence alongside one of them. The patio floor is constructed of a combination of large Japanese slate colored stones imbedded in c e m e n t, complimented by small stones in a pleasing pattern.

The Pomeroy home, built by a Captain Harrison in 1871-72 and after whom Harrison Street at the other extremity of San Carlos was named, can be reached by taking Bridgeway to Caledonia at w h i c h point San Carlos takes off to the right up a steep hill.

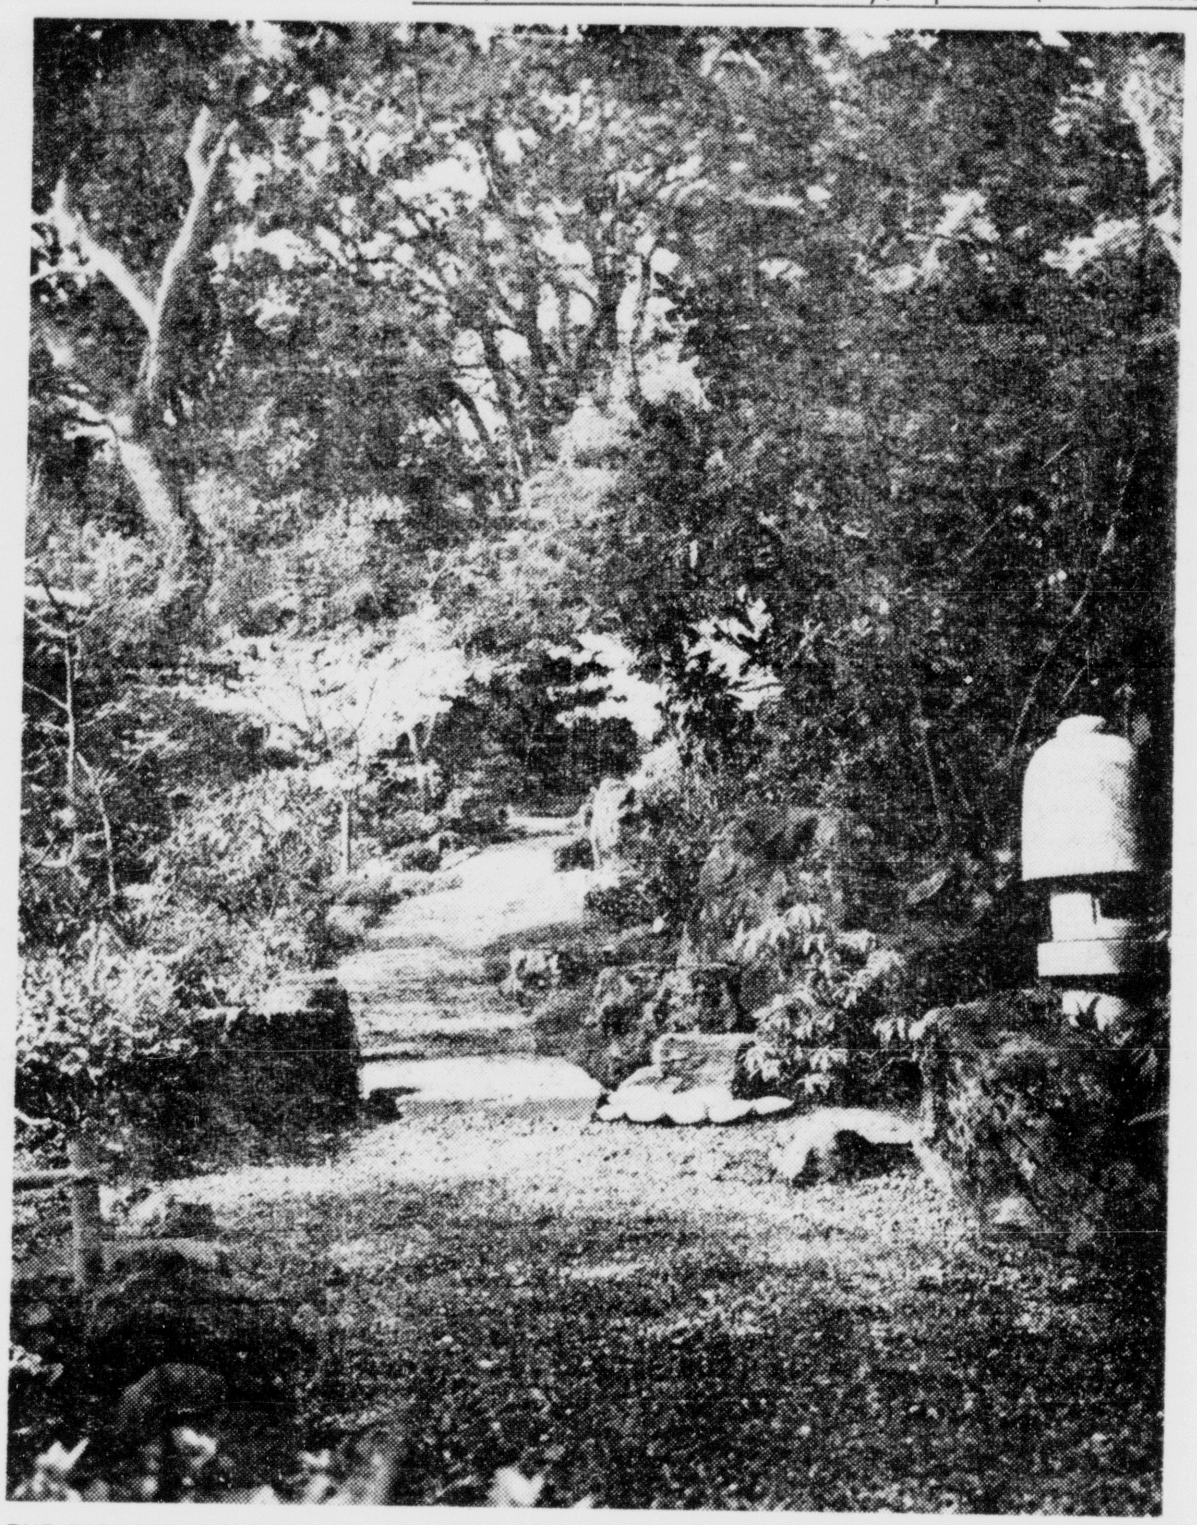
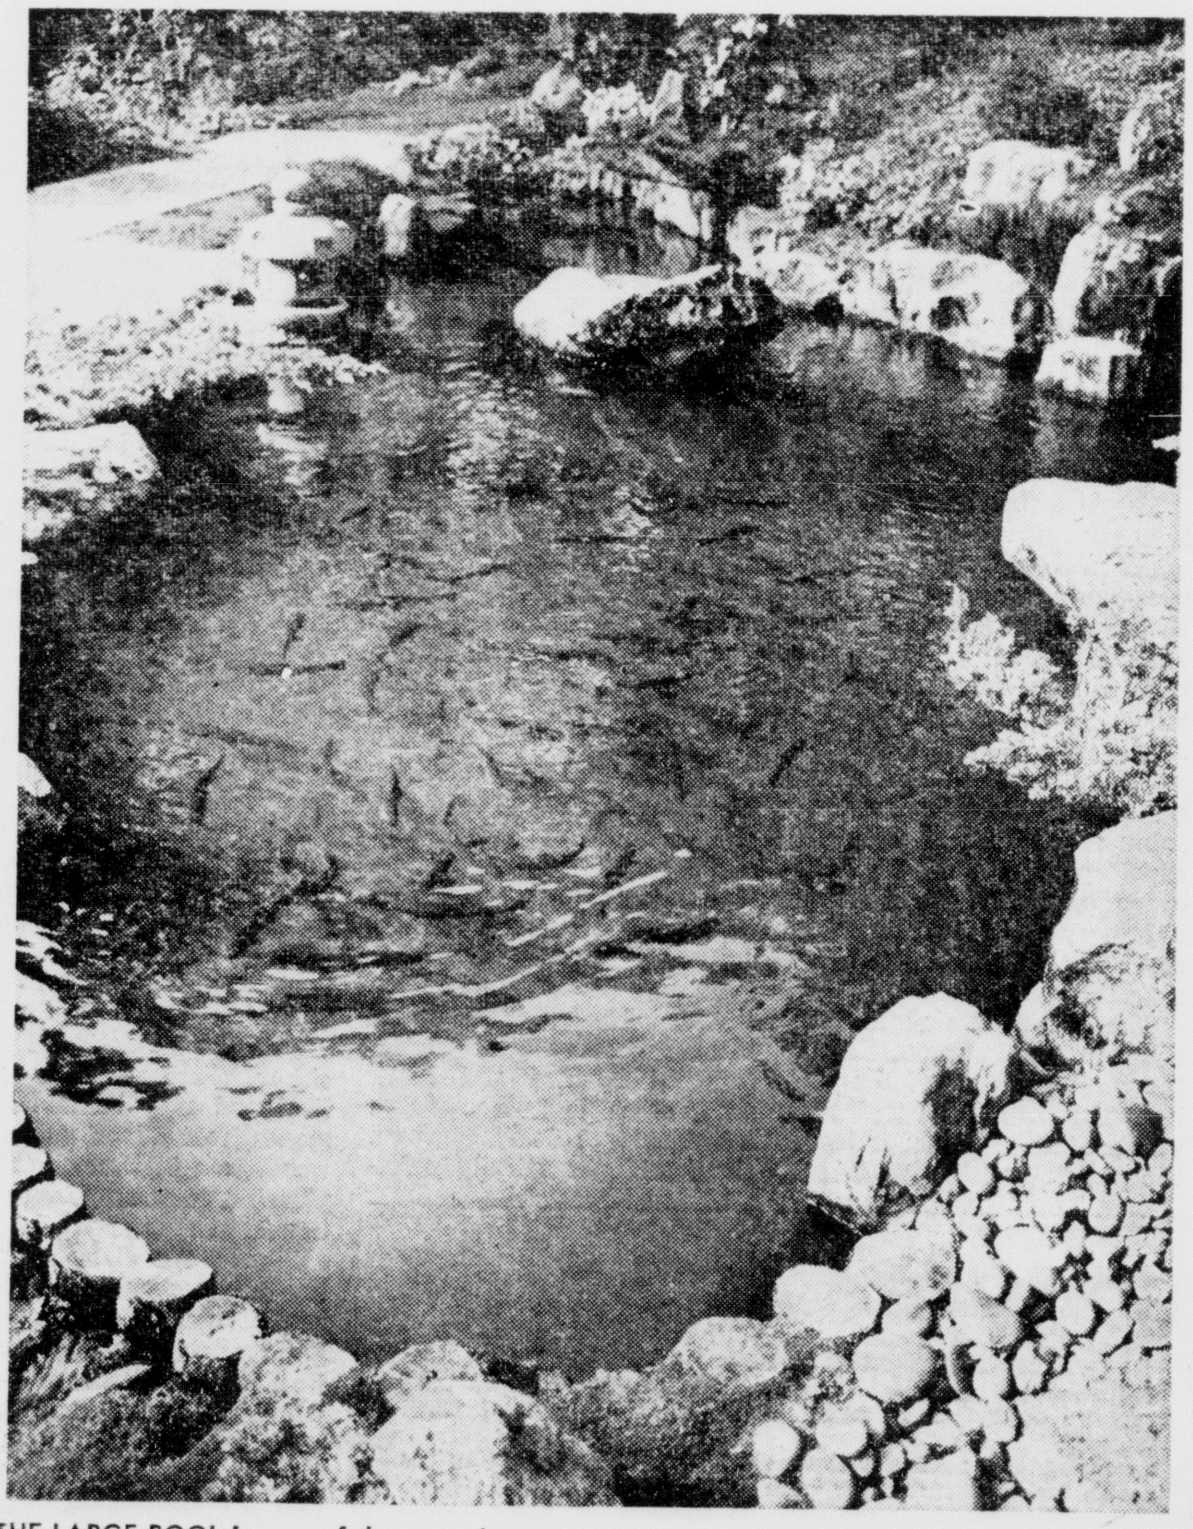
the ornamental pieces. It is no accident that this garden was designed by an eminent philosopher. It is, in itself, a piece of philosophy.



THE DISAPPEARING garden path lends an air of mystery to the Pomeroy garden. This photograph catches the air of peace and restfulness that is so essential to the authentic and successful Japanese garden. The whole concept is one of serenity — of man at peace with nature and with himself.



THE LARGE POOL is one of the most beautiful spots in the Pomeroy garden. And as you can see in this photograph, it is well stocked with rainbow trout. A waterfall empties into the pool.

Japanese Gardening: Beauty And Serenity

and fences, have an individual character and artistic beauty of their own, and that they have been selected under definite rules, always in line with the general harmony of the whole.

The garden as the visual wall of the room is a relatively new idea in America, but it is at least 1,000 years old in Japan. The sliding walls are put away in summer, so the garden truly becomes part of the house.

The Japanese try not to show everything from one spot, creating mystery, and stimulating imagination. Each view withholds some part of itself from revelation. The garden path turns, disappearing behind hillock, rock, or shrub. Every device is used to preventy our eye from coming up against a finality. Man and nature, working in close harmony, produce a beauty not otherwise possible. Man has crafted a handwashing bowl, placed it in position, and has arranged stones around it, but nature adds the patina to the bowl, the aging lichen and the curve of the fern, without which the arrangement would be an intrusion.

PONDS AND lakes are carefully designed to make the most of sky and garden reflections.

The Japanese create the smallest gardens in the world. In as little as 40 inches of space a garden is sometimes created by skillful and artistic use of a few rocks, gravel, a few shafts of bamboo, a little water, and perhaps a shrub. Sometimes reed curtains are used to give an illusion of space. Other techniques include dwarf plants, highly developed scaling, materials from nature, and leaving empty spaces. Their real miracle is that they have made the smallest spaces seem uncrowded and uncontrived.

The ideal in room planning is to give all main rooms separate and private gardens, preferably arranged so that no other room shares the garden. A walled garden bathroom is sometimes created in modern Japanese gardens in a space only 10 feet square.

The William A. Pomeroy garden at 86 San Carlos, Sausalito, is an authentic example of a Japanese hill garden. In order to appreciate it, it is necessary to know something about the composition of Japanese hill gardens.

The hill garden represents the heart of the mountain, or the remote recess of the valley. The intended angle of vision of this garden is from the parlor. A hill is featured, combined with pond and stream, the pond with irregular, graceful shore lines, never symmetrical. The pond contains an island, and hills of varying heights are arranged on the south side. A path winds all about the garden to insure that all the features are shown to advantage.

A NORMAL HILL garden has a pair of large stones standing at the left and a waterfall leaping between them. Thihs combination is intended to form the center of the garden. Below and on the left is placed a water basin. The garden is designed to present in one view a complete, and picturesque scene. For the partial paving of the path, stepping stones, oblong and otherwise, are used. The oblong one is called tazakuishi, or "poem card stone," because of its resemblance to a card usually associated with Japanese poems. The shore of the pond is protected by stones and piles, and important points are marked by stones and trees. Generally the main view is shifted to the back rather than to the right or left, and the side views at the right and left are brought slightly to the foreground. (The triangle is also the basic principle of the flat garden, but the hill garden possesses three dimensions, which requires more decorative features and a more complicated design.)

The island is decorated with a stone called raihaiseki, or "worshipping stone," a yukimi-doro, or "snow viewing lantern," and a pine tree, so as to function as an important feature in the design. The island is effective in producing an illusion of enhanced distance by making the pond and the hills more complicated. It may be considered the center of the garden view.

Much care is taken in selection of trees, in order to maintain a beautiful appearance in all seasons. Evergreens are the keynote, interspersed with flowering trees and maples, which color beautifully in the autumn. This eliminates the dreary winter scene. Evergreens usually supply the background, lining the fencing around the garden and completing the permanent scene.

From olden times the pine has been regarded the green of garden trees, and their shaping and trimming for artistic effect have been studied with marked success. Garden designers prefer pines fashioned into picturesque shapes similar to the bonsai(or dwarf tree). Pines are first choice, followed by red and black pine, sugi (Japanese cedar). Of the large leaved group, those with beautifully colored foliage, or turn to blazing color in autumn, or flowering in the spring are preferred. Mochi, mokkoku, kashi (oak) and others are used, also camellias and sazanka camellias. The favorite deciduous trees are ume (plum) and sakura (cherry). For autumn color, mountain maple and other maples, pomegranite and crape myrtle are admired for the fantastic figure of their stems and branches. All these garden trees are carefully trimmed to keep them in good appearance.

FENCES ARE either partitions or screen. The screen (sodigaki, or sleeve fence) hides an unpleasant sight, or forms a background, usually six to seven feet high. Partition fences are made of wood, stone, or bamboo, those within the garden being of bamboo, wood or twigs, to create a light impression.

Stone lanterns have been in use from early times. The idea was first borrowed from the dedication lanterns in old temples and shrines by tea masters. The idea was adopted by many garden designers and specimens of various shapes came to be used for garden decoration. Imitations made commercially came into use by increased demand. Some lanterns have been originated by individuals. The size is chosen according to the site, i.e., whether used to light a footpath, a water-basin, or accent a plant, and size range from one foot to 18 feet. The location should properly be selected so that the practical purpose of illumination is served.

Water basins may be practical stone basins, or ornamental.

Bridges are designed to be either ornamental or practical and may be made of stones, worked or unworked, wood, earth, but must be pleasing to the eye. Repetition is always avoided.

Stones are chosen according to shape and color. Generally andesite, hornstone, granite, clay-slate, and chlorite schist of suitable shape are popular. These are installed at important points in the garden, usually in groups of two to five, ranging in height on a firm foundation, to give stability. Stones are kept wet to bring out the color and natural effect.

IN THE JAPANESE garden, every ornament, such as this stone lantern in the William C. Pomeroy garden in Sausalito, and every stone has a special meaning, according to the designer, Sakari, a philosopher.

THE PROBLEM FACED by William Kapranos, landscape architect, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lundgren of 661 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, was how to provide screening for the bedroom patio without cutting off the view. You can see in this photo by Ken Molino how he met that problem and solved it in a way that also enhanced the appearance of the patio.

April's The Time To Plant Citrus

Californians who would preserve their state's heritage by planting citrus in the garden will find April an ideal month to do it.

First, it's the beginning of the growing season; and, secondly, they transplant best now. Frosts are past and the sun is not yet hot enough to be hard on the new transplants.

A watering basin should be formed at the base of the tree, but water should not be allowed to settle against the trunk. Mound earth around the trunk to guard against this. And wrap the young, exposed trunk with burlap to prevent sun burning.

'Can Foam Rubber Lining Be Drycleaned?'—Mrs. A.S.A.

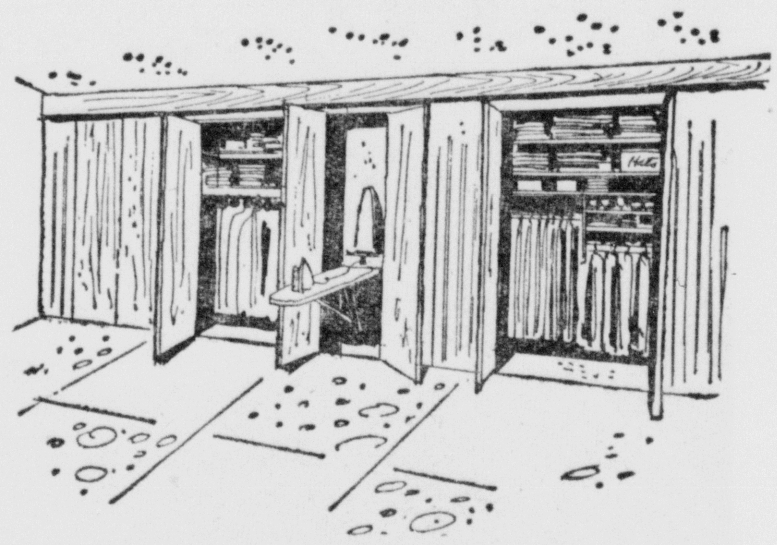
Dear Mrs. A.S.A.:

There is a growing use of thin layers of urethene foam, which most of us call "foam rubber," as linings and interlinings on garments. Urethene foam also is combined with all types of fibers, both natural, synthetic, and blends. It is used in both knitted and woven garments. Actually this is not "rubber" and laundering or cleaning of garments to which this urethene foam is bonded appears to be entirely safe.

Some drycleaners have been worried about the "foam" separating from the fabric in cleaning and have hesitated to accept such garments. According to tests of several of these laminated fabrics by the American Insitiute of Laundering and the National Institute of Drycleaning, they can be drycleaned and finished or laundered just as the fabric without fear of the fabric separating from the "foam." However, in some tests, shrinkage was noted in some of the fabrics tested for drycleaning, but the bonding of the "foam" to the fabric was not affected.

In some cases the "foam lining" is not bonded to the outer fabric originally. Naturally, it would remain separate from the fabric after cleaning.

But because the lining is not rubber, Mrs. A.S.A., it can be drycleaned safely.



NEED CLOSET SPACE? Then why not try this scheme which devotes a whole bedroom wall to expertly tailored storage space, and even includes a drop-down ironing board. Closets are designed in tawny beige Douglas fir, with doors that have no exposed hardware and open by finger pressure. When closed, the doors appear to be sleek wall paneling. It's a real storage spectacular.

Friendly Family Of Flowers

Violas are a friendly family of flowers. Their shining faces present myriad colors and sizes that will brighten the dreariest of days. And their profusion is more than any garden can rightly ask.

This versatile family is mighty nice to have around. It includes not only the familiar, bright-eyed pansy with its multi-colored markings, and the bedding viola, with its variety of single colors, but also the old-fashioned sweet violets and little Johnny-jump-ups which seemed more prevalent in another age than they do today. There's not a bad one in the whole lot.

We'll turn to pansies first, because that's exactly what so many gardeners do when they visit a nursery show yard. The pansy's greatest virtue, aside from its gorgeous blooms, is the fact that it produces this bloom so quickly. Almost from the time you plant them, pansies begin to put forth a show of color.

Another nice thing about them is that pansies demand frequent cutting if they are to extend their bloom period. No garden job could be easier, nor yield more pleasant results. This means, of course, that you will have a spring full of color in your house from pansies planted now.

The bedding violas—which take the family name—can be similarly kept in bloom through spring and well into summer.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

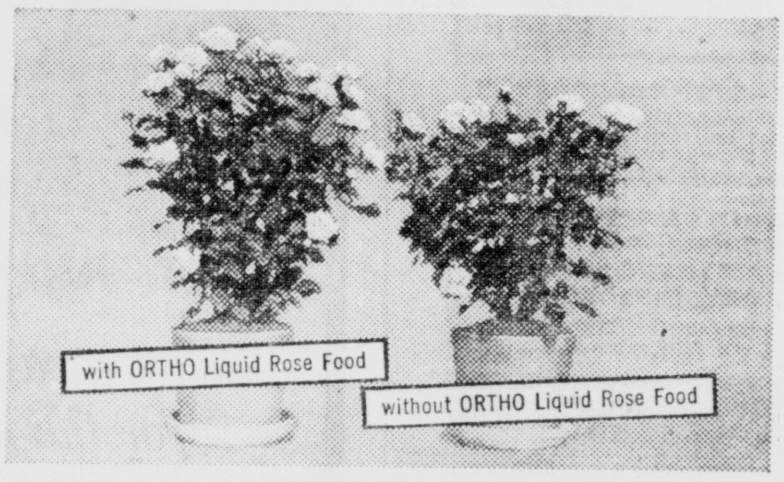
Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- Rhododendrons are in bloom this month and there's no better time to pick out the one you want.
- Clumps of gerbera (Transvaal daisy) can be bought in bloom. Plant them in raised beds to insure perfect drainage and don't bury the crown.
- Sow a lawn before the month is out. It's best to get one going before the hot weather sets in.
- Work soil conditioners and humus into the ground while it's still moist enough from the winter rains to be workable.
- Mulch around camellias with a two or three inch layer of peat moss or leaf mold.

Grow spectacular Roses!

Tests like this prove roses respond beautifully!

ORTHO Liquid Rose Food gave spectacular results in 5 week test: more blooms . . . longer, stronger stems . . . more luxuriant growth. Plant on left received just 5 feedings of Liquid Rose Food. Plant on right, grown in same rich soil, was watered only.



● DESIGNED SPECIFICALLY FOR ROSES

ORTHO Liquid Rose Food is a specially balanced formula that fills the particular nutrient needs of roses. That's why it makes such spectacular differences in roses! Improves growth fast, too, because it's a liquid, readily absorbed by both roots and foliage. A chelating agent releases soil minerals for additional plant nourishment.

SPRAY OR SPRINKLE. Mix ORTHO Liquid Rose Food in water as label directs, sprinkle on soil and foliage with watering can. Easier yet apply with ORTHO Lawn Sprayer attached to garden hose.

CELLIST JEAN MAGUIRE will be one of the soloists in tomorrow night's San Rafael String Orchestra concert in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus.

It Wasn't Bach, But His Boss Who Wrote Concerto

A concerto with a history as interesting as its rich melody will be given its American premiere in Marin tomorrow.

Celloist Jean Maguire will play a cello concerto in G Major as one of the highlights in the third of a series of Baroque concerts under an Rafael Recreation Department sponsorship by the San Rafael String Orchestra in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael, starting at 8 o'clock.

Hugo Rinaldi will conduct.

The concerto in which Mrs. Maguire will solo was until recently credited to either J. S. Bach or Antonio Vivaldi. Research in preparation for tomorrow night's performance, however, has brought forth evidence that the actual composer was the little known Duke Johann Ernst of Saxe-Weissenfels, patron-employer of J. S. Bach at Weimar.

Gregor Piatigorsky, fascinated by the work when he heard it played as an organ concerto, transcribed it for cello and piano. Marin's Jean Maguire, equally intrigued by this work of mysterious origin but wishing to perform it as a cello solo with full string accompaniment, sought in vain both here and abroad for such a score.

Undaunted by her lack of success, she commissioned Marin musician-photographer Eddy Walter to write the transcription for solo cello and Baroque orchestra.

Other soloists at tomorrow night's concert will be violinist Everett O'Bannon, flutist Pat Hurtado and pianist Faith France.

San Quentin Inmate Tells Story Of Teen-Ager Thrown Into Jail

It is the story of a homeless, inexperienced teen-ager thrown into jail for the first time, and of what that experience and those surroundings do to him.

Author Braly has two things going for him. First, he knows what life is like behind bars, and what kind of people you find there. Secondly, he has a great deal of writing talent.

The result is a hard, realistic, gutty story that holds your interest from start to finish. And paints as good a picture of the young boy taking the first steps toward a life of crime as you are likely to find.

It is far more than 35 cents worth of reading.

GOLDEN BOATS FROM BURMA, by Gordon Langley Hall, Macrae-Smith Co., 249 pages, $3.75. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

"Go any other place, but put thoughts of going to Burma out of your heads."

That was the advice that greeted Ann Hasseltine Judson of Bradford, Mass., and her husband, Adoniram Judson, when they arrived in India in 1812, intent on establishing the first Christian mission in Burma.

They ignored the advice. They had come under the spell of a highly romanticized account of Burma by a British Army officer, Michael Symes, entitled "An Account of An Embassy to the Kingdom of Ava." Their minds were made up; nothing could dissuade them.

Nothing did; neither boycott nor pestilence, imprisonment nor war. Their three children died in infancy, and Ann Hasseltine Judson's own health was ruined, so that she died at the age of 36, to be buried beside the Salween River. After more than a century and a quarter, during which the domain of the "golden kings" has fallen to the British, has been overrun by the Japanese, recaptured by the British and at least become a democracy of sorts, her grave remains a shrine to Burman Christians. For despite all the odds against them, she and her husband succeeded in making converts and planting in Burma a seed of Christianity that has grown with the years.

Ann Judson's story is told tenderly and skilfully by New Yorker Gordon Langley Hall in "Golden Boats from Burma." It is a moving story. And, as befits a story of missionary pilgrims, it contains a moral, plain to be found but thoughtfully left by the author for the reader to discover for himself: Christian love conquers all.

A vanity book this one, and yet quite an interesting treatise on the life and times of the hell-raising Marx Brothers. Particularly interesting are the chapters on Algonquin Round Table in New York, where the silent member of the zany Marx group listened while bright wits F. P. Adams, Alexander Woollcott, Dorothy Parker and the New Yorker's Harold Ross talked.

Rise of the Marx family from the East Side of New York, through the borscht circuit where theings were even tougher, onto Broadway and into the movies is laced with nip-ups, escapades all told lightly and interestingly.

A great book, too, for poker or pool players. Harpo, it seems was always and may be still, looking for a game. There is also a bundle of old-time vaudeville photos for those who want to go back that far.

THE MAUVE DECADE by Thomas Beer, Vintage Books, 193 pages, $1.10. Reviewed by Don Keown.

This is the description of American life in the late 1800s that was first published in 1926 as a hardcover book by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc.

Hardcover or this new paperback edition, the first reaction to the book is one of being overwhelmed by a torrent of words. But upon recovering from that initial impact, the reader finds much that is interesting and reflective of the age about which Beer writes. And there is a growing appreciation of just how tremendous a job Beer performed in collecting and evaluating his mass of information. It is not, however, a book for fast reading.

AUTHOR OF the new book, "The Search for Meaning," an explanation and evaluation of the existential analysis approach to psychotherapy, is A. J. Ungersma of the San Francisco Theological Seminary faculty at San Anselmo.

Seminary Prof Writes Book On School Of Psychotherapy

Back in 1958-59 Dr. A. J. Ungersma of the San Francisco Theological Seminary faculty spent his sabbatical leave in Vienna. There he studied at the University of Vienna under the world famous Dr. Viktor Frankl, leading spokesman for a school of psychotherapy called existential analysis or logotherapy that is attracting increasing attention.

As a result of those studies, made under an American Assn. of Theological Schools fellowship award, Dr. Ungersma has written a book on the new approach to psychotherapy.

Entitled "The Search For Meaning," the 188-page book, selling for $4.75, will come off the presses of Westminster Press in Philadelphia on Monday.

The book is aimed at doctors of medicine, psychiatrists, ministers and students concerned with new approaches in psychotherapy and their relevance to religion and the status of man in his present technological culture.

Dr. Ungersma makes this basic distinction between existential analysis and the older methods of Freud and Adler:

Whereas Freud stressed man's quest for pleasure and Adler emphasized man's hunt for power, Frankl and his school of psychotherapy stress man's quest for meaning.

Psychotherapy, he says, commonly contends itself with uncovering the causes of man's psychic handicaps. But man, he adds, needs something more — a deep and worthwhile meaning to life, a transcendental value to which he can dedicate himself. This is the thesis of logotherapy.

Man, Dr. Ungersma and the logotherapy school assert, is spiritual as well as material, and manipulates himself and even the culture in which he lives.

The writer points to the congruity of this premise with Christian doctrine. And he devotes much of his book to the study of how the therapist and the pastor counselor can then, through the overlapping of their fields of ministration, help each other and borrow freely from each other. Thus the subtitle: "A New Approach in Psychotherapy and Pastoral Psychology."

Dr. Ungersma was born in Indiana. He studied at Purdue University, Hope College, Western Theological Seminary and Princeton, then traveled in Germany where he studied psychotherapy and religion. He taught at the University of Denver and held pastorates in Washington and Indiana.

During the war he served as an officer with the Seventh Fleet in the Philippine and Okinawa campaigns.

At the seminary in San Anselmo he is professor of pastoral psychology and counseling.

Huge Harold, The Rabbit, Certain To Delight Child

HUGE HAROLD by Bill Peet, Houghton Mifflin, 46 pages, $3. Reviewed by Claudia Royal.

A running, rollicking story of a rabbit who was "nearly as big as a cow." He galloped through a meadow and hopped through a cornfield into a gloomy old woods. Here he ran into problems and exciting adventure.

On and on he traveled with trouble all the way, until he found "a big friendly barn." After that, he became the pet of all the children, who showed their love by bringing him carrot ice cream.

Former Marin Man Will Launch Spring Festival Showing Of Art

A former Marin County resident will return tomorrow to open the 1961 Marin Society of Artists Spring Festival show at the Frances Young Gallery in the Marin Art and Garden Center at Ross.

Giacomo Patri will show slides and lecture on "Art Teaching As a Creative Activity."

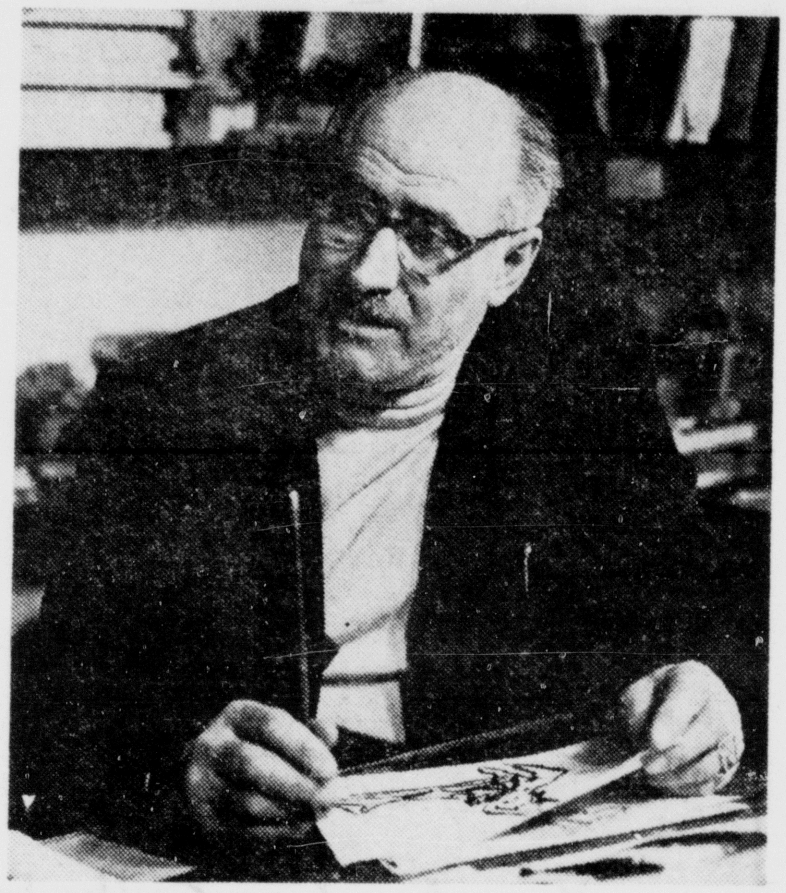
He is the director of the Patri School of Art in San Francisco, and is widely known for his illustrations. He has published two books of woodcuts in story sequence.

Patri is also a former San Francisco Chronicle staff artist.

The program will be presented at 3 p.m. during the preview of the spring show.

The Spring Festival marks the only Marin Society of Artists show of the year that is open to all media. Paintings, graphics, ceramics, sculpture, mosaics, weaving, jewelry and other crafts will be on display.

Preview hours tomorrow will run from 2 to 5 p.m. The show will then continue through April 28 at the regular gallery hours—2 to 4 p.m. every day of the week and 7 to 9 on Thursday evenings.



ART SCHOOL director Giacomo Patri of San Francisco will present an illustrated lecture opening the Marin Society of Artists Spring Festival show at the Frances Young Gallery, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, tomorrow afternoon.

There is no admission charge.

Robert Harvey is the Spring Festival director.

'A Cool Drink In The Desert'

Mrs. Grace Abbett is well known in Marin art circles. But it was in faraway Libya that her interest in painting, dormant since her early school days, was first revived.

It was to relieve the tedium of a summer in the torrid Libyan desert that Mrs. Abbett took to paints and pastels. And she found there as her teacher Kay Coriat, a watercolorist whose husband was in the British colonial service in Libya. Years before, in London, Mrs. Coriat had been an artist and decorator by special appointment to her majesty Queen Mary.

Her art lessons from Mrs. Coriat are described by Mrs. Abbett now as "a cool drink of water in the desert." Her spark of interest in the arts was ignited and there followed an outpouring of sketches of mosque, oasis and native market.

Returning to the U. S. and Marin County, a few years later, Grace Abbett came under the artistic influence of Richard Yip, California watercolorist.

More recently she has turned her hand to oils as well as watercolors.

She is the wife of Eugene B. Abbett, local business man, and the mother of three, the youngest a high school freshman.

"I feel a homemaker is a better and happier person when she is also an individual in her own right," Mrs. Abbett says. "The need to express and create is in all of us."

Her formal studies have included a Bachelor of Arts from San Jose State, where she minored in art, plus graduate study at the University of Pacific and College of Marin. Her paintings have hung in offices, stores and restaurants in Marin and San Francisco as well as numerous shows and exhibits.

Currently her work is being shown at the Dutch Art Gallery in San Rafael for a two-week period which will continue through next week.

STEREO NOTES

Lambert, Hendricks, Ross Score Again On Ellington

By JOHN SUNIER

LAMBERT HENDRICKS & ROSS SING ELLINGTON — Columbia CS 8310:

Like, the most! Winners of both the 1959 and 1960 Downbeat polls for vocal groups, Lambert Hendricks and Ross encore their previous Columbia album "The Hottest New Group in Jazz," with All-Ellington material lyriced-up by Jon Hendricks. The lyrics are the thing, of course, and you may be sure they swing as well as the instrumental originals.

The sentiments expressed by Hendricks are seldom cloying or cute but instead examples of good healthy modern psychology spiced with the wit and complete honesty of a jazzman.

An example is "What Am I Here For?" which could stand beside previous answers to this ticklish and age-old philosophical question by such as Aristotle St. Thomas, and Satre.

"Cottontail" relates in swingin' poetry the entire tale of Peter Rabbit and "Happy Anatomy" may sound risque, but isn't.

Some of Dave, John and sweet little Annie's previous records really needed an accompanying libretto to follow all the rapid-fire words but the pace is a little slower here and stereo makes it child's play to dig every single word of the lyrics.

MARIN POETS' CORNER

DUCK HUNTING IN MARIN

We arose before dawn to hunt waterfowl.
The awakening sounds of nature, sweet to the ear,
With the glory of the radiant sunrise

Blinding the sleepy eyes of earth, was a portrait.
Together in our blind we heard the lute-throated birds

Call their mates.
We heard the whirring wings of the air riders
Rise to seek new feeding places.

Sacrilege to shoot God's envoys,
But the inborn will of man for hunt
Encountered the flight as it swung within range
To settle in our decoys.

An instant they poised as if suspended by an invisible hand,

Then broke their flight to descend among their kind
When a sharp report shattered the stillness

KPIX And Cal To Cooperate In Course For The Business Man

TELEVISION courses are nothing new, but the one starting Monday morning on KPIX (Channel 5) is aimed at a different kind of student. Its target: Owners and prospective owners of small and medium sized firms, and the managers and others who must deal with administrative problems of independent businesses.

The title is "Business Guidelines: Managing the Independent Business." It's a cooperative effort by KPIX and the University of California. And it will run 13 weeks, Mondays through Fridays.

Only early risers need "enroll." The course will be on the air daily from 6:30 to 7 a.m.

U.C. faculty members will conduct the course with Ewald T. Grether doing the introductory honors at Monday's opening session.

Topics to be covered will include records and accounting controls, financing the independent business, taxation, administration and human relations, labor relations, systematic control of business operations, marketing strategies, forecasting and long-run planning, and organization.

For a $5 fee, made payable to the Regents of the University of California and sent to Correspondence Instruction, University Extension, University of California, Berkeley, viewers can participate in a test question program, receive supplementary outlines of the TV lectures and earn certificates of participation.

KRON IS ALSO launching a new series in which the University of California is a party. "On Campus," to be seen Sundays at 1 p.m. starting tomorrow, will deal with the functions, purpose and effects of the modern university, and its relation to the community and the country. Dr. David Krech, professor of psychology, will be the host.

Tomorrow's premiere program will offer two panel discussions. A group composed of Aldous Huxley, Leo Rosten and Harold D. Lasswell will explore "Adult Education." A second panel composed of Donald O. Hebb, Dr. Holgar Hyden and Dr. Wilder Penfield will analyze "The Physical Background for Mental Processes."

ACADEMY Award time is almost on hand (KGO will carry the presentations Monday night), and in anticipation of that event, Channel 7 will carry a special show of Oscar-winning music tonight at 8 o'clock.

There are no big names in the cast, but Bobby Hammack will conduct the ABC Orchestra in songs ranging from "The Continental," first winner of an Oscar for "best song" back in 1934, to this year's five nominees in that category. Listen in, and see if you can pick the winner.

Also tonight: Shelley Winters in KTVU's "Play of the Week," the Frank Corsaro drama of the depression era, "A Piece of Blue Sky," starting at 9 o'clock; and a "Nation's Future" debate at 9:30 p.m. on KRON on the question—"Is Africa Ready for Independence?" The debaters: Kenneth D. Kaunda, president of Northern Rhodesia's United National Independence Party, and J. Freire D'Andrade, director of the Portuguese Trade and Cultural Interchange Bureau in New York.

MORT SAHL

AS FOR SUNDAY, the most promising show is an "NBC White Paper" documentary entitled "Anatomy of a Hospital" that will be seen at 10 p.m. on KRON. The Cambridge, Mass., City Hospital will be used to show some of the problems that are faced daily by our hospital administrators, personnel and patients.

KPIX is especially proud of a one-hour special entitled "Chopin" which it has scheduled for its 2:30 p.m. time spot. Famed pianist Moura Lympany provides not only music but also personal background on the great composer, Frederic Chopin. Her efforts will be supplemented by lithographs, woodcuts and original prints. And the original Camille Pleyel piano presented to Chopin in 1831, a treasured museum piece from Paris, will be shown. The show was produced in New York by the Metropolitan Broadcasting Corp.

Admirers of the modern school of comedy will hardly believe their own good luck when they discover that they have an opportunity to hear both Mort Sahl and Shelley Berman on the same program tomorrow. The two comics, now at the top in their field, will appear on the "Herb Caen Show" on KGO at 2 p.m. The 11 o'clock night-time Caen gabfest will be a repeat of last week's discussion of capital punishment by a panel including Marinites William Weissich and Bernice Freeman Davis, former San Quentin warden Clinton Duffy and Episcopal Bishop James Pike.

Other good Sunday bets: The concluding "Omnibus" show of the season, a look at the future of the Western Hemisphere, at 5 p.m. on KRON; the continuation study of Sweden and its of the "Twentieth Century" social advances and problems at 6:30 on KPIX; and comedian Bud Abbott's debut in a serious dramatic role on the "General Electric Theater" at 9 o'clock on KPIX.
